ESCAPES.

PESENTI IS A SUICIDE.

Friend of Schmidt Is Dead.

BODY OF MAN FOUND AT MODESTO IDENTIFIED BY ONE WHO KNEW HIM.

ACQUAINTANCE SAYS HE RAN HOTEL WHERE DYNAMITE CLEWS WERE FOUND.

SAN FRANCISCO AUTHORITIES ASKED TO SEND OFFICIAL TO VIEW REMAINS.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

MODESTO, Oct. 24.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] "John Metz," who committed suicide in a cheap rooming house here, was identified today as Charles A. Pesenti, intimate friend of "Cocky" Schmidt, one of the trio of union dynamiters who burned the Times Building in Los Angeles and murdered more than a score of workers.

News from Corte Madera, where Pesenti conducted a hotel, brings the information that Pesenti has been missing from his home for two weeks. He was known there to be a friend of Schmidt and of Anton Johannsen, the union agitator and collector of funds to finance the fight in Los Angeles against The Times and industrial freedom.

The identification made today left no doubt in the minds of the local authorities that the suicide is Pesenti, but to make doubly sure the San Francisco authorities have been asked to send some one here who knew Pesenti at Corte Madera to view the body.

Arthur Rogers identified the body today. He formerly worked at Corte Madera, and when he saw the body he exclaimed, "That's Pesenti—the man who ran the hotel. Then he explained that he had seen him many times at Corte Madera, San Pablo and Point Richmond.

It was at Pesenti's place that detectives yesterday found the rude drawings of the Times Building and of the San Francisco bay region; and it was at Pesenti's place that Schmidt and Johannsen met on several occasions.

Pesenti, or "Metz," came here from San Francisco last Friday night. He did not give any name when he engaged his room, but paid for it a week in advance. Saturday, when he bought the revolver with which he committed suicide, he told the clerk in the hardware store that his name was "John Metz."

After procuring the revolver he went to his room, destroyed all marks of identification, except of the stores where his clothes and shoes were purchased, and shot himself. The bullet took effect in his right temple and death must have been instantaneous. His clothes and shoes were purchased from San Francisco houses.

He was about six feet tall, of dark complexion, with high cheek bones and black hair. His age was about 55 years.

CHIEF WAITS TO HEAR FROM UNIONITE BOSS.

BY W. R. WILLIAMS.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 24.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Olaf A. Tveitmoe, labor boss and acquaintance of "Cocky" Schmidt, the man wanted for dynamiting the Times Buildingin Los Angeles, did not visit Chief Seymour's office today.

The chief said he doesn't know whether Tveitmoe was in the city today but that he expected a visit from him tomorrow. Tveitmoe is to talk over his acquaintance with Schmidt and give explanations which the chief has already announced he believed Tveitmoe will be glad to make.

Chief Seymour had a long session with the Police Commission this afternoon. The police are pursuing a number of clews here that are expected to disclose plans of the trio of dynamiters to escape.

It is now believed that the dynamiters returned here after their success in Los Angeles and have been sheltered until they found an opportunity to leave. There is some information showing that they are still near San Francisco. But the police say they have several clews pointing to their escape by sea.

W. J. Burns, the detective employed by Mayor Alexander, has not captured Caplan, the last one of the trio identified, although he left to do so Thursday afternoon. Burns moved so secretly that only two newspapers here were able to mention it in half type. The police seem to have no clew which they deem worth sending out of the city to verify.

PINKERTONS AT WORK.

The Pinkerton service is at work at every branch trying to locate the men where they have previously been known, as well as in new quarters.

Reports from Modesto tonight convey the beliefs that a man who committed suicide there today may be C. A. Pesenti, proprietor of the hotel at Corte Madera, Marin county, where Schmidt lived for a long time and where he worked for Anton Johannsen, labor organizer. The reports said the man who took his own life had removed all means of identification and had given the name of John Metz when he bought a revolver but that a man in Corte Madera, who said he knows Pesenti, identified him as the missing hotel-keeper.

This report cannot be verified until some one from here views the body. Pesenti has been absent for two weeks and his absence has already aroused interest in police circles. It was in his hotel that the diagrams of the Times Building and the bay district were found Sunday by Deputy Sheriff Agnew, Mrs. Pesenti and others.

MRS. PESENTI SILENT.

Mrs. Pesenti refused to discuss the Modesto report, saying it was only a ruse to make her talk. Discoveries made today when Pesenti's safe was opened by G. Martinelli, whom he left in charge, showed that Pesenti was in financial difficulties, and had mortgaged himself heavily. Pesenti is well known here, having been before the fire chef at the old Poodle Dog Restaurant.

S. L. Browne, chief detective for Dist.-Atty. Fredericks of Los Angeles, visited the Giant Powder Works, near Point Richmond in Contra Costa county, today and examined all the dynamite found in the Nineteenth-avenue house, South San Francisco. Accompanying Browne was Frank H. Depue, head of the State Department of Criminal Identification. Photographs of the grimy finger-prints on the boxes were taken and will be developed today.

There were three subjects considered by Depue as hopeful of photographic results and five negatives were taken. Depue also took finger-prints of all the men who handled the boxes at Giant and in returning them in order to begin his work by identifying them or eliminating them, according to the results of the photographs. Depue also has finger-prints found in the cabin of the launch Pastime, which was used by the dynamiters, and these, too, will be compared.

POWDER ALSO USED?

For the first time all the boxes of gelatine sticks were opened. This work showed what was already believed—that only one of the ten boxes had been opened and its contents removed. Each box was found full, averaging eighty sticks of gelatine, except the one in which the Hercules powder sticks were found ten days ago. All was marked for introduction as evidence and again stored in the magazine of the company until ordered by the Los Angeles courts.

Frank Roller, superintendent of the Giant works, says he cannot interpret the mysterious addition on the diagram found in the room formerly occupied by Schmidt at Corte Madera. He says the "1000 P" may refer to powder and the "250 G" to gelatine, but why there should be a subtraction he has no idea.

NO EULOGY AT HILL FUNERAL.

Body of Late Democratic Leader is Shipped for Burial After Simple Service.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

ALBANY (N. Y.) Oct. 24.—The funeral of David B. Hill took place in St. Peter's Episcopal Church today.

There was no eulogy. The choir sang "Lead, Kindly Light," and "Now the Laborer's Task is O'er," concluding with the recessional hymn, "Peace, Perfect Peace," as the casket was borne from the church.

The three branches of the State government were represented—the executive by Gov. White, while the Democratic State Committee, the Albany County Bar Association, and the Albany County General Democratic Committee attended the funeral in a body.

The mourners who followed the body to the railroad station, included Dr. A. H. Hill of Dexter, Mo., a brother; Lawrence D. Hill of Malden, Mo., a nephew; Peter J. Manwiller, Mr. Hill's secretary, who had been associated with the Senator for eighteen years.

Burial will take place in Montour Falls, Mr. Hill's birthplace, tomorrow.

WATTERSON INDICTED.

KINGSTON (N. Y.) Oct. 24.—Ewing Watterson, son of Col. Henry Watterson, editor of the Louisville Courier-Journal, was indicted today for assault in the first degree, charged with having shot Michael J. Martin in Martin's saloon at Saugurties on July 1. William D. Brinner, Watterson's counsel, will apply for a commission to determine his client's sanity.

ON THE WAY.

FITZGERALD'S GRIP LOOKS AGAINST HIM.

REPORTS received at midnight from Hanford indicate that Morris Fitzgerald, discharged yesterday, may have been an active participant in the dynamiting of The Times Building, as was at first supposed.

Two Los Angeles detectives were in Hanford yesterday, and with District Attorney Irwin secured Fitzgerald's valise, which he had shipped from Bakersfield to San Luis Obispo. It is said that evidence of a startlingly incriminating character was found in the grip. Among other things—and this is the only article about which the officers would talk—is a towel from a San Francisco hotel, indicating that Fitzgerald had been in that city recently. They would not divulge the name of the house.

The impression prevails in Hanford among the officers that Fitzgerald's brain is in better condition than he would have it appear.

The two detectives left for this city with the valise last night and will arrive this morning. It is likely that Fitzgerald will be taken in custody again.

"Candy Burglar" Admits Murder.

PRISONER IN EAST ST. LOUIS SAYS HE KILLED DENTIST IN CHICAGO.

WIFE GIVES HUSBAND'S CAREER OF ROBBERIES; ASKS HER TO COMMIT SUICIDE.

LEIGH RHODIUS PREFERS TRIAL IN WINDY CITY TO MANY OTHER JURIES.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

EAST ST. LOUIS (Ill.) Oct. 24.—Leigh R. Rhodius, the self-confessed "candy burglar", arrested here yesterday, who claims to have killed Dr. W. F. Michalis, a dentist of Englewood, a suburb of Chicago, August 5, and one other man, is anxious to face trial on the murder charge in Chicago.

Late this afternoon he asked Chief Purdy, of the local police, to take him to Chicago immediately.

Rhodius, however, will be held here for a couple of days, pending an investigation of the Chicago case. The police say they are not willing to surrender the prisoner unless satisfied there is sufficient evidence to connect him with the Chicago murder.

Rhodius told the police he would rather take his chances in the Chicago courts than face the numerous charges against him here and in St. Louis, which would keep him in the penitentiary for life if he were convicted.

Mrs. Rhodius, who married Rhodius in July, said today that she and her husband went to Chicago the last of July. He obtained employment there decorating buildings for parades and hanging bunting in windows. Later he told her of the time he had served in the Missouri penitentiary for having robbed a house in Springfield, Mo.

"On the night of August 15," said Mrs. Rhodius, "my husband came home with his coat spotted with blood. He told me he had been shot in the right shoulder while robbing a drug store. Later in the same night he told me he had held up and shot a doctor.

"The next morning the papers were full of the murder of a dentist. We came back to St. Louis August 28. He continued robbing stores in St. Louis and then we moved here."

Rhodius, before he was placed in a cell, said he took $180 and a diamond from the man he had killed in Chicago. Dr. Michalis had money and jewelry on his person when he was taken to a hospital.

As Mrs. Rhodius was leaving the police station, her husband called to her: "If anything happens to me, you kill yourself."

"Rhodius told me," said Chief of Detectives Ryan, "that he killed Dr William F. Michalis, in Englewood, Chicago, and robbed drug stores and groceries while he was there in August. He said he did not rob Dr. Michalis after killing him. The doctor refused to hold up his hands, and Rhodius shot.

"Rhodius told me of many robberies he committed in Chicago as well as in St. Louis and here. His wife knew of the robberies but she had no part in them. She tried to get him to quit his robbing and he promised her he would do so. He always gave her the candy he took."

After returning from Chicago Rhodius and his bride lived at one of the leading family hotels in St. Louis. His mother lives in St. Louis.

RECORD FOUND OF NORTH POLE DISCOVERIES CENTURIES AGO.

Navy Department Officials Find Old History Telling of Friar of Oxford Standing on Top of World in 1360—Enemies Accused Him of "Black Art."

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24.—Although his leave of absence expired yesterday, Capt. Robert E. Peary, the Arctic explorer, did not report today for duty as a civil engineer in the navy. Acting Secretary Winthrop said it had not yet been decided to what work Capt. Peary would be assigned.

Department officials have unearthed an old history in which the claim is made that the North Pole was discovered in 1360 by a Friar of Oxford. It is called a "New Naval History, or Compleat Review of the British Marine," and was published by John Entick, in London, 1757. On one of its musty pages the following paragraph appears:

"In the year 1360 it is recorded that a Friar of Oxford called Nicholas de Linna, or of Lynn, being a good astronomer, went in company with others to the most northern island of the world and there leaving his company together, he traveled alone, and made draughts of all those northern parts with the indrawing seas, which at his return he presented to the King of England."

It is added that he went to the North Pole by means of his skill in magic, or the black art; but this magic or black art may probably have been nothing more than a knowledge of the magnetical needle or compass, found out about 60 years before, though not in common use until many years later."

RESENTS CHARGE AGAINST BUSINESS INTEGRITY.

John K. Tener,

Republican candidate for Governor of Pennsylvania, who sues Philadelphia newspaper because of attack on his honesty.

"BILED."

CANDIDATE SUES FOR ATTACK ON INTEGRITY.

John K. Tener, Running for Office of Governor of Pennsylvania, Resents the Charges That He Is "Friend and Associate of Swindlers."

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 24.—John K. Tener, Republican candidate for Governor of Pennsylvania, swore to a warrant today for the arrest of E. A. Van Valkenberg, editor and publisher of the North American Publishing Company of this city, charging him with criminal libel.

The warrant was not served, but counsel for Mr. Tener sent a letter to Mr. Van Valkenberg informing him of the action taken and notifying him that a hearing in the case would be held on Friday.

The warrant is based on an attack begun by the North American on October 13 against Mr. Tener's business integrity. The charges have been reiterated daily.

Briefly they assert that Mr. Tener was "a friend and associate of swindlers." It is charged that Mr. Tener, at the time a member of Congress, sold his name to the National Public Utilities Corporation so that he could be exploited as the president of the corporation. For this, the charges aver, he agreed to accept $5000 a year in salary and was given $50,000 worth of stock in the concern.

The charges characterize the National Public Utilities Corporation as "a fraudulent and swindling corporation," which is supposed to be interested in Pacific Coast development and the owner of a projected road in Oregon known as the Astoria, Seaside & Tillamook Railway Company. The charges further declare that this is a paper railroad having no physical existence.

In subsequent publications the North American printed names of men connected with the company, who, it asserted, were either convicted or unconvicted swindlers. The newspaper also charged that Mr. Tener with several business associates, sold a controlling interest in the Security Life and Annuity Company to a man it declared to be a swindler, and that the latter merged this company with a concern which had its headquarters in Chicago.

Mr. Tener issued a long formal statement last night denying the charges made by the North American. He admitted that he had been connected with the National Public Utilities Corporation for about three months and added that he severed his connection with the company because of pressure of business in connection with his duties as a Congressman. He also admitted having received $50,000 in stock, which he said he returned. He added that he still believed the company to be legitimate.

UNIONITES INJURE TWO; STRIKERS' JOBS FILLED.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 24.—Stones were thrown as five strike-breakers employed by the Missouri Pacific railway by a crowd of union sympathizers, in Kansas City, Kan., tonight. Two men were hit, but not seriously hurt. They were leaving the company shops for a walk when the attack occurred.

Strikers deny they had anything to do with the trouble.

The non-union workmen retreated into the shops.

According to W. L. Tracy, assistant superintendent of the Missouri Pacific Railroad, the local shop of that road now has working force of but fifteen men less than it had when the union workers walked out last Thursday. Sixty of the seventy-five positions have been filled. Twelve men have been sent from here to outside cities.

The majority of the strike-breakers came from St. Louis and Omaha. No trouble has been reported.

TRAINMEN TO VOTE ON STRIKE.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 24.—The Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen employed by the Missouri Pacific, Iron Mountain system, it was announced here today, will vote tomorrow night on the question of a sympathetic strike walk-out in aid of the machinists and other mechanical unions now on strike. Ballots were sent today to the local unions of the trainmen.

It had been announced that the trainmen beginning today would not handle cars in the local yards, but the traffic is moving on schedule time.

FINE INSURANCE MEN.

Kentuckians Were Charged With Making Contracts with Diseased Persons.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

LOUISVILLE (Ky.) Oct. 24.—A jury in the Criminal Court here today returned a verdict finding T. J. Needham, an insurance agent, guilty of insurance frauds.

Dr. G. C. Schott, an insurance examiner, was acquitted of complicity in the frauds, which created a widespread sensation when they were exposed some months ago.

Needham was fined $750, following today's verdict, O'Leary some days ago entered a qualified plea of guilty, which was accepted. He, too, was fined $750.

WARSHIPS RUSHED TO ISLAND OF ISCHIA WITH RELIEF FOR SUFFERERS.

VESUVIUS BREAKS OUT ANEW, DEVASTATING COUNTRY NEAR NAPLES.

AVALANCHE OF STONES AND MUD RUSHES DOWN MOUNTAIN; GREAT LOSS.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

ROME, Oct. 24.—The Minister of the Interior this evening received word of a tidal wave at Casamicciola, on the Island of Ischia, that drowned 200 persons. Communication with the island has been interrupted and verification of the report is impossible.

The Ministry has ordered four men-of-war to hurry to the scene with men and supplies.

Casamicciola is twelve miles southwest of Pozzuola at the foot of Mount Epomeoz. It was nearly destroyed by an earthquake in July, 1883, when about 1700 lives were lost. It has since been rebuilt and has a population of about 4000.

The hurricane caused much destruction along the coast of the province of Salerno. The town of Cetara, on the Gulf or Salerno, is reported to have been destroyed. Twelve bodies have been taken from wrecked houses, and there are many injured.

Revised lists place the number of dead in the storm zone as high as 200.

NAPLES SUFFERS FROM VESUVIUS OUTBREAK.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

NAPLES (Italy) Oct. 24.—The Island of Ischia in the Mediterranean Sea, sixteen miles southwest of the city of Naples, has been storm-swept. First reports reaching here gave a very considerable loss of life from a tidal wave, but the latest reports indicate the victims are few.

It is believed several persons were killed by the collapse of houses, but the body of only one woman has been recovered.

Naples suffered from a furious storm of wind and rain last night and all today, the damage amounting to millions.

The suburbs were even more seriously affected, several persons being killed. The surrounding country has been devastated, great quantities of grapes and vines, besides trees, walls and parts of houses being scattered about in all directions.

An avalanche of stones and mud rushed down Mount Vesuvius above the lava line of the eruption of 1906. It swept all before it as far as the town of Portici. It wrecked the tram line and engulfed a score of victims.

Up to the present there is no confirmation of the report that Ischia suffered from a tidal wave or a seismic disturbance. It was in the direct path of the hurricane.

DREAM CAUSES LAW SUIT.

Arizonan Says Dead wife in Dream Told That Undertakers Switched Caskets.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PHOENIX (Ariz.) Oct. 24.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Following an intuition which he says he received after dreams in which he plainly saw the apparition of his wife and conversed with her, M. E. Bridgman has filed suit against a Phoenix firm of undertakers for $5000 damages, alleging that they substituted a plain wooden box for the metal-lined casket in which the body of his wife was shipped from Los Angeles to Phoenix for burial. Bridgeman told his friends here that his wife appeared to him in a dream on three successive nights and told him that the box had been stolen. The undertakers say that it is customary to bury corpses in wooden boxes, as when once opened a metal lined casket has served its purpose as it is no longer air tight, and that Bridgeman made no objection to this before the burial.

UNIONITES INJURE DRIVERS.

Two Strikebreakers Are Assaulted and Badly Hurt in Hoboken, N. J., Riot.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 24.—A riotous demonstration, in which two strikers were badly injured, marked the third day of the strike of drivers and helpers of the United States Express Company at Hoboken, N. J.

Night wagons, guarded by detectives and manned by strike breakers, were assailed by a crowd of strikers and their sympathizers. Missiles were hurled at the wagon crews and detectives. A detail of police dispersed the crowd.

The trouble was renewed when three wagons were driven on a ferryboat; the fighting continuing as the boat pulled into midstream.

The strike is for shorter hours and an increase in pay.

BLUEFIELDS ON ROCKS.

HAVANA, Oct. 24.—The Norwegian steamer Bluefields, which has been reported missing, is ashore in the vicinity of Cape San Antonio. The Bluefields ran into the West Indian hurricane, on a voyage from Ceiba, Spanish Honduras, and was driven on a reef October 15. The Cuban coasting steamer Julian Alonz brought three of the crew of the Bluefields to this port today. The rest remained aboard. The Julian Alonz is returning tonight to try to refloat the stranded steamer.

SHAKING.

HIGHER-UPS LOW ONES.

Grand Jury Expected to Indict Several.

EVIDENCE OF THEIR CRIMINAL KNOWLEDGE OF DYNAMITE PLOT STRONG.

ROGERS FINDS WAY TO KEEP THE ENTANGLED UNION BOSSES HANDY.

SPECIAL INVESTIGATING BODY TO BE SELECTED TODAY. QUICK WORK.

WHEN the Times Building was barred, public opinion said: "The detectives may be able to get the miserable creatures who poked the dynamite into The Times alley, but they never can catch the arch fiends who planned the crime."

It now seems that the law all but has its clutches on the higher-ups; but the roustabouts of the crime are missing.

This morning Judge Bordwell will select a special grand jury from the list of thirty men that have been subpoenaed. The taking of testimony will begin immediately.

The testimony is almost certain to result in the indictment of a group of labor-union leaders. The evidence of their criminal knowledge of the plan to blow up The Times Building is almost conclusive.

They are entangled in a dozen different directions. "Bryce" and "Smithy" and the "Mexican" manage to involve in a perfectly hopeless way at least three of the big labor bosses of this Coast.

The great advantage of this case has been the employment of Earl Rogers as director of the criminal investigation. He has built up the evidence as he followed the clews.

It almost goes without saying that indictments will probably be returned against Bryce and Smithy and the other man. These scoundrels, unfortunately, are not at hand—nor likely to be.

The detectives have been successful in tracking their movements from the time Bryce and Smithy arrived from the East to do the awful "job;" their conferences in San Francisco; the preliminary visit in Los Angeles; their plans to look over the ground and prepare their plans; their arrival just before the explosion; their departure the next day for San Francisco; their movements have been traced back to San Francisco, where the trail has been lost.

The detectives have not been successful in finding any definite trace of them since the second day following the disaster.

The story that is presented to the grand jury will abruptly break off at the point of their return to San Francisco.

When indictments are returned against them the pursuit of these particular men will settle down to a long, stern hunt.

ALMOST SURE—IN TIME.

"The final capture of these men will be a matter of luck, but almost of certainty. They can't stay under cover forever," says Rogers.

"A man with a bum eye will be arrested for joy riding in Memphis or Denver, and Bryce will fall into our hands. A drunk will be taken up in Reno or Chicago, and we will have Smithy.

"Some woman of the town will telephone to the police in Buffalo or Des Moines that she has the "Mexican" at her house.

"It might be a year or it might be tomorrow night. They are bound to be turned up by somebody who wants the reward. The one who brings them to the police is just as likely to be a great detective or a waiter in a roadhouse.

"If they try going to Mexico or Central America, they will find they have run into a blind alley. It would be much harder to find them in San Francisco than in Central America."

The police of Los Angeles and San Francisco are preparing to plaster the civilized world with descriptions of the men, Bryce, Morris and Smithy, together with the reward offered for their capture.

This bread is to be cast upon the water; then to wait for it to return in the shape of three crooks, sold out by their friends or chance acquaintances for the money.

Although additional evidence has been received to increase the suspicion in regard to the three passengers on board the steamer Acapulco, the detectives feel only hope, and the State Department, judging by private dispatches, feels skepticism. The Acapulco has now passed all the Mexican ports where such passengers might have landed. The American consuls at Central American ports are under instructions to watch for them.

AS TO HIGHER-UPS.

In the case of the higher-ups, however, it is a clear matter of evidence. There is no possibility of any one of the involved leaders escaping, even if he wanted to.

A peculiar device has been adopted to keep them legally in reach at any time. The subpoenas carried north by Detective Browne are not grand jury subpoenas as has been stated. Of course, there can be no grand jury subpoenas until there is a grand jury. They are issued by the Coroner for "John Doe," ostensibly for the purpose of summoning witnesses for the inquest. Only Earl Rogers knows exactly who the John Doe subpoenas are for.

Should any of them attempt to "duck" before the grand jury needs him, he can be instantly summoned for the Coroner's inquest.

This is a necessary precaution because the grand jury will not sit once be able to consider the phase of the testimony which involves the laborite leaders.

GETTING AT THE FACTS.

The grand jury procedure will be something in the nature of a court trial—although absolutely secret, of course.

The first phase of the testimony will be the proving of the fact that The Times Building was destroyed.

It will then be proved that certain particular men lost their lives in the destroyed building as the direct result of the explosion. This will lay the foundation for a murder charge.

Circumstantial evidence will then be introduced to show that a conspiracy to do murder by the use of dynamite existed. The finding of the bombs at the Otis and Zeehandlaar homes will be important elements of this proof.

After the proving of this conspiracy evidence will be introduced to show that certain labor leaders and these missing murderers were all involved in the conspiracy.

As the laborite leaders under suspicion are already in a blue funk, it is not to be expected that the steady march of this investigation will tend to soothe their alarm to any great extent.

Hence the subpoenas issued by the Coroner with an order of the Superior Court attached to each.

TO WORK CONJOINTLY.

It is stated that the investigation by the Coroner's jury and the investigation by the grand jury will proceed conjointly, the one supplementing the other. The grand jury of course will take precedence.

The anxiety of the labor leaders particularly concerns the testimony to be given by Mrs. Lavin, now in the County Jail charged with murder. All their efforts to head her off and to keep her still have failed—which shows the wisdom of having taken her away from San Francisco.

It is reported that Mrs. Lavin came through with some important information on the occasion of her Sunday afternoon "joy ride" with Joe Ford from the District Attorney's office, and Earl Rogers. It was stated that the lady had been escorted around on a weeping expedition to look at the ruins of the Times Building and to see the new-made graves at Hollywood, etc., to look at the spot where the bomb was placed under Gen. Otis' window.

Her journey was not so sentimental, however. Coming home from their important errand, she asked to go past the Times Building ruins and her request was granted. She seemed to feel a good deal moved by the spectacle of the burned building—the death chamber of twenty innocent men.

Mrs. Lavin is not accused of having had any active participation in the dynamite crime. She is the Mrs. Surratt of this affair.

The investigation before the grand jury will be in the hands of Assistant District Attorney McComas—veteran of more legal battles than any other prosecutor in California.

FITZGERALD AND O'BRIEN.

Morris Fitzgerald, the injured miner who was brought down from a Hanford hospital, and who was believed to know something about The Times explosion, was discharged yesterday from the County Hospital. Fitzgerald seems to have recovered somewhat from the effects of his injury but no coherent story has been secured which would involve him.

A private dispatch received last night by The Times states that Robert O'Brien, an Industrial Worker of the World, who was arrested a week ago in Fresno, has been taken to Hanford by the authorities.

It is supposed that he had some connection with the laborite leaders who requested the hospital authorities not to let detectives talk to Fitzgerald, and who tried to rescue him from the hospital the day before he was brought to Los Angeles.

The probabilities are that the I. W. W. leaders knew that Fitzgerald was raving in the hospital about dynamite and didn't know what he might know to the discredit of their order in connection with the dynamiting of the Times Building.

WOODMEN EXONERATED.

Jury Finds Broken Ribs Puncturing Lungs During Initiation Didn't Kill Consumption Victim.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

LIBERTY (Miss.), Oct. 24.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Mrs A. W. Bomar today lost her suit for $25,000 damages against the Woodmen of the World, whom she blamed for the death of her husband. During his initiation in June, 1908, at Gloster, Miss., she claimed he was mauled and mistreated with the result that several ribs were broken, the jagged ends piercing his lungs and causing pulmonary consumption. On his deathbed Bomar is alleged to have told his wife that his death was due to the initiation. The jury, however, accepted the contention of attorneys for the Woodmen that Bomar was a sufferer from consumption before the initiation, and the lodge was not responsible for his death.

Naval Secretary Says Canal Needs Fortifying, But Mississippi Valley is Not in Danger.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 24.—Secretary of the Navy George L. von Meyer, who is here on a tour of inspection of United States naval stations, said today that he could see no reason for a naval base at New Orleans.

"If there is ever to be any fighting it will not be on the Gulf of Mexico," he said, "but around the entrance of the Panama canal.

"Of course none of us expects a conflict but if it should come the canal will be the place which will need fortifying. I do not think the Mississippi Valley is in any particular danger of invasion."

INTERNATIONAL LAW.

RUSSIA DECLINES JOHN BULL'S PROPOSAL TO ARBITRATE CASE

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

ST. PETERSBURG, Oct. 24.—The Russian government has declined the English proposal to arbitrate the steamer Oldhamia dispute, and the American request for compensation for the cargo, on the ground that the decision of the Russian courts that the cargo was contraband, was final.

The British steamer Oldhamia was captured by the Russians May 19, 1905, during the Russo-Japanese war while bound from Yokohama with a cargo of kerosene consigned by American citizens.

On May 27 the Oldhamia was recaptured by the Japanese in the battle of the Sea of Japan, and taken to Sasebo, where her cargo was sold.

At the preliminary investigation by the Russian government in answer to the representations of the British government, it was said the cargo of the Oldhamia was because of the presence of contraband, either shells or machinery, in her cargo, the uncertainty being due to the similarity of the Russian words describing these objects.

The case was eventually transferred to the Prize Court at Libau to facilitate the representations on behalf of the claimants. The cargo, valued at $123,000, was the property of the Standard Oil Company.

The Prize Court decided the steamer carried no explosives and found in favor of the American consignors and appointed arbitrators to determine the damages.

This was not satisfactory to the Manchester and Salford Shipping Company, the owners, and the Standard Oil Company, who demanded a total compensation of $500,000, and appealed to the Supreme Prize Court of Russia. The court rejected the appeal and gave the Standard Oil Company only the right to take legal steps to recover the cost of empty casks.

BLOW TO THE INSURGENTS.

CUMMINS DISAPPOINTS DEMOCRATS AND RADICALS.

RETURNS TO STRAIGHT REPUBLICAN FOLD IN SPEECH.

EMPHASIZES NEED OF ELECTING G. O. P. CONGRESS.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, Oct. 24.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] "There is nothing which appeals to me as being so absurd as a Republican trying to elect a Democrat to Congress because he is dissatisfied with the tariff bill."

That remark was made by Senator A. B. Cummins of Iowa this morning and in those few words he chilled the hopes of the Democrats and insurgents that he would give utterance to some radical insurgent ideas in his address in Orchestra Hall.

The Senator came here to speak in the cause of Republicanism, under the auspices of the Hamilton Club, and, learning, soon after his arrival there were some misgivings as to the spirit of his address, made it clear he came to Chicago to make votes for the Republican candidates, if he could, and not to drive them away.

"I AM A REPUBLICAN."

"I am a Republican," said the Senator, "and I want to see Republican success because I believe that is the only party in existence today which is capable of administering the affairs of this government. I advocate the election of Republicans because I believe it is through the Republicans only that we can accomplish the thing for which we have been contending.

"There is dissatisfaction with every tariff bill, and, admitting there are many Republicans who are not pleased with the present tariff law, what are they to gain by electing a Democratic Congress? What can a Democratic House do with a Republican Senate and Republican President?

EXTREME OF MADNESS.

"For the man who, in his heart wants to preserve fair and reasonable protection for the American wage earner and the American producer, and who, therefore, wants duties so adjusted that they will measure the difference between the cost of production at home and abroad, and who in his heart abhors the Democratic fallacy of duties for revenue alone, it would be the extreme of madness to vote for a Democratic candidate for Congress, who, if he be honest, will rob the country of its surest safeguard.

"The protest against excessive duties has been effectually made; but we must not, in the passion of disappointment, strike a just principle because we may not be satisfied with its present application."

The Senator said he had no intention of presenting bouquets to those of his party, however upright, who had disregarded party principles and misapplied party doctrines.

WISCONSIN KEYNOTE.

SOUNDED BY M'GOVERN.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

MILWAUKEE, Oct. 24.—Francis E. McGovern, Republican candidate for Governor of Wisconsin, sounded the keynote of the Republican campaign here tonight. He said the Republican party in Wisconsin stood for advancement—that that was the "Wisconsin idea," and that the slogan was "progress." He decried the existence of monopolies, quoting an eminent English economist, who had said: "Industries in America no longer belong to the industrialists, but to the financiers."

CABINS COME HIGH ON ROUND-THE-WORLD CRAFT.

Near-Exclusives Who Aspire to Royal Introduction Seek Accommodations That Will Bring Them Into Contact With German Ruler's Son—He Plans Visit to America.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

BERLIN, Oct. 24.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Fashionable persons have bought at enormous prices all the accommodations on the North German Lloyd steamship Prince Louis on which Crown Prince William will make a voyage around the world.

All the ship's cabins were sold long ago to wealthy Berliners. One rich man on the fringe of society, who wished to take passage at Genoa recently, offered $2500 for a second cabin. These men and their wives who belong to the bankers' coterie in society, are determined to gain at any cost the honor of traveling with the Crown Prince. The three bankers have instructed two travel bureaus here to find persons who have secured cabins and offer any price to them to transfer their tickets.

Each of the three deposited $5000 with a banking house as a guarantee that his offer is made in good faith. Each promises to pay $10,000 if he secures a first-class cabin. Of course, each hopes that by traveling with the Kaiser's first born they at least will be presented to the Prince.

If the Crown Prince goes to America, which is improbable, your correspondent learns, numbers of the wealthiest Germans will scurry across the Atlantic to follow him around there.

"Some of our gentlemen," says an evening newspaper, "evidently hope to gather any spare kisses from American ladies which may fall to find their proper target—the Prince's laughing lips. We hope for these gentlemen's sakes that the Americans will be ready with whole batteries of quick firing kisses so that the German enthusiasts may catch a few stray shots at least in return for their huge expenses."

CARRIES VALUABLE BOOK.

Morgan's Cellini Volume, Which Cost $5000, Will Have Page Replaced in Paris.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PARIS, Oct. 24.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] One of the most valuable books in the world—if not the most valuable—is on its way to New York, from which place it took a special trip to Europe just to have one loose page set in place. There is only one man on earth who can do this work as it should be done and he lives in Paris, although he is an Italian.

The book belongs to J. Pierpont Morgan, who gave $5000 for it some years ago.

It is a small book, an ordinary 16 mo, but its cover of gold was wonderfully wrought by Benevenuto Cellini in the Sixteenth century. Experts regard it as one of that famous artist's masterpieces. The precious book was brought to the Paris book-binder by a special agent.

CREW SWEPT OVERBOARD.

Nineteen Lost When Steamer Regulus Is Wrecked, Parted From Tug in Storm.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

ST. JOHNS (N. F.) Oct. 24.—News of the wreck of the steamer Regulus, bound from Belle Isle to Sydney, with the loss of nineteen men of the crew, was received here today. The wreck occurred at Shoal Bay, nine miles from this port.

The Regulus has been running between Newfoundland ports, Sydney, C. B., New York and Philadelphia. She broke her tail shaft off the Bay of Bulls, thirty-six miles from here, during a heavy storm yesterday while on her way from Belle Isle to Sydney, and a tug picked her up late in the afternoon.

The storm increased, however. Four hawsers were parted and the Regulus became lost in the fog and darkness. At daylight the steamer was found to be a total wreck on a point of land at the entrance of Shoal Bay. Nineteen members of the crew had been swept into the sea and lost.

When the tug left the steamer appeared to be breaking up.

Portugal's Reformers Will Substitute Morality in Schools for Religious Instruction.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

LISBON, Oct. 24.—The secularization of the schools involves replacement of religious instruction therein by systematic teaching of individual and civic morality.

This is strongly favored by the reformers heading the government, who claim the greatest peril to the young republic would be pleased if they succeeded in educating the children so they would apply the same honesty to political as to private life.

It has been decided to suppress the faculty of theology at the University of Coimbra, and to abolish the taking of oaths by the students and professors.

Trade Loses Prominent Factor in Death of George M. Cornwall, Who Passes Away After Lifetime Devoted to Printing Business—Was Publisher and Editor.

The printing trade lost a veteran from its ranks with the death of George M. Cornwall, who passed away yesterday afternoon at his home, No. 4417 Central avenue. Death was due to general debility occasioned by his extreme age, 82 years.

For the last twelve years Mr. Cornwall had been in the service of the Commercial Printing Company, of this city. His faithfulness to the trade which he had followed for more than three-score years is pathetically attested by the fact that he abandoned the form and font less than a year ago, when his increasing weakness made it no longer possible for him to actively serve.

He was born in Aberdeen, Scotland, May 30, 1828. His father was a printer before him and the son followed his trade from the time that his hands were strong enough to pick and set type. He continued in business with his father until about thirty years of age, when, with his family, he removed to this country.

Here he pursued his trade in New York City and in a number of small towns of the Middle West, where he was successively printer, editor and publisher of a number of small papers. He came to Los Angeles in 1887 and was for several years associated with the pioneer publishing houses of the city.

Mr. Cornwall leaves a wife, from whom he had been separated for many years, a son, George Cornwall, Jr., editor of the Lumberman, a journal published at Portland, Or., in the interests of the timber trade, and five daughters. The eldest of these, Miss Alice Cornwall, was for several years in the employ of The Times previous to her removal to Portland, where for twelve years she has been associated with the Oregonian. Other daughters are Mrs. Maria Bisel, of Tombstone, Mrs. D. G. Bremner, of Brooklyn, Mrs. Wellington Lewis, of Waterford, Ct., and Miss Jane Cornwall, of the Central avenue address, this city.

Arrangements for the funeral are pending the arrival in this city of the Oregon and Arizona relatives, who are expected here today.

SEEKING LOST BALLOONISTS.

SEND SEARCHING PARTIES INTO CANADIAN WILDS.

SPECULATIONS ON THE WHEREABOUTS OF MISSING MEN.

THOMPSONVILLE IS LAST PLACE WHERE OBSERVED.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 24.—If Alan R. Hawley and Augustus Post, the missing pilots, and their balloon, America II, are not reported by Wednesday morning, St. Louis von Phul, as the representative of the Aero Club of St. Louis, will attempt to locate them with the balloon St. Louis III.

This plan was decided upon at a meeting of the board of governors of the Aero Club of St. Louis tonight. Von Phul will take with him J. M. O'Reilly, his aide in the international race, which started from St. Louis a week ago today, and go to Sault Ste. Marie, where the balloon will be inflated and sent north into that part of Canada, where Hawley and Post are now supposed to be.

The rescue party will take along a month's provisions and a light collapsible canoe.

The aero club officials here are working on the theory that Hawley and Post are in the country contiguous to James Bay and north of the Lake Superior region.

SEARCHING PARTY.

Lewis Spindler, the aero club's representative, who is to arrive in Toronto tonight, has been ordered by telegraph to go to Chapleau, Ont., where he will organize searching parties along the Canadian Pacific Railroad.

Von Phul began tonight to get his equipment together for the journey. He said his purpose would be to fly as low as possible over a stretch of two or three hundred miles of country north of Lake Superior.

The course of the America II, as mapped out by the aero club officials with the meager information at hand, would seem to lie through the country beyond Georgian Bay. This is the wildest kind of a wilderness, and if the aeronauts were compelled to drop down there, they may be a long while getting back to civilization.

According to officials of the aero club it seems very probable that Hawley and Post have surpassed all other records made and that they will eventually be located many miles farther from the starting point than anticipated. Both are experienced balloonists, men of iron constitution, easily able to withstand the hardships of a prolonged flight. Both expressed a determination to do long keep in the air as long as their balloon could gain distance, both believed the longest record heretofore made could be far surpassed, and both in their previous flights together have exercised good judgment in conserving their gas, keeping their position and landing carefully.

LAST REPORTS.

The America II passed over Thompsonville, Mich., Tuesday, Oct. 18, according to a message received today by the Aero Club of St. Louis. The message was signed by Alan R. Hawley and Augustus Post, pilot and aide. It read:

"Thompsonville, Mich.—America II passed over this place Tuesday. Course due north."

The delayed message was dropped to a farmer, eight miles from Thompsonville and was forwarded by E. S. Northrop of Thompsonville.

Northrop, replying to a message of inquiry said the farmer who received the message from the balloonists talked with them and read the name of the aerostat on the gas bag.

The course of the balloon was east of St. Ignace, Mich., over Sutton Bay.

The America II, according to Northrop's message, followed the course of the Asuras and Helvetia. The former landed thirty-two miles northeast of Biscotasing, Ont., and the latter near Ville Marie, Ont.

The receipt of the message revived the hope of the Aero Club that Hawley and Post are alive and now it is only a question of getting them back to civilization.

CONVENTION ADJOURNS OVER MINORITY'S PROTEST.

FIVE NEW PROPOSITIONS ARE SUBMITTED.

NEWSPAPERMEN WILL BE RE-ADMITTED TO FLOOR.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PHOENIX (Ariz.) Oct. 24.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] By a vote of 27 to 22, the Constitutional Convention adjourned for the day after a short morning session. There was violent protest from the minority, but the others all wanted to go to a show and they went. The minority, led by Wilson and Critchfield, stayed at the Capitol and dug into committee work.

The finance committee presented a report that showed nearly $80,000 all remaining from the $100,000 voted by Congress for the expenses incident to statehood. The delegate election is estimated to have cost $30,000, and as much more will have to be saved for the ratification election. Thus far the convention has cost about $11,000, of which nearly $6,000 is mileage.

Manager W. H. Burks of the Anti-Saloon League, has offered to surrender his rights to the floor as a reporter, and it is probable that newspaper men will be re-admitted tomorrow.

Propositions submitted today include abolition of an occupation tax levy; abolition of a limit on damages in personal injury suits; abolition of the fellow servant law; invalidation of all contracts wherein the employed may waive claims for damages for injuries received and making it illegal to import alien labor.

COMPROMISE FOR BOUNDARY DISPUTE.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

SANTA FE (N. M.) Oct. 24.—A new basis of compromise of the old boundary dispute between New Mexico and Texas is proposed by Isidoro Armijo, member of the New Mexico Constitutional Convention and the famous cowboy boundaries.

New Mexico lays claim to all of Texas extending west of the One Hundred and Third parallel—a narrow strip of land something like 200 miles long on the eastern border of the Texas "Panhandle."

When the boundary dispute comes up for discussion, Mr. Armijo will make an effort to compromise by suggesting that in lieu of this land, Texas cede Dona Ana county, Tex., to New Mexico. The people of El Paso would like this plan inasmuch, he declares, as that city has threatened to secede from Texas and form a new state.

CAUCUS OUTLINES POLICIES.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SANTA FE (N. M.) Oct. 24.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The convention adopted a resolution to go into a committee of the whole tomorrow forenoon, and all bills in committee until every committee report and every proposition for finality has been disposed of, which it is believed will be November 15.

The Republican caucus had its most important session this afternoon, and practically outlined the policy of the majority on the initiative and referendum, a corporation commission, taxation and the judiciary.

FRUIT GROWERS MAKE MONEY.

Long Season Has Been Highly Satisfactory to Shippers in Sacramento District.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SACRAMENTO, Oct. 24.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Fruit men in this section are delighted with the season just closing, which they claim is one of the most satisfactory in recent years.

They also say that in spite of great losses to their interests, they have received better markets than growers in other States and have received more money for the fruit shipped.

C. L. Nagle, vice-president of the California Fruit Exchange, in commenting on the season, stated today that California fruit keeps en route and arrives better on the markets than fruits from other sections.

Although comparatively high freight rates must be paid to haul California fruits to the East and difficulty is experienced in getting labor to work in the orchards," said Mr. Nagle, "California commands a price in every market that compensates the grower proportionately.

"Canada and Scotland are demanding our apples, according to the local shippers, because the crops at home this year has been short.

Governor's Physician Says Condition Not Critical and Has Not Been Alarming.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

CHARLESTON (W. Va.) Oct. 24.—Because of conflicting reports as to the condition of Stephen B. Elkins, United States senator, who is ill at his home here, Dr. W. W. Golden, the Senator's physician, gave a statement to the Associated Press today. He says:

"Reports that the condition of Senator Elkins is critical are wholly unfounded, and furthermore, at no time during his present illness has his condition been such as to give alarm to his family physician or the members of his family. The enforced rest and sleep done much for the Senator and he confidently expects to be in his seat at the opening of the Senate tomorrow."

THREATENS TO KILL JUDGE...

Man Demands Reversal of Divorce Decree—Jurist's Wife Saves Him.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SACRAMENTO, Oct. 24.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] "I will kill Superior Judge J. H. Jones within two weeks unless he reverses the decision in my divorce case," declared R. C. Jones yesterday. Jones is confined in the county jail, charged with attempting to carry out his threat, and is under guard to prevent any possible attempt to escape and make an attack on the judge.

Jones, it is believed, owes his life to the alertness of his wife, who saw Jones lurking in the shadows of a building as the Judge and his wife were walking home from dinner. She had an opportunity to warn her husband, and his wife hurried him to the sheriff's office where Jones was later arrested. He was stubborn when arrested his threat to kill the Judge at the first available

GIRLS' JOKE COSTS AUTO.

Washington Young Women Filch Car From Escorts—They're in Tears; It Burned Up.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WALLA WALLA (Wash.) Oct. 24.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] In an attempt to play a joke on their escorts, two girls of this city Saturday night burned up the automobile they had filched while the two young men were not looking and Elmer Davis now mourns the loss of his car.

Davis, with Frank Booker, half-back on the High School football team, took the girls out for an automobile ride Saturday night and stopped at the Davis country home. Here the girls slipped away and took the car intending to play a prank and make the young men walk the eight miles into the city.

This the youths did, expecting to find the car here. Failing in this they secured another automobile and went out to find it. Returning nearly to the scene of the escapade, they found the girls in tears and the automobile in ashes. It had caught fire while they were riding and was completely destroyed.

SCORNS HELP FOR TOTS.

Starving Mother Who Says She is of Royal Lineage Will Pawn Heirloom of Pearls.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

TACOMA (Wash.) Oct. 24.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Mrs. Elizabeth Budinich, mother of five children, today told Superior Judge Chapman that as the direct descendant of one of the kings of Ireland and a royal princess, she scorned charitable help offered by neighbors.

Taking a string of pearls from her neck she declared it was the last of the family heirlooms, handed down from mother to daughter for countless generations. Said she, "Although it will break my heart to part with them, I shall do so for my children."

Paul Budinch, aged 10, told Judge Chapman he had eaten only a crust of bread since yesterday. Little Paul, half starved, and thinly clad, looked little like a royal prince, although his father, now dead, was known as "king of the Slavonians."

Judge Chapman gave Mrs. Budinich until Wednesday to provide for her children, otherwise they will be placed in a charitable institution.

ASK FOR RAILROAD LAWS.

New Mexico Corporation Plans Construction of Line Through Four States.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

SACRAMENTO, Oct. 24.—Declaration of intention to build a railroad from Springer, N. M., to San Francisco, was contained in a letter received by Secretary of State Curry today from H. S. Wanamaker, secretary of the Mountain Valley and Plains Railroad Company.

Wanamaker wanted news of the incorporation laws of this State pointing out that the railroad will cross four states, and that the financing company wants its charter to be as simple as is compatible with the State laws of those States. The company has its headquarters at Amstead, N. M.

JUSTICE OF PEACE GUILTY.

Jury Finds Arizonan an Embezzler, Accused of Grafting Off Prisoners and Fines.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

SOLOMONVILLE (Ariz.) Oct. 24.—The jury in the case of David E. Andress, charged with embezzlement, returned a verdict of guilty here last night.

Andress, as justice of the peace in the Morenci precinct, is alleged to have carried on a system of grafting in connection with prisoners and fines. Thousands of dollars were involved.

SUES HUNDRED AND ONE.

ENGINEER WANTS $1,010,000.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

TACOMA, Oct. 24.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Former City Engineer H. L. Smith of Charleston, who was relieved lately by the Council on a petition of 101 citizens, has brought suit against each of the petitioners for defamation of character and professional standing. He is suing each petitioner for $10,000. A petition asking for the removal of Engineer Smith, signed by 101 taxpayers and citing several charges, was presented to the Council a month ago. That body at once removed Smith. The defendants will act together in contesting the suits.

PICK ORANGES AT OROVILLE.

AUSTRALIA SENDS BIG ORDER.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

OROVILLE (Cal.) Oct. 24.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Orange picking was started in Oroville district Saturday. The fruit was hauled from the orchards to the packing shed, to be packed for shipment. The oranges this year are large, sweet and juicy. In the Palermo district growers started picking fine fruit last Wednesday. They have an order for 2500 boxes to be packed and shipped to Australia. A large amount of these local and Palermo orange crops will be shipped over the Western Pacific this year.

JUDGE SENDS MAN TO PRISON.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

SACRAMENTO, Oct. 24.—John D. Comes was sentenced to six years in Folsom Prison by Judge Hughes today on a charge of grand larceny, in the systematic theft of horses from Sacramento ranchers. Comes confessed his crime but blamed another man for leading him on. Mary Cambridge, Comes's sweetheart, who had made a strong plea for him, was in court when sentence was passed.

SLOPE BRIEFS.

Salt Lake Theater and Store Burn.

SALT LAKE CITY, Oct. 24.—Fire developing from an unknown cause in the basement of the Daniels theater and Bungalow hotel on South State street early this morning partially destroyed the playhouse and a stock of drygoods in a storeroom, occupying part of the building. The fire drove the occupants of the hotel to the street in their night clothes. The loss is $60,000, partially insured.

WILL FIGHT RATE LAW.

ILLINOIS LINES PLAN A CONCERTED ATTACK ON RATE.

TWO CENTS A MILE IS CONFISCATORY, IS CLAIM.

IF SUCCESSFUL, WAR WILL BE CARRIED INTO WEST.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, Oct. 24.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] An attack on the constitutionality of the Illinois two cent a mile passenger fare law, passed by the Legislature in 1907 is being planned by the heads of the big railroad systems operating through the State. It will be followed by similar attacks in Iowa and Wisconsin.

Statistics with which the roads expect to base their argument that the two-cent rates are confiscatory are now being prepared by the accounting officers of the roads. How soon they will be presented in court with an application for an injunction to prevent the enforcement of the law has not been determined.

According to plans laid at meetings of the presidents and chief traffic officers, it is the purpose to proceed against the Illinois law as soon as the conclusion of similar litigation in other States, chiefly Missouri and Nebraska, leaves the roads free to turn their efforts to new litigation.

The appeal for relief will be made in one of the Federal courts, as has been the practice of the roads in other States where the maximum rate laws have been attacked. In Missouri the law was declared unconstitutional by Judge Smith McPherson of the Federal Circuit Court over a year ago and the roads are now charging two and one-half and three cents per mile pending the decision of the Supreme Court of the United States on an appeal taken by the State.

In Arkansas and Minnesota the State laws relating to passenger fares have thus far been attacked successfully by the roads in the circuit courts, and in Nebraska the litigation is still in the stage of evidence.

Unless the efforts of the roads to charge more than two cents a mile are stopped by a decision of the Supreme Court they will try to knock out the two-cent laws in every State in the West where fares have been restricted.

As a first step in the direction of obtaining more revenues from the passenger service the roads have succeeded already in abolishing nearly all of the reduced special excursion rates for conventions and other large gatherings.

OPERATION COST GROWS.

ROCK ISLAND ISSUES REPORT.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

CHICAGO, Oct. 24.—Total operating revenues of the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific Railroad in the fiscal year ended June 30, as shown in the report just made public, were $86,226,000, an increase of $5,035,000 over the amount in the preceding year. The operating expenses increased $5,555,000, however, reaching a total of $48,069,000 and leaving the net earnings from operation $18,151,000, a decrease of $520,000. Taxes and other charges were increased so as to leave only $15,497,000 total income, a decrease of $1,114,000. After the payment of interest and rentals, the balance available for dividends was $4,747,000, a decrease of $1,418,000. The amount figures 6.3 per cent. on the $75,000,000 of stock. The company paid dividends of 5 per cent. and carried $1,004,609 to the surplus account for the year.

SPANISH PEOPLE FOR REPUBLIC.

MASSES OPPOSE DOMINATION OF THE CLERICALS.

French Writer, Summing Up Situation in Alfonso's Kingdom, Says Capitulation to Vatican or Extensive Moroccan Invasion Will Precipitate Change in Government.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PARIS, Oct. 24.—Jules Hedeman, a brilliant writer for The Matin, a daily newspaper, and one of the best authorities on foreign affairs in France, has been in Spain, carefully canvassing the chance of a republic being set up there.

Premier Canalejas, as might be expected, says the monarchial government is firmly established and that there is no danger of a successful revolution.

But Hedeman has found quite the contrary opinion among the leaders of the Republican party. Leroux, one of the principal Republicans, said to him:

"A republic in Spain within three or four years is as certain as that the sun will rise tomorrow. The Spanish people are anti-clerical and anti-monarchist by a large majority. The King is unpopular because he devotes too much of his time to sport and too little to the government. Besides, King Alfonso is sick. He will not live long."

Mr. Hedeman sums up the opinion in political circles by saying that the people are strongly against Jesuits, and especially merchants who cannot compete with factories operated by the religious orders, which pay no taxes. Among the laboring classes the opinion is clearly in favor of a republic. In the army the revolutionary propaganda has made great progress.

Hedeman concludes his observations thus: "Two events outside of the death of the King can bring about a republic in Spain: First, the capitulation of the government to the Vatican; second, the consent of the military authorities to an extensive programme in Morocco, necessitating the sending of many soldiers there, for the people are unalterably opposed to sending troops into Africa."

LITTLE HEIRESSES STRICKEN.

Daughters of Congressman Lowden Are Taken Suddenly Ill With Infantile Paralysis.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, Oct. 24.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Florence, aged 11 years, and Harriet, 7, the only daughters of Congressman Frank O. Lowden, were stricken with infantile paralysis yesterday. The nature of their illness became public tonight. The two children are heiresses to the millions of the late George M. Pullman, the sleeping-car magnate.

Mrs. Lowden was Miss Florence Pullman. Her two brothers died several years ago and her two little daughters will inherit eventually all of the Pullman estate. Congressman Lowden is rushing on a special train to his farm at Oregon, Ill., from Arkansas, where he was on a hunting trip.

Several Chicago specialists are at the bedside of the two children and their condition is pronounced critical. Mrs. George M. Pullman, the grandmother of the Lowden children, has also been summoned.

The Lowden home at Oregon farm has been equipped with a private hospital and several nurses and doctors are attending the stricken children.

Admiral Richelieu Tells How Chulalongkorn Transformed Siam Into Modern State.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

COPENHAGEN, Oct. 24.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] In speaking to the correspondent of the Los Angeles Times today, Admiral Richelieu of the Danish Navy eulogised King Chulalongkorn of Siam, who died in Bangkok yesterday. The Admiral was one of the monarch's best personal friends, his adviser for twenty-six years and the reorganizer of the Siamese navy.

"King Chulalogkorn," he said, "was in some respects one of the world's greatest monarchs. On his own initiative he transformed Siam from a backward Eastern settlement into a thoroughly modern State. He was brought up according to the old ideas prevalent in his country and did not visit Western civilization until twenty-five years after he became king. Few sovereigns accomplished as much for their people as he did. It is no wonder the Siamese were devoted to him, looking upon him as their father.

"The new King is clever. He was educated at Oxford, has written several books and is intensely interested in Siam's modern development."

QUEEN CALLS ELKINS "AN AMERICAN COAL MERCHANT."

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

TURIN (Italy) Oct. 24.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Your correspondent had conversation today with a very high personage connected with the Italian court who can speak with more authority on the Abruzzi-Elkins episode than anybody short of Abruzzi himself. This personage said most decidedly:

"The Elkins marriage will now never take place. The Dowager Queen has been absolutely obdurate in her hostility from the first and but for her it probably would have been arranged. The King and Queen, who greatly like and admire Abruzzi, offered no objection when they found him serious about marrying the American girl. Moreover, the King did everything in his power to influence his mother favorably to the marriage, but she finally refused to hear any more about it; her mind was made up.

"It was on this occasion that the King remarked to her that his uncle, the late Duke d'Aosta, had married an Italian lady not of royal birth, who, without protest, had occupied the throne of Spain side by side with her husband for a time."

"The Queen retorted: Yes, but she was of noble birth, whereas the daughter of an American coal merchant could aspire to no position at our court and would only expose herself and us to scorn and difficulties.

"That was Margherita's last word. Her opposition was backed by the whole of high Roman society, who agreed that it was impossible to receive Katherine Elkins as a royal princess and equally impossible to make a distinction between her rank and her husband's."

The correspondent further learns that the royal family are intensely annoyed at the news that a new musical comedy just finished has its story based on the Abruzzi-Elkins affair.

SKULL CRACKED TWELVE YEARS

Operation Reveals Serious Fracture in Cranium of Sailor on Maine When She Sank.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 24.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] United States cavalryman, and also an able-bodied seaman, William E. Richards, who was on board the United States battleship Maine in Havana harbor in February, 1898, when the ill-fated ship was blown up, and who has been suffering from headaches for some years, was operated on at the Brooklyn naval hospital one day a couple of weeks ago. The surgeons found that he had been going about with a fractured skull since the day of the disaster. He was struck heavily on the side of the head by a piece of flying steel and for a time was unconscious. When he came to, he made light of the matter and insisted there was nothing wrong with him.

Illinois Prosecutor Tells Court He Can Convict Alleged Grafters Without Senator's Story.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

SPRINGFIELD (Ill.) Oct. 24.—Opening arguments were made and testimony was begun in the Sangamon county Circuit Court today in the case against Senator Stanton C. Pemberton of Oakland, and Representative Joseph S. Clark of Vandalia, charged with conspiring to obtain a bribe in the awarding of a contract for new desks and chairs for the Senate and House.

State's Attorney Edmund Burke said the State could prove the defendants guilty without the testimony of Senator D. W. Holstlaw, whose confession to Burke resulted in several legislative indictments in this county.

Not a "Cure-all"

SEPARATE REMEDIES, EACH DEVISED FOR THE TREATMENT OF A PARTICULAR AILMENT.

There is no "cure-all" among the Rexall Remedies. There are different and separate medicines, each one devised for a certain human ailment or a class of ailments closely allied. For instance, Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets are recommended for the positive relief of stomach irritation, indigestion, flatulency and dyspepsia. They are rich in Bismuth-Subnitrate, Pepsin and Carminatives. They are prepared by special processes which perfect and enhance the great remedial value of these well-known medicinal agents. This remedy sells for 25c, 50c and $1 per package. Everyone suffering from stomach disorder should try Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets, inasmuch as they cost nothing if they do not satisfy.

Remember, The Owl Drug Co., Inc., Los Angeles, San Francisco, Oakland, Cal., Seattle, Wash., and Portland, Or., are the only storeswhere these remedies may be obtained, and every one in need of medicine is urged to investigate and take advantage of the frank and generous manner in which they are sold.

INSURGENTS SEEK FAVOR.

NOISY, REBELLIOUS ONES ARE GOING TO PRESIDENT.

TAFT WILL NOT HAVE TO GO TO THEM, SAYS OFFICIAL.

CHIEF EXECUTIVE WILL HAVE NO ROW WITH CONGRESS.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] As far as anyone has been able to discover in the States from Illinois eastward and here in Washington, there is no evidence to bear out the frequent assertion that President Taft will be forced to go to the insurgents for peace. But there is evidence that the insurgents are going to the President.

This is the opinion of an official here, who is a close student of politics. In saying this sight is not lost of the letter, usually referred to as "unfortunate," which was written some time ago and which made it appear that the administration, by yielding belated patronage to the rebellious ones, hoped to win a renewal of their early affections.

In a dispatch yesterday it was said that in case the President "does not have a Democratic House on his hands in 1911, he is extremely likely to have an insurgent house." There have been published time after time expressions of opinions to the effect that if the insurgents are to control the next Congress, the administration must go to them cap in hand to ask for legislative favors. It can be said that there is no cap hanging in the White House which will be taken down from its peg for carrying purposes.

If the insurgents control the next House, it is the belief of men so close to the President that they are not likely to go wrong in their judgment that the Republican majority and the administration will not only get on well together, but that legislation will be enacted quickly which will put the party in trim for an aggressive fight in the year 1912 and this with no long distance view of the face of the probable candidate for presidential honors.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Secretary of the Interior Ballinger has approved a contract between the Reclamation Service and the Eureka Canal Camp, an unincorporated association whereby the canals of the latter become a part of the Salt River irrigation project. The property is valued at $9269 and owners thereof are to be allowed credit for that amount on their proportionate share of the building charges of the Salt River project.

HEINZE FILES BRIEF.

Supreme Court to Review Famous Banking Case—His Brother Gets No Relief.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24.—The brief of the United States in the case against Frits Augustus Heinze, involving charges of willful misapplication of the assets of a national bank, wrongful discounting of notes, etc., while Heinze was president of the Mercantile National Bank of New York, was filed in the Supreme Court of the United States today.

The present proceeding is on a direct writ of error to the Circuit Court from the Southern District of New York for review of the Circuit Court's action in sustaining a demurrer to each of the first fifteen counts of an indictment against Heinze.

The aggregate of the unsecured notes which figure in the counts of the indictment is $1,383,000. The insufficiently secured notes aggregate $670,000.

Arthur P. Heinze of New York, failed today to obtain any relief from the Supreme Court from the sentence imposed on him by New York Federal courts on a charge of having impeded the investigation of the government into the banking business of his brother.

The particular charge brought against Heinze was that he induced a prospective witness before the grand jury to go to Canada, beyond the jurisdiction of the court.

INFORMATION.

EXAMINERS EVOLVE NEW PLANS TO CHECK UP BANK BORROWERS

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24.—A tentative system of collect credit information for the benefit of national bank examiners with the compilation and checking up of commitments of large local and extended borrowers has been formulated by a committee of examiners who have been meeting at the Treasury Department.

Every examiner hereafter will keep for himself a file of large and extended borrowers in his district which list will be sent to the Treasury Department for summarizing.

The machinery available by the Comptroller of the Currency will be put to work to gather such credit information as can be obtained from national and State banks and trust companies located in States where there already is co-operation between Federal and State banking officials.

HOLD NAMES IN CONFIDENCE.

The examiners will not divulge the name of the bank where a line of the credit is found of the extended borrower, their special reports giving the total only of the loans listed.

These lists are entirely confidential.

It is not contemplated that a comprehensive plan, which will guarantee the assembling of complete credit information covering all banks in the country, is practicable at this time, nor is the personal and intimate relationship between the banks and the borrower to be interfered with.

It is expected the knowledge that a hundred or more men will be keeping a constant check on the borrowings will make it extremely hazardous for the dishonest individual, firm or corporation to get money from the national banks.

The committee recommended that in addition to the usual annual meeting of the examiners held in each of the eleven districts, regular annual meetings of the several district chairmen be held at some central point early in the year. Those meetings would consider conditions and make public information as to the credit, rating and responsibility of those borrowers whose names might be found on paper in more than one of the general districts regarding whom it might be deemed advisable to compare notes.

ARRANGE THE DISTRICTS.

A radical rearrangement of districts into which the country has been divided, was also recommended. This rearrangement includes well-defined banking zones, the headquarters in each district being of selective importance as banking centers and reserve cities. This tentative plan follows:

District No. 1—New England, headquarters Boston; Alfred Ewer, chairman.

No. 2—New York State and City, and northern New Jersey, headquarters New York; Charles A. Hanna, chairman.

No. 3—Eastern Pennsylvania, Maryland and the District of Columbia; headquarters, Philadelphia; Frank L. Morris, chairman.

No. 4—New district, Virginia, North and South Carolina, Georgia and Florida; headquarters, Richmond; no chairman named.

No. 5—Western Pennsylvania, West Virginia, and Ohio; headquarters, Pittsburgh; H. A. Williams, chairman.

No. 6—Kentucky, Tennessee, Southwestern Ohio, and Southern Indiana; headquarters, Cincinnati; Percy H. Johnston, chairman.

No. 7—New district, Louisiana, Mississippi and Alabama; headquarters, New Orleans; no chairman named.

No. 8—Chicago, Northern Indiana, Illinois, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Iowa, Nebraska, North and South Dakota; headquarters, Chicago; E. F. Rorebeck, chairman.

No. 9—Southern Illinois, Missouri, Arkansas, Oklahoma and Texas; headquarters, St. Louis; Frank O. Hicks, chairman.

No. 10—Colorado, Utah, Artsona, Wyoming and New Mexico; headquarters, Denver; F. L. Klein, chairman.

No. 11—Oregon, Idaho, Montana, Washington; headquarters, Seattle; E. T. Wilson, chairman.

No. 12—California and Nevada; headquarters, San Francisco; Henry N. J. Morris, chairman.

BUYS CIGAR; $10,000 GONE.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

CHICAGO, Oct. 24.—James C. Foster, a salesman from Columbus, O., complained to the police today that he had been robbed of two sample cases containing $10,000 worth of jewelry while he was in a hotel lobby here. According to his statement he left the sample cases on the floor in front of the cashier's desk to step to the cigar counter. When he returned a minute later, they had vanished.

BLUE LAWS IN ZION.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

CHICAGO, Oct. 24.—Zion City is soon to be governed by the same strict blue laws under the same secret espionage that distinguished it during the reign of John Alexander Dowie, its founder. Wilbur Glenn Voliva, Dowie's deposer and successor, in a sermon to his followers yesterday, announced the return to the old condition. Voliva announced he was organizing a secret police body that would eclipse Dowie's, even though the old one was so conducted that a stranger could hardly get into Zion without his name and pedigree being given in advance. Voliva is to have more than 50 men in his force. He plans to know of everything that happens in the city, and to hear even the gossip that goes on. His second return to Dowie principles will be in the re-establishing of the morning and evening prayer. He has purchased a two-ton bell and will hang it in the tower of Zion House, his hotel. It will be tolled at 9 o'clock, morning and evening, and every resident of Zion must cease work and pray for three minutes.

TRIPLETS LATE FOR CENSUS.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

CLEVELAND (O), Oct. 24.—Too late for census, but earnestly doing her share in Cleveland's remarkable growth, Mrs. William G. FEDERAL ATTORNEY URGES PROTECTION OF CITIZENS.

OPPONENT CONSIDERS CASE A "LEGAL CURIOSITY."

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24.—The final attempt of the Federal government to uphold the validity of the indictment in the New York Federal courts of the Press Publishing Company in a charge of libel growing out of the publication of an article in the New York World on the purchase of the Panama canal, was made today in oral argument before the Supreme Court of the United States.

The article in question was printed in the heat of the Presidential campaign in 1908. It charged that Charles P. Taft, Douglas Robinson and William Cromwell, with J. P. Morgan and others, obtained control of the Panama Canal route for $3,000,000, and through their intimacy with Theodore Roosevelt, then President, and William H. Taft, then Secretary of War, sold the property to the United States at a profit of $34,000,000.

Much attention was paid to the case by Pres. Roosevelt during his administration, a special message having been sent to Congress on the subject.

James C. McReynolds, special Assistant Attorney-General, spoke for ten minutes for the government in opening. He was followed by Delancey Nicoll of New York, for the Press Publishing Company.

Mr. McReynolds, in his opening statement, said the lower court had erred in quashing the indictment against the Press Publishing Company on the charge of having circulated a libelous article at the West Point military reservation.

Mr. Nicoll spoke of the case as a "legal curiosity." He said Atty.-Gen. Bonaparte had made the revelation that, in 1898, Congress, without intending it, really had re-enacted the sedition laws of 1798. In closing Mr. Nicoll said:

"As a matter of fact, the prosecution was premature, born before its time, belonging to a new dispensation when the Federal government shall have taken to itself all power and authority and States been reduced to more geographical districts; when the Federal tribunals shall no longer try cases in accordance with precedents and the law, but according to the needs of the time as interpreted to them by some great steward of the public welfare."

Just before coming to his peroration, Mr. Nicoll had presented to the court in dramatic fashion an argument to show that the whole history of the country condemned the construction of the act of Congress desired by the government. He dwelt first upon the unpopularity of the Sedition Act of 1798, designed to punish the publication of articles tending to stir up sedition. Then he came down to 1830, when he said, James Buchanan, later President of the United States, in the trial of Judge Peck before the United States Senate, had argued that the founders of the Constitution had been afraid to give the Federal government any authority over the subjects of libel.

Finally, he took up President Roosevelt's special message to Congress in regard to the alleged libel. He designated it as "curious reading."

For the next few minutes his voice rang through the little court room as he read a portion of the message holding it to be a "high national duty" to bring to justice him who "wantonly and wickedly, without one shadow of justification seeks to blacken the character of reputable private citizens and to convict the government of his own country in the eyes of the civilized world of wrong-doing of the basest and foulest kind."

In his concluding arguments, Mr. McReynolds told the court that the government was concerned in protecting the people residing in a Federal jurisdiction. In rebuttal to the argument that the prosecution should have been brought where the alleged libel was printed, or in other words, in State courts, he contended that the offense of libel was not limited to the mere act of printing, but included the act of making it public.

The court took the case under advisement. An opinion may not be rendered for several weeks.

SUPPORT FOR PRESIDENT.

Loeb is Authority for Statement That Col. Roosevelt Will Back Taft for Renomination.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Events are shaping themselves for the taking of a bolder position by the President in the matter of re-nomination for high office. No one who asks the direct question will get a denial at the White House that Mr. Taft is pleased inwardly with the utterance of Theodore Roosevelt in New England.

No great surprise has been occasioned here by the recently published word of a man in official life, closer perhaps than anybody else to Mr. Roosevelt to the effect that the support of the strenuous one may be expected in the next campaign for President Taft.

While the name of the man, who said that Mr. Roosevelt's position was misunderstood and that he was in a mood to give his support to the President, was withheld in the published interview, his identity was disclosed by close description. Everybody knows that it was Collector of Customs William Loeb, Jr., of New York City, former private secretary to Mr. Roosevelt.

If any one knows Mr. Loeb he knows that he was the one man in America who knew in advance of the return from Africa how the Colonel felt toward the present administration.

The published interview with Mr. Loeb followed closely on the direct word from Beverly that President Taft did not believe his predecessor in office intended to stand again as a candidate for the presidency.

FIFTEEN MILLION LOST.

Government Furnishes First Figures of Damage By Last Summer's Forest Fires.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24.—Six billion board feet of lumber, valued at about $15,000,000, was destroyed in the recent forest fires in the national forests in Montana and northern Idaho.

The total area burned over in this one district was put at 1,250,000 acres. The first rough estimate of the loss in the district, was completed today by officials of the government forest service.

It shows that the heaviest losses were in two Idaho forests, the Coeur d'Alene, where three million board feet of timber was killed or destroyed and more than 450,000 acres burned over, and the Clearwater, where one billion feet was killed and 300,000 acres burned over.

Other heavy losses were: Helena National Forest, Mont., 500,000,000 feet; Cabinet forest, 400,000,000, and Lolo forest, 700,000,000 feet.

How much of the six billion feet, which was either killed or burned in Montana and Northern Idaho, can eventually be salvaged, it is, of course, impossible to predict. If it were all a total loss and if its stumpage value were put at the average price at which national forest timber was sold last year, it would be the equivalent of a money loss of about $15,000,000.

It is believed that last summer's fires either burned or killed between one and two per cent. of the total stand of forest timber. At the present rate of cutting from the national forests, six billion feet is equal to twelve years' supply, but it is less than one-sixth of a single year's cut in the entire country, or enough to keep all lumber mills busy for something under two months.

POSTAL DEFICIT IS REDUCED.

Postmaster-General Says Mail Service Has Not Been Strictured Despite Saving of $11,500,000.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24.—Figures, the compilation of which was completed at the Postoffice Department today, show that the exact reduction of the postal deficit for the fiscal year ended June 30 last, was $11,500,000.

The deficit of the previous fiscal year was $17,400,000, so that in one year the deficit was reduced to $5,100,000.

In commenting tonight upon the saving of $11,500,000 last year, Postmaster General Hitchcock said:

"This tremendous saving was made without the curtailment of the postal facilities in any direction. On the contrary, there were many important extensions.

"The department's policy is to extend the service as rapidly as warranted by increasing population and to accomplish its savings, not by the curtailment of postal facilities, but by handling in a more systematic manner the constantly expanding volume of mail."

The tables indicate that more than 1500 new postoffices were established in the last fiscal year.

Great extensions were made in the rural delivery system, 515 new routes, with a total mileage of 12,235 being put into operation.

The tables show that salaries of postoffice clerks were advanced in the aggregate $1,750,000, while the aggregate salaries of letter carriers were increased $1,226,000.

Railway mail clerks received increases amounting to almost $250,000.

Mr. Hitchcock explained that all increases in compensation were based upon a system of efficiency ratings adopted by the department a little more than a year ago. He says the system has had a highly beneficial effect on the service.

UNEARTH WHITE SLAVE PLOT.

GIRL'S CONFESSION IMPLICATES FASHIONABLE WOMAN.

Portland Officers Take Female Into Custody at Swell Hotel—Two Chauffeurs Are Held—Joy Rides Precede Drop of Young Women Into Muck of the Half World.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PORTLAND (Or.) Oct. 24.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Evidence indicating the existence of an organized traffic for the procuring of "white slaves" in Portland has followed the arrest at the fashionable Cornelius Hotel of Mrs. Gertrude Blake, and the subsequent arrest of Theodore Adcox and William Boyd, taxicab chauffeurs, accused of conniving at the downfall of Isabel Harlow, a 17-year-old girl, who has been rescued from a disreputable house at The Dalles.

The arrest of a woman at the Dalles, known as "Dot" it is believed, will lead to an uncovering of the disreputable business which has been carried on for months. The woman came here a week ago in search of recruits, she was introduced to the Harlow girl by the two chauffeurs, Adcox and Boyd, and after a night spent in joy-riding, the girl consented to accompany her to The Dalles.

Mrs. Blake was implicated through the girl's confession. She had rented a furnished house and advertised for help. Miss Harlow and two other girls came under her spell through the advertisement. Mrs. Blake is charged by Miss Harlow with encouraging the girls to go out with the chauffeurs, who later sent them to disorderly houses out of town.

When arrested, Mrs. Blake was living in luxury at the hotels, where she was considered eminently respectable.

Imported Canines Wax Impatient When Clergyman Starts the Service—Japanese Scheme at Ceremony Includes Statue of Buddha—Lillian Russell's Pet is Guest.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 24.—Just at the moment when Rev. E. L. Copefield started the wedding service today making Mrs. Mary Schley Bowen, a wealthy San Francisco society woman, and Percy W. Evans, head of a Seattle shipping concern, husband and wife, the three bridesmaids began to frisk and caper about. It took all the soothing efforts of "best man," Arthur Del Roy and Mrs. B. F. V. Caldwell of San Francisco, the woman of honor, to keep them fairly quiet so that the ceremony could proceed.

The wedding was being held at the home of Mr. Del Roy, lavishly furnished with rare objects of art from Japan. The bridesmaids were Kondo-San, Pinka-San, and Otoyo Geisha, and they were gorgeously embroidered gowns with tiny lace. They were highly pedigreed Japanese spaniels from the Mikado's imperial kennels and were simply glad to see their mistress who held them by a leash.

Japanese sconces shed light on the scene. On a pedestal near the improvised alter, stood a hideous grinning dog of Chinese porcelain and close by a great bronze Buddha smiled benignly in his gilded niche.

The setting for the wedding was quite appropriate, for the couple first met while traveling in Japan a year ago.

After the ceremony the canine bridesmaids were given a dog dinner by Mrs. Eugene Clarice, wife of the opera singer, at which Miss Lillian Russell's spaniel was a guest.

Mr. Evans arrived from Europe today and will return with his bride tomorrow. After a trip of three months they will go to live in Seattle.

INDIGESTION IS ENDED FOREVER.

PICKPOCKETS HAVE TRUST.

Gotham Magistrate Tells Robbery Victim It is Just as Powerful as Standard Oil.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 24.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Here's a brand new one: "The Pickpocket Trust." Magistrate House vouches for it and today in the Harlem Police Court he told his reasons for believing that such a "trust" exists.

The cause of the magistrate's outburst was the arrangement of Benjamin Goldfarb, who said he was a clerk, but who was charged with robbing Louis Miller of a pocketbook containing $50 in cash and a diamond ring worth $100.

Detective Muller, who arrested Goldfarb, presented the magistrate with the prisoner's record, which took up five closely written typewritten pages. It proved that Goldfarb, who is only twenty years old, had been arrested forty times and had served time in Baltimore, Philadelphia, Chicago and New York.

"This man has asked for an adjournment and I am going to give him one until Monday," said the magistrate, "but he is probably a member of the pickpocket trust.

"There is a pickpocket trust, you know," continued Magistrate House, turning to Miller, the complainant, "and it is just as powerful as the Standard Oil. I know, because I have had occasion to come in contact with it. Their agents are always at work and have a way of fixing up cases in such a manner that the case against a prisoner falls through and the complainant mysteriously disappears.

Naval officers at the Brooklyn navy yard have learned that the British sailors who were royally entertained by the American crews during the Hudson-Fulton celebration last year, are preparing to return that hospitality with interest on the forthcoming visit of the battleships under Rear Admiral Schroeder to England.

Delicious Doughnuts.

If you like crisp, flaky doughnuts, richly browned, without a suspicion of greasiness, try the following recipe:

Cream 3 tablespoons of Cottolene with ¾ cup of sugar, and well beaten yolks of 3 eggs with white of one. To this, add one cup fresh mashed potatoes, ½ cup of milk and 2 cups of flour sifted with ½ teaspoon each of salt and ground mace and 2½ teaspoons of baking powder. Add more flour as necessary, to roll. Cut in rounds with doughnut cutter or otherwise and fry in Cottolene in deep kettle. Cottolene should be about three inches deep and be heated gradually to proper temperature.

Doughnuts fried in lard lie like lead on the stomach; lard is indigestible. Cottolene, on the contrary, makes food that even a child can digest with ease.

VISTAS OF WEALTH.

TO PUT LIFE IN OLD MINE.

CAPITALISTS BEHIND A GREAT COPPER ENTERPRISE.

UNION IS TO RESUME AFTER IDLE YEARS.

PLAN EXTENSION OF JENNY LIND RAILROAD.

Charles A. Stoneham, millionaire banker and broker of New York City, accompanied by a large party of notable eastern financiers, arrived in Los Angeles yesterday with plans for the development of one of the largest enterprises ever launched in California. After a period of idleness extending over many years, the old Union Copper mine, with its great smelting plant, is to resume activities under the ownership of Stoneham and his associates. With a force of 300 men they will begin the production of copper at the mines at Copperopolis, in Calaveras county within sixty days.

One of the first big propositions to be undertaken in connection with the revival of this property will be the immediate extension of the Stockton & Jenny Lind Railroad from Angels Camp and the Jenny Lind mine to the Calaveras, which is the name under which the new proprietors of the old Union will operate. This extension will cover a distance of thirty-seven miles and will do a general carrier business.

As a commercial proposition the Stockton & Jenny Lind road, with only sixteen miles of track, has been a dividend payer from the start. It will require the investment of about half a million dollars to build the additional mileage, and the amount is fully subscribed.

Three weeks ago Mr. Stoneham and his associates signed a contract with the Standard Oil Company for as much crude petroleum as they can consume during the next three years, at 77 cents a barrel. They consider this contract one of the most assets of the company, the stock of which is held close by about a dozen eastern men. One of the directors of the new operating company is Oliver Ames, of Boston. His father's estate formerly held the Union.

AFTER WESTERN TRADE.

With the ability to produce refined copper ready for the market at 4½ cents a pound and situated only 125 miles from the San Francisco port, the Calaveras people believe that they can dominate the trade of the West Coast, which pays 2½ cents more for copper than the market price of the east.

Their output will exceed the requirements of the West, but they are not afraid to compete with any other mine in the world in other markets, because of their peculiar advantages in being able to produce the refined product on their own property.

All other copper mines in the United States are forced to ship their blister copper to eastern refineries, but the Calaveras copper is absolutely free of all refractory substances. It contains no foreign element of any character, and since there are no by-products requiring elimination, their metal is ready for the market when it leaves the smelter.

They have a smelter and other surface equipment valued at half a million dollars, and they will be able to

WORK OF HERO

WIND-DRIVEN BRUSH IMPERILS ALL

Three Hundred Men Successfully Battle Over Three Thousand Acres and Men Groves Near Ontario—A Second Fire Races Over the Flats.

SWEEPING down upon the little town of Claremont with a speed which, under the lash of a strong wind, was like that of a race horse, one of the most dangerous brush fires in the history of the county was yesterday checked and turned aside on the very outskirts of the village, and property loss mounting into many thousands of dollars averted almost by a miracle.

Driven back and again back by the relentless onrush of a two-mile wall of flame, 300 men, armed with wet gunny sacks, blankets, shovels, anything and everything that could be utilized to fight the fire, made a desperate and determined stand on the north bank of the San Antonio River, a short distance north of Claremont.

For a few minutes grace permitted it. Then the foremost of the leaping flames should reach them, they started to run. Here and there in a hundred places along the dry and brush-grown riverbed, where the smaller fires were themselves almost uncontrollable by reason of the tinder-like undergrowth on which they fed, the desperate toil of the fire-fighters sufficed to keep the line between the lines of the banks. But by this time the main body of the flames had reached them, an area had been burned over large enough to turn the fire aside from its track, in which lay the entire village of Claremont.

All reports, received late last night, the fire was still raging in a northerly direction and, though no more property is immediately endangered, every available man has been rushed from the nearby towns to assist in fighting it.

Though it is difficult, even for those on the scene, to locate exactly the course of the fire, it appears to have started from the mouth of San Antonio Canyon, between Claremont and Upland, about noon. The lower part of the canon is choked with a dense undergrowth of sage-brush, greasewood and cactus, dry as paper from months of exposure to the sun.

SECOND FIRE STARTS.

The blaze was discovered almost immediately, but its spread was of such rapidity that the efforts of a small force of men sent out from a nearby fire-fighting station were powerless to check it.

Almost simultaneously another fire started in the brush-covered hills above the canon and nearly two miles from the origin of the first. The cause of neither is known, though the fact of time suggests that they may have been of incendiary origin. As far as is known, neither spot has been reached by campers within several days, so that the usual explana-

They have a smelter and other surplus equipment valued at half a million dollars, and they will be able to produce 20,000,000 pounds a month after January next. They own 2700 acres of finely timbered land, with all of the water they need for power and other operating purposes. Their ore chute is 100 feet wide, and has been proved on their own property for three and a half miles. They have already blocked out about 10,000,000 tons of ore, which runs eighty pounds of refined copper to the ton.

HEAVY PRODUCER.

The Calaveras was located by the elder Ames in 1860, and was operated as a high grade proposition in a purely surface way for a few years. When developed to its tenth level, it was revealed as one of the largest copper producers in the country. Nothing has been done with it for many years, and the announcement of its return as a producer will be received with large interest in the metal world.

J. H. Trerice, who will be in charge as general superintendent, had charge of the Minnie Healey, the Raris and the Boston and Montana. Heinze received $10,500,000 for the Raris, and the Boston and Montana is one of the big Anaconda producers.

The smelter is to be superintended by Olof Bergstrom, who was for many years in charge of Senator Clark's United Verdi smelters at Jerome, Arizona.

Mr. Stoneham and his party arrived here in a private car, having inspected the Calaveras last week. In the party are Mrs. Stoneham, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Wills, Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Barry, and several capitalists from Detroit. Mr. Wills is the designer of the Ford automobile. Mr. Barry is a prominent corporation lawyer with headquarters at Boston.

Some of the investors are heavily interested in the enterprise.

THEATRICAL.

ELEANOR GORDON, A BLUE MOUSE.

FITCH'S ADAPTATION DRAWS SHRIEKS AT BELASCO.

First Act One of Finest Examples of Farce Writing, While the Rest Is Good Humorous Entertainment. "A Stubborn Cinderella" Seen at the Auditorium—Vaudeville.

"The Blue Mouse" has came, and Main street resisted the shock without splitting asunder or being earthquake riven.

"The Blue Mouse" was Anglicised by that dramatic busy bee, Clyde Fitch, and is not so indigo as she is painted, though highly diverting, and in certain scenes extremely funny.

When one writes a farce about the relations of the sexes he unconsciously assumes either one of two attitudes; that men and women are good at heart, or that they are—well, perhaps naughty comes nearest the description—in the cardiac region. The original writers of "The Blue Mouse" leaned to the gay supposition, and the adapter kept up the suspicion.

When all is said and done, an exact description of "The Blue Mouse" implies that it is a very good farce, containing some broad allusions, but nothing for which an audience need be vaccinated.

A young and somewhat sober attache of a railroad office, needing the money which his wife's dowry will bring, learns that his father-in-law will not give this dowry until he—the husband—is promoted to the position of superintendent, and accordingly he institutes a search for a way in which this promotion may be accomplished.

He learns that the president likes to smile, in a somewhat senile fashion, upon the pretty wives of the younger men in his employ. Of course unwilling to make his own wife the joke of an old man's mild lovemaking, he employs, for the purpose, one Paulette Devine, a Solome dancer, known as "The Blue Mouse." He introduces her as his wife, and the fun begins.

This merriment proceeds through three acts ,and is complicated by the presence of the young man's real wife, his wife's father, Paulette Devine's sweetheart, the aged and faded wife of the railroad president, and several other parties.

The first act of the play is the best, and is laid in the adjoining offices of the two men. Here the characters alternate with lightning-change rapidity, and situation succeeds situation in a breathless whirl. As farce this act is unsurpassed by any that have been written in many years. It was punctured at the Belasco last night by whoops, shrieks and howls from the auditorium.

The two remaining acts, though still good farce, are not of the peerless order of the initial act.

The play ends peacefully and innocently, as do all good farces.

The Belasco production was one in which detail and excellence of small parts was the distinguishing feature.

Eleanor Gordon, displaying her supple figure to considerable advantage, was a vivacious Paulette, and showed an especial mastery of Paulette's mild professional slang. Miss Gordon's gowns—as in "Zira"—were a strong point in the totals of her favor.

Lewis Stone, as the mild-mannered young husband, spectacled and formal, gave a piece of character acting such as he has not been productive of in a year. The dry humor and drollery of Mr. Stone's assumption were a deciding note in the success.

Frank Camp as the railroad president was of equal force, distinction and humor. Dick Vivian played an ardent lover with dash and good looks, and Adele Farrington was inexpressible in a small character role.

Delightful "bits" were vouchsafed by Messrs. Giblyn and Ruggles, and Mr. Yerance, as the father-in-law from Cohoes, did no small part in sustaining the uproar.

Miss Ida Lewis had an absurdly effective baby-face, antique, make-up. Miss Sullivan was the real wife, of a proper sort.

"A Stubborn Cinderella," a bright musical show from the pens of those prolific and entertaining Chicago writers, Hough and Howard, began a week's engagement at the Auditorium last night.

"Dinkiespiel's Christmas" remains the bright spot of the Orpheum bill, notwithstanding an unusual number of good attractions besides. The humorous adventures of Dinkiespiel's son—especially that one in which he was served with a leather hinge covered with gravy, in lieu of a steak—serve to amuse, and the climactic hilarity of young Dinkiespiel's baby finishes the matter in grand style.

Eugene and Willie Howard are the headliners. One of the Howards—I don't know whether it is Isaac or Jacob—has grown dangerously fat. He is the leading man, the "good-clothes feller." The other, with his vigorous Yiddish portrayal, his ten-horse-power voice and his infectious comedy, has really improved since his last visit. The act of the boys is the same. Last time they called it "The Messenger Boy and the Thespian." This time it is "The Porter and the Salesman."

Thomas Smith, an eccentric English dancer, presents "The Three Peaches," pretty girls for the most part in impossible attire, though atoning for their ungainliness by pretty costumes in conclusion. Mr. Smith does a series of flip-flops that are not especially funny under his manipulation. They would look awfully funny if we saw John Blackwood doing them.

The Evers-Wisdom Company have a sketch called "Baseballitis." There is a fat lady in it who is a dangerous rival to Marie Cahill for real comedy effectiveness. Eleanor Wisdom is her name. If it is wisdom to laugh and grow fat, then she has done so.

Fred Singer's "Violin Maker of Cremona," presents interesting types of master-composers for musicians. The average audience, however, would prefer to hear "Casey Jones." They have more interest in that other papa on the Salt Lake line.

Harry Linton and Anita Lawrence, in "The Piano Store," continue their merry way. Waterbury Brothers and Tenny open the bill in a musical hodge-podge.

Dave Lane and Charles O'Donnell close the bill, in "Looping the Bumps."

One of the biggest and best arrays of acts that Sullivan and Considine have ever offered at the Los Angeles Theater since the house has been under their direction, is the new bill which opened at this popular priced theater yesterday afternoon. This is the first of the road shows which Sullivan and Considine will send to this city and if the others are all like the present bill they will all be well worth seeing.

A programme like the one presented yesterday is seen in popular priced vaudeville only once in a long while. It is rather difficult to pick the headliner. Manuel Romain and his company perhaps rank first, for yesterday they literally stopped the show and the audience was persistent in the refusal to let Romain and his players leave the stage. While Mr. Romain, well known for his truly wonderful voice, and his many years in minstrelsy, is in himself a feature, he has surrounded himself with two very clever people and the whole makes an act the standard of which is seldom reached on any vaudeville stage at any price. Mr. Romain is a most humorous "jag" and while his offering is distinctly musical he has written some dialogue that is extremely funny. He renders several songs in his excellent manner and introduces a harpist, Roxy La Roco, who with his solo work receives as much applause as Mr. Romain himself. Miss Palmer, the other member of Romain's company, does a very good speciality and while possessing a fine voice, has an exceptionally pretty pleasing stage appearance.

Another unusual feature is the big Saad DahDuh troupe of Arabian Tumblers in their wirlwind phantasy of the desert. Characteristic of these acrobats is the rapid manner in which they work and their pyramid building is fast and well executed, demonstrating remarkable skill. They have a whirlwind finish, shouting in their native tongue and one of their number turns flip-flaps at a mile-a-minute pace. One of the best "banjo playing" acts that has appeared on a local stage in many weeks is the offering of Stuart Kollins and his two banjo girls. As a rule these acts usually run to picking noise out of the instrument rather than to produce real music, but Mr. Kollins and his girls get real melody out of the banjo, and the great amount of applause given them yesterday was well merited.

Another splendid musical act is that of the Venetian Street Singers, who never fail to be thoroughly delightful and entertaining, while they are equally amusing with their eccentric mannerisms. Harry Crosby and Anna Lee have an enjoyable rural comedy sketch which takes one back to the little village where the postoffice is in the home of the postmaster. The Zerell Brothers are two finely developed athletes who do many difficult feats and show remarkable strength.

The star attraction at Pantages Theater this week is John L. Sullivan, ex-champion pugilist of the world. It is good to look at old John L., despite the fact that there is at least a third more of him now than in the old days when he swept the country and laid low aspiring pugs in four rounds. One does not associate defeat with this old gladiator. His laurels have clung to him. He is still the cocky old boy with a right arm like a steam hammer. And when one sees him here, gray and kettle-bellied and sterterous, one is brought in touch with some of the most glorious history of the fight game. John L. stands today for an era that probably will never come again, and it is worth while to see him—the greatest living exponent of yesterday's fistic glory.

But John L. does not merely come forth to be gazed upon. His talents are not limited to that obsolescent business of self-defense. When it comes to passing out Hibernian jokes, he has some of our professional monologists strapped up and muzzled. And poetry! John L. recites touching poetry while the orchestra weeps softly over the andante-contremolo tones of Lange's "Flower Song." Then, when the tears are brushed away, the ex-champion and that other famous old pug, Jake Kilrain, go three friendly rounds.

The rest of the performance is poor. Mason, Wilbur and Jordan do fairly interesting work in an unoriginal slapstick pantomime, but they lack the ginger to raise the act out of the general run of such oddities.

The "Florence Trio" serenade us Shubertly, and play vocal toreodoros with Rigoletto as the bull. A tendency on the part of the soprano to flat the notes in her upper register is not always conducive to the most harmonious results.

Mr. Jack Golden is comparatively safe from any infringement of copyright on his one-act skit entitled "The Quarrel," in which he and Mrs. Jack Golden take part, although yesterday afternoon he relieved the audience of many a health-giving guffaw. Elmore and Raymond add a quota of indifferent fun and recitative songs, and a moving picture laid in ancient Rome completes the bill.

The singing section of the Levy Cafe Chantant is far above the average this week, and the variety as complete as the Levy menu. The newcomers are an interesting man and woman singer from sunny Italy, opening with "La donna e mobile," most artistically rendered by Signor Farrari, "Cupid and I" is equally well done by Mme. Farrari, both uniting in a splendid duet, "Rose Marie." Both singers are strong additions to the Levy roster. The artistic dancing of Mlle. Beatrice and M. Franco give variety to the bill. The efforts of Mlle. Beatrice are well worth seeing; her toe dancing is that of the finished Parisian artist, while the eccentric work of M. Franco and the combined acrobatic waltz are entirely different from the usual dancing act seen at the theaters.

Lillie Lillian still continues as the headliner. This week she gives a beautiful rendition of Thomas's grand aria from "Mignon," "Dost Thou Know that Sweet Land." Another Lillian offering is a special arrangement of the Barcarolle "From the Love Tales of Hoffman."

Sinorina Clementina also upholds the dignity of the Italian composers, opening with Mascagni's Intermezzo from "Cavalleria Rusticana," Puccini's seductive "La Boheme" waltz, and a most artistic bit of Italian composition, "O Sole Mio."

Virginia Ware is still the guardian of home products; the American composer. Her "Phoebe Jane" is a most delicious bit of comedy. "Good Night, Dear," a sterling popular air, and "If I Had a Thousand Lives to Live," a big number rendered in a delightful manner.

Kammermeyer and his orchestra continue as one of the Levy features.

VICTIM OF GAS.

Chauffeur Killed Near Wilmington Had No Bruises on His Body and Probably Suffocated.

SAN PEDRO, Oct. 24.—The identity of the chauffeur, who was killed in an automobile accident about 1 o'clock this morning on the Redondo Beach road, northwest of Wilmington, was today established as Henry W. Schober. He was about 20 years old and a resident of San Gabriel.

Schober was returning from Redondo Beach with five passengers, namely, Dick Wilson of Bakersfield, in charge of the machine; W. Wilson and C. Kohen of Pasadena, and Mrs. L. G. Jeffries and her sister, Mrs. Lou Wright, of San Pedro. The passengers were uninjured. The night was foggy and Schober drove the car off of a culvert. The machine was overturned and the chauffeur was caught under it. When extricated there were no heavy marks on his body and it is believed he was asphyxiated by gases from the car.

The car was a five-passenger Buick, owned by Henry Spilker of Bakersfield, by whom Dick Wilson, one of the party, claims to be employed. Schober's body was brought here and an inquest will be held tomorrow.

G. F. Cooper, a first-class fireman on board the torpedo boat destroyer Truxtun, was severely injured this morning while at work in the hold, loading coal from the collier Justin in the outer harbor. A heavy iron bucket fell through a hatch and struck Cooper on the head. He was taken to the Marine Hospital in Los Angeles, suffering from concussion of the brain.

WORK OF HEROES.

WIND-DRIVEN BRUSH FIRE IMPERILS ALL CLAREMONT.

Five Hundred Men Successfully Battle With Flames Which Sweep Over Three Thousand Acres and Menace Claremont and Orange Groves Near Ontario—A Second Fire Starts and, Joining First, Burns Over the Flats.

CREEPING down upon the little town of Claremont with a speed that, under the lash of a strong wind, was like that of a race horse, one of the most dangerous brush fires in the history of the county was yesterday checked and turned aside on the outskirts of the village, and property loss mounting into many thousands of dollars averted almost by a miracle.

Back and again back by the fierce onrush of a two-mile wall of flame, 300 men, armed with wet blankets, shovels, anything and everything that could be utilized to fight fire, made a desperate and dequisition stand on the north bank of the San Antonio River, a short distance west of Claremont.

For a few minutes grace permitted the firemost of the leaping flames should reach them, they started fires in a hundred places along the river and brush-grown riverbed. Then the smaller fires were themselves almost uncontrollable by reason of the tinder-like undergrowth on which they fed, the desperate toil of the fighters sufficed to keep the flames within the lines of the banks. Then the main body of the flames passed them, an area had been burned over enough to turn the fire aside from the town, in which lay the entire village of Claremont.

Late reports, received late last night, say the fire was still raging in a fierce fashion and, though no more property is immediately endangered, a valuable man has been rushed from the nearby towns to assist in the fight.

As it is difficult, even for those who have come, to locate exactly the course of the fire, it appears to have started at the mouth of San Antonio canyon, between Claremont and Upland, at noon. The lower part of the canyon is choked with a dense undergrowth of sage-brush, greasewood and chaparral, dry as paper from months of exposure to the sun.

SECOND FIRE STARTS.

The fire was discovered almost immediately, but its spread was of such rapidity that the efforts of a fire company sent out from a nearby station were powerless to stop it. Almost simultaneously another started in the brush-covered mesa to the canon and nearly two miles to the origin of the first. The cause of this is known, though the circumstance suggests that they were the work of incendiary origin. It is known, neither spot was visited by campers within several days, so that the usual explanation of a neglected camp-fire does not appear to be adequate.

Fanned to fury by the wind the flames quickly escaped from the canon and raced across the flats in a southerly and southwesterly direction. Within half an hour the two fires had come together and were deflected in an almost direct line to the south. The difficulty of fighting them was enormously increased by the rough character of the ground, deeply cut into valleys and arroyos, and the efforts at backfiring on the flats were ineffective, even to retard the progress of the roaring blaze.

As quickly as it became apparent that Claremont was in danger, telephones and messengers were called into requisition and every able-bodied man within reach was sent out to the fire line. On horseback, in wagons, in automobiles and afoot, they hastened to the scene from Claremont and Upland. Within thirty minutes there were more than 300 men hurrying to meet the flames.

FLAMES ARE HALTED.

Repeatedly driven back by the intense heat in the direct line of the fire, the force was concentrated at the riverbed, where, within a few minutes, several acres were burned over in the path of the coming blaze. Partly by this and partly because of the less dense character of the brushwood at that point, the march of the flames was halted on the northern bank and turned completely aside before it had reached half-way across the bed.

Judging from the progress which it had previously made there can be little doubt, had it been permitted to reach the south bank, that nothing could have checked it before Claremont itself was attacked.

At a late hour last night the total area burned over was estimated at about 30000 acres, nothing of value having as yet been destroyed. With the increase of the fighting force by new recruits from every available source, it is thought that to check it completely will be only a question of a few hours.

The blaze crept perilously near the fine orange groves on the western edge of Ontario until it reached a point below Tenth street. A large force of men was fighting it late last night but their progress was slow on account of a stiff "Norther." Several times the fire came alarmingly close to rows of Eucalyptus trees, and danger to orange trees was near.

So far the only accident reported was that to an automobile owned by C. R. May, who had filled it with hastily drafted fire-fighters from Claremont and was rushing them to the fire line. The machine chose an inopportune moment in the direct path of the fire to break down, and the frantic efforts of its passengers to drag it out of the danger zone was one of the few amusing incidents that enlivened the long and desperate fight.

OUTCLASSED.

ANGELS LOSE FINAL BATTLE.

VERNON SHUTS THEM OUT WITH RALEIGH'S HEAVING.

THORSEN PROVES A VERY EASY MARK ALL THE WAY.

SMALL CROWD OF FANS WITNESS SOME FINE FIELDING.

Vernon, 4; Los Angeles, 0.

The first thing that the Angels should do is to take a lot of their pitchers to the round-house for repairs and the next thing necessary is to leave them there until they are soldered, riveted and twisted into shape, for they cannot play ball now.

The Vernons bent another one yesterday when they shut out Thorsen and the Angels in the seventh straight game of the final series of the two local teams and the beating probably established a record, for no one every heard of any team defeating any other one seven games in a row.

The one yesterday was a desperate struggle that Bull Thorsen had with himself to prevent the Vernons from hitting the ball all over the lot in every inning and he won this contest easily for he pitched two innings in which Hogan's men did not get to first base. In the other innings they were trying to knock the fences down with the ball and as they almost succeeded on a number of occasions the Vernons had no trouble in winning.

Raleigh was about as good as he could be and although he got into several holes he always pitched himself out without much effort for the Angels did not seem to be able to hit a balloon. Hallinan got as far as third base in the second inning on a fielder's choice, a steal and a sacrifice and Daley was run down between the plate and third in the fifth inning, these being the only two Angels to reach third.

THREE WINNERS.

What the other fellows did to Thorsen was a plenty and Carlisle, Burrell and Hosp seem to have it in for him. Carlisle hit two doubles and a single in three times at bat; Burrell got two singles and two sacrifices and Hosp a double and a single. Three won the game and the others might as well have been in bed.

You cannot get many of the fans away from the washtub on a Monday and consequently there was a very small crowd out to see the game, but those that were there saw some very pretty fielding. Hughey Smith at first made some fine pick-ups and Carlisle and Hosp made several fine running catches. Hallinan's assist to first of Brown's grounder in the fifth was a pippin but the best thing of the day was Fisher's fine assist to third base of Bernard's bunt toward first base in the fifth inning. With Thorsen on first and Daley on second Bernard bunted and Fisher dashed almost to the plate to get the ball and shot it to third in time to beat Thorsen. It was a regular Hal Chase play.

Thorsen opened the sixth by passing Carlisle, who advanced to second on Burrell's sacrifice. He stole third and easily scored on Hosp's double to left. Hosp moved up on Brashear's out at first and registered when Coy tripled to right field.

Two more runs arrived in the eighth on a double by Carlisle and singles by Burrell and Hosp.

GREGG'S HOMER.

MOHLER PROTESTS.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 24.—When Vean Gregg's long drive to right field in the ninth inning bounced through a six inch hole in the fence and gave the big pitcher a home run with a man ahead of him on the bases, the first game of the two played today went to Portland 4 to 2.

The second game lingered along with the tally 2 to 1 in favor of San Francisco until the ninth inning, when the northerners tied the score. The next inning held the score at evens, but in the eleventh the leaders in the pennant race got four clean hits off the delivery of Miller and three runs were added.

The second game of the day went to McCredie's men 5 to 2. Capt. Mohler filed a protest against the umpire's ruling in allowing Gregg a home run in the first game.

HIGHWAY ROBBERY.

ATTELL PICKS MUSHY LEMON.

HAS VERY EASY TIME FOR TEN ROUNDS WITH KILBANE.

Ripe One From Cleveland Jumps Away From Clever Hebrew and is on the Run From Start to Finish. Peppers Posts a Big Forfeit for Match With the Little Champion.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 24.—Abe Attell won a decision over John Kilbane, of Cleveland, Ohio, after ten rounds of fighting here tonight. Attell's title was never in danger from start to finish.

"He certainly is a jumping-jack" commented Attell after the fight. And that remark tells the story of the battle about as well as it can be told.

Kilbane, except in the eighth round, was on the retreat. Attell followed him about the ring, hoping to get near enough to land. But the champion usually had to get the Clevelander in a corner before he could put in telling punches.

Attell directed the majority of his blows for the wind, but he drove home enough choppy lefts and rights to Kilbane's head to mark the Cleveland fighter.

There was no blood drawn by either. At the beginning of the ninth round, Attell dropped his arms and asked Kilbane to come in, but Kilbane was wary and stayed away.

Ted Peppers and Attell posted $500 forfeit at the ringside for a fight for the title.

LATONIA AUTUMN INAUGURAL.

Cherryola Wins Opening Feature. Milton B. Falls, But Jockey is Uninjured.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

LATONIA, Oct. 24.—Cherryola won the Latonia Autumn Inaugural, a mile and a sixteenth race, today, by a half length in a driving finish from Countless, with Tom Hayward a close third. More than 5000 spectators saw the contest.

The opening day was marred by an accident, Milton B. falling while in second place in the big race. Jockey Austin struck heavily but was uninjured. Summary:

Five and one-half furlongs; Hesitate won, Pianutess second, War Jig third; time, 1:07 2-5.

Six furlongs: Sydney R. won, McIver second, Star Charter third; time, 1:13 2-5.

Mile and seventy yards, selling: Camel won, Queen Marguerite second, Carlton G. third; time, 1:44 3-4.

Latonia Autumn Inaugural, mile and a sixteenth: Cherryola won, Countless second, Tom Hayward third; time, 1:46.

Six furlongs: Melisande won, Prince Gal second, Ella Bryson third; time, 1:11 4-5. Equals track record.

Mile and an eighth: Royal Report won, Charles F. Granger second, Azo third; time, 1:53.

PIMLICO RESULTS.

BALTIMORE STEEPLECHASE.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

BALTIMORE, Oct. 24.—The greater Baltimore steeplechase at Pimlico, today, was simply an outing for Selectus who took the measure of Jimmy Lane and Thistledale. The second race of the day, at a mile and seventy yards, for three year olds and up, went to Hilltop in a pretty finish.

Six furlongs: Chilton Queen won, Charlie Hargrave second, Toniata third; time, 1:12.

Six furlongs: High Flown won, Indora second, Mollie S. third; time, 1:14 2-5.

Mile and seventy yards: Hilltop won, Our Hannah second; Malitine third; time, 1:45 1-5.

Greater Baltimore steeplechase, two miles: Selectus won, Thistledale second, Jummy Lane third; time, 4:01 2-5.

Mile: Sandhill won, Sweetface second, French Girl third; time 1:42 1-5.

New Howard purse, mile and an eighth: Bennie Kelso won, Everett second, Reybourn third; time 1:52 2-5.

RIFLE TOURNAMENT.

SAN JOSE, Oct. 24.—Rifle shots from all over California will gather here next Sunday i the annual State rifle shoot under the auspices of the San Jose Rifle club, $2000 in cash and merchandise prizes being awarded the winners. The biggest attendance ever held here in a State shoot is promised by the entries.

It Is Not Yet Decided.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 24. — The committee of business men and members of the San Francisco Aero Club to which was referred the question of arranging a date for the proposed international aero meet in this city, met today, but reached no conclusion. A suggestion that a date in December would injure the holiday trade, was considered and finally it was decided to submit the question to a postal-card vote of the members of the Merchants' Association and others interested. When the date is fixed, arrangements will go forward rapidly for the meet.

SOME FLYING.

DREXEL SETS NEW RECORD.

GOES OVER SEVEN THOUSAND FEET IN THE AIR.

BROOKINS' ENGINE STOPS AND HE GLIDES DOWNWARD.

TEN MACHINES IN THE AIR AT BELMONT PARK.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 24.—The third day of the international aviation meeting at Belmont Park made up for all the damp, cold and disappointment of the first two days.

A new American record for altitude was set down to the credit of J. Armstrong Drexel, and the competition in other events was at all times full of zest.

Drexel soared for altitude in his record flight at 3:40 p. m., five minutes before the second hourly altitude contest closed. In great circles he crept into the wind, pointing higher and higher into the glare of the setting sun to a height of 7105 feet. He planed above the crowd like a hawk searching the moors, so high that he seemed almost immobile against the blue.

His descent was swift and he landed safely in the middle of the field. There was an immediate surmise that he had approached, if he had not established, a new record, but no figures were available until his barograph had been unsealed and the reading of the stylograph on the sheet inside it examined.

The instrument shows both the height and the time at which the flight was made. The reading was remarkably sharp and showed clearly he had risen 7105 feet. The best previous American record was 6175 feet, made by Walter Brookins at Atlantic City, and Drexel's own best record made last summer in Great Britain was 6750 feet, at the time a world's record.

The world's altitude record now is 9186 feet, held by Henry Wynmalen, a Hollander.

UNORTHODOX FEAT.

There was some confusion as to just what honors Drexel was entitled to for his splendid performance today. He had risen five minutes before the second hour for altitude flights closed and he was not entered in the grand altitude event. According to the rules, "the measurement of altitudes will cease to be made at the end of the hour." Drexel did not reach his full height until long after the hour had closed.

Walter Brookins also went up for altitude in a "Baby" Wright biplane—a machine precisely like the new headless fliers that the Wrights brought out this summer, but with a sharper upward slant to the planes, thereby enabling the aviator to point up more sharply and climb faster.

Brookins went up 1882 feet, according to the barograph, and won second altitude honors for the day. At the apex of his climb, his engine, which had given him some trouble before, stopped dead, with both propellers pointing straight up into the air, so that in gliding to earth with no power on they afforded him the least assistance in breaking the rush of his descent. He came down whizzing about a mile and a half off the course, and struck with a bump that broke his forward landing skid. The damage was small, however, and he was not hurt in the least.

Next to the performance of Drexel, the crowd took most enjoyment in the appearance of models never seen in America before. They were the new Wright climber, used by Brookins in his altitude flight today; tiny Demoiselle, called the Hummingbird of aeroplanes (but it looks more like a butterfly;) and a flying fish Antoinette.

TEN MACHINES UP.

In all there were ten machines aloft at once.

Latham piloted the Antoinette. He sat well back in the sharp stem, shaped like the stem of a speed launch, with which it cuts the air, and the two wheels with which he controlled the long slender wings could be seen incessantly turning backward and forward under his hands. The craft was fast and took the turns with a precision and daring that the Bleriot monoplanes, more batlike and blunter, could not attain.

In the straightaways, however, Latham was not so fast. F. W. Radley, an Englishman, in a trimmed-down Bleriot, went by him as if he had been chained to a stump. But Radley had frequent engine trouble and never figured seriously in any of the contests of the day.

Latham was flying a 50-horse-power, 8-cylinder machine. His 16-cylinder, 100-horse-power machine in which he will compete for the Gordon Bennett cup, will not arrive until tomorrow. This powerful racer is supposed to be capable of seventy miles an hour against the seventy-six credited to the 100-horse-power Bleriot of La Blanc.

Thus far neither of the 100-horse-power machines owned by the French team has been seen in action.

What the new Curtiss and Wright racing models can do is a conjecture. They have been kept close under cover, but thus far none of the American machines have shown themselves in the same class with the foreign monoplanes.

There was one time this afternoon when Latham, in an Antoinette, passed a Wright machine at the turn and Radley followed and passed the Antoinette in the stretch.

KETCHEL'S EARNINGS.

GRAND RAPIDS (Mich.) Oct. 24.—In probate court today Mrs. Julia Ketchel, mother of Stanley Ketchel, the champion middleweight pugilist, who was killed in Missouri filed application for the appointment of James A. Lombard of this city as special administrator of her son's estate. According to the petition, the estate is valued at $18,000 of which $3000 is in real estate and $10,000 in personal property. Ketchel is said to have earned about $100,000 in the ring.

McCAREY LOSES BOUT.

NEW YORK, Oct. 24.—Announcement was made tonight that Abe Attell, the title holder, and Frankie Conley will meet in a twenty-round bout at the West Side Athletic Club on Sunday, November 13, for the world's feather-weight championship.

Plan Barnstorming Trip.

CHICAGO, Oct. 24.—At the close of the world's championship baseball series yesterday, Thomas Needham, third catcher for the Cubs, announced he had organized a "barnstorming" team. Manager Chance, of the Cubs, gave the players permission to fill any dates that might have been booked, and Needham already has wired in quest of games Twelve Cubs will compose the team to be captained by Needham.

McCredie Backing Up.

Since they have been given a protested game against the San Francisco team the Portland people are not so wrathy now as formerly, and in honor of the feeling Judge McCredie has announced that he will not carry the Hetling protest to the National Commission unless it becomes necessary to do so in order to win the pennant from Oakland. This would lead one to believe that the Judge is not so sure that he was right in the Hetling case and does not propose to be called if he can find a chance to throw his hand into the discard.

Vernon Team Departs.

The Vernon team left for the north last night and is to play this week with the Oakland team. It is not likely that the Vernons will win the series unless they find the Oakland pitchers on the sick list as they were in Sacramento last week. Even if Hap should win the series he will not be far enough up the line to hope to beat the Oaks out of second place, inasmuch as Vernon is to finish the season here against the strong Portland club, with its pitchers in the best of shape now.

CARRIED ON CHIPS.

QUAKER TOWN MUCH EXCITED.

GREAT CROWD OF FANS WELCOME NEW CHAMPIONS.

Three Hundred Policemen Called Out to Prevent Blockade at Depot on Arrival of Train—Players Feasted at Big Banquet and Attend Theater in the Evening.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 24.—The world's champions reached home from their victorious trip to Chicago, this evening, and were given a rousing reception by the fans, headed by Mayor Reyburn.

Although extra precaution had been taken to prevent the crowd entering the Pennsylvania station, the rooters outgeneraled the railroad officials. Huge gates had been erected at the entrances to Broad street station, and no one was allowed to reach the train floor who did not have a railroad ticket.

Not to be outdone by this piece of strategy, hundreds lined up at the ticket windows and purchased tickets to nearby stations, thereby crowding the big station to overflowing.

A hurry call was sent to police stations, and 300 policemen were soon on the scene and kept the crowd back from the entrances.

When the train pulled into the station the players almost had to fight their way to the street where twenty automobiles and the First Regiment band were waiting.

Headed by Mayor Reyburn, the players were escorted to a hotel.

The players were entertained at a dinner which lasted until 8 o'clock, when the victors were taken to a local theater. Here they attracted much more attention than did the actors.

CUBS WORK HARD.

FIGURES ON HEAVING.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

CHICAGO, Oct. 24.—In the final defeat of Chicago for the world's baseball championship, Coombs, the Philadelphia pitcher, who already had won two games, threw only 120 balls to the plate, while Brown, the Cub twirler, in his effort to stop the men who finally became champions, hurled 142.

As compared with the former games, Coombs' twirling was about equal. On Monday, at Philadelphia, Bender threw 120 balls to the plate. On Tuesday, Coombs threw 151, the game in which he gave nine bases on balls. On Thursday he threw 120, and on Saturday Bender heaved 110.

Chicago pitchers in the opening game in the east threw 101 balls to the batters; on Tuesday, 149; and on Saturday 135, as against 142 yesterday.

During the series the Chicago pitchers threw 659 balls to the plate, as compared with 621 by the Athletics.

WELCOME AT ONTARIO.

ONTARIO, Oct. 24.—A welcome is being planned by the local Republicans for Hiram Johnson, the gubernatorial candidate, who will be in Ontario on Wednesday evening. The business men have arranged for a banquet at Hotel Royal at 6 o'clock p. m. after which Johnson will speak at a large open air meeting. Music is to be furnished by the cornet band of this city.

At a meeting of all the ministers of the churches this morning at the city hall, preliminary steps toward forming a new Ministerial Union were taken. Such an organization was last winter a successful means of aiding the pastors of the various denominations of the city in harmoniously bringing about several good movements in public life here.

There are a number of new pastors in Ontario this year, due to changes, brought about by the dictates of conferences. An election of officers will be held at a meeting arranged for a later date.

At this first meeting it was decided to hold a union Thanksgiving meeting. Steps were taken to draw of the best musical talent from all choirs for a large special choir to furnish attractive music.

FULLERTON SHIPMENTS.

FULLERTON, Oct. 24.—The records of the Santa Fe station show that in the past two weeks there were shipped from here sixty-eight cars of local products, as follows: California Vegetable Union, ten cars tomatoes; J. B. Inderreiden Company, fifteen cars walnuts; Pacific Vegetable Company, nine cars tomatoes; C. C. Chapman Company, seven cars oranges, two cars cassabas, one car walnuts; Golden Belt Fruit Company, six cars walnuts; Benchley Fruit Company, three cars oranges; M. M. Cobb, three cars tomatoes; Stern & Goodman, one car beans; Globe Milling Company, one car corn.

Members of the First Methodist church will give a reception to their new pastor, Rev. George R. Graff, Tuesday evening.

VENICE.

VENICE, Oct. 24.—It has been established beyond question that the dog which last week bit Raymond Corona was afflicted with rabies. After attacking the boy the animal died in agony. The brain was removed and sent to Los Angeles for critical examination. This disclosed the presence of rabies. Dr. von Wedelstaedt, who has charge of the boy who was bitten, is giving his patient the Pasteur treatment and believes the victim will not be seriously afflicted.

The steamship Taormina, from Genoa and Naples, which has been detained at quarantine, New York, since Saturday because of the death of a woman from cholera at sea, was released yesterday and proceeded to Philadelphia. The steamship Innisbrook also was released.

PASADENA.

ARRANGES FOR ROSE DINNER.

BOARD OF TRADE WILL AID IN BOOSTING FETE.

It is Also Urged to Get Behind the Proposed Bond Election and Help to Make It Successful—Democrats Form Club and Will Suitably Entertain Bell.

Office of The Times, 36 S. Raymond Ave.

PASADENA, Oct. 24.—The Board of Trade will give a "Rose Tournament" luncheon at the Hotel Maryland, Friday noon. This was finally decided on at a meeting of the directors of the Board and the committee recently appointed by Mayor Earley to devise ways and means to increase the membership, and add to the exchequer of the association. There was some opposition to having the Board of Trade head the promotion enterprise of the Mayor and his committee, but the motion of Dr. F. C. E. Mattison, seconded by E. H. Groenendyke, that the board do all possible to make the 1911 event the best in the history of the city prevailed. W. W. Ogier, J. H. Edmunson and Andrew S. Allen were appointed a committee to arrange for the luncheon.

The meeting will be for the especial purpose of making the next tournament a success. "Our promotion committee is not appointed to assist the Tournament Association," said W. W. Ogier, during one of his speeches, "but it is to boost the Pasadena Tournament of Roses, a Pasadena event for the benefit of the whole city."

The directors also named a committee to purchase the new furniture for the Board of Trade rooms, to cost $600. President Geobegan also suggested that the directors think out some sc

It is Also Urged to Get Behind the Proposed Bond Election and Help to Make It Successful—Democrats Form Club and Will Suitably Entertain Bell.

(Office of The Times, 24 S. Raymond Ave.)

PASADENA, Oct. 25.—The Board of Trade will give a "Rose Tournament" luncheon at the Hotel Maryland, Friday next. This was finally decided on at a meeting of the directors of the board and the committee recently appointed by Mayor Earley to devise ways and means to increase the membership, and add to the exchequer of the association. There was some opposition to having the Board of Trade and the promotion enterprise of the Mayor and his committee, but the motion of Dr. F. C. E. Mattison, seconded by E. H. Groenendyke, that the board do all possible to make the 1911 event the best in the history of the city prevailed. W. W. Ogier, J. M. Edmunson and Andrew S. Allen were appointed a committee to arrange for the luncheon. The meeting will be for the especial purpose of making the next tournament a success. "Our promotion committee is not appointed to assist the Tournament Association," said W. W. Ogier, during one of his speeches, "but to try to boost the Pasadena Tournament of Roses, a Pasadena event for the benefit of the whole city."

The directors also named a committee to purchase the new furniture for the Board of Trade rooms, to cost $500. President Geohegan also suggested that the directors think out some scheme for getting behind the proposed bond election for the purpose of buying Carmelita Gardens, Monk Hill and to build a casino.

Word has been received that Engineer Isenberg of the County Surveyor's office has prepared a set of plans for the proposed Arroyo Seco bridge to cost $150,000. It is said that he has gone carefully over the plans and details as submitted by Williams & Nishkian and that he estimates their bridge would cost $250,000. The makers of the plans said the price will not exceed $150,000. Mayor Earley stated yesterday that he had received no official notice from the County Engineer regarding the matter, but expects to within a few days.

DEMOCRATS FORM CLUB.

A meeting of Democrats was held in the Board of Trade rooms last night and the 100 or more present felt so enthused that a permanent organization was effected with Dr. Z. T. Malaby as chairman and R. T. Blow, secretary. A collection was taken up to defray the expenses of the active campaign which the club expects to carry on. Arrangements were made for entertaining Theodore Bell, candidate for Governor, who will speak in Liberty Hall at noon, Thursday. B. F. Polsley, a brother of Mrs. Grover Cleveland, who has just returned from Nebraska, said Bryan is a dead one and that Dahlman, the cowboy candidate, is a sure winner for the Governorship of that State.

At a meeting of the Fire, Police and Park Commissioners yesterday afternoon a resolution was adopted instructing the superintendent of the Municipal Lighting Plant to at once install two 600 candle-power arc lights in Carmelita Gardens in order to light up the playgrounds for night work. Basketball and football games will be held in the gardens during the winter.

The Inter-municipal Community Committee consisting of three members each from Pasadena, South Pasadena and Alhambra, will hold its first meeting tomorrow night at the Board of Trade rooms in Alhambra. The citizens have been invited to be present and assist the committee toward intermunicipal water and sewerage to be treated on the community basis. City and county consolidation will be one of the principal subjects discussed. It is understood Alhambra and South Pasadena favor consolidation under the borough form of government.

VISITOR ENTERTAINED.

A dinner party was given at the Hotel Maryland last night in honor of Robert Wood of Colorado Springs, though a resident of that city, is still chairman of the board of directors of the Intermediate Trust Company of New York. Mr. Wood is one of the prominent bankers of the country and had a prominent position during the recent convention of the American Bankers' Association in Los Angeles. For many years he was president of the New York Bank when he had the distinction of being the youngest bank president in the United States. He has another unique credit in that for twenty-two years he wrote a letter to his mother every day. During the past two weeks he has broken that habit because he has been visiting his mother, who lives in Los Angeles.

Albert Megus, one of Pasadena's oldest men, died last night at his home, 1151 North Fair Oaks avenue. He had been a resident forty years. The funeral will be held at the Friends church tomorrow morning and the interment will be conducted by Rev. Dr. Edwin Pierce, assisted by Rev. John Nicholson. Four children are C. E. Megus of Los Angeles; Mrs. H. D. McDonald of Pasadena, and Mrs. A. D. Royal and Mrs. Walter James of Pasadena.

A delightful affair of last night was the entertainment given by commander Fred Brown at their home on Fair Oaks avenue, where they entertained the New York Avenue Card Club.

Mrs. J. J. Cowgill of the Hotel Vista del Arroyo entertained the Monday Bridge Club at her apartments yesterday afternoon. The programme was in charge of Mrs. Blakeslee.

Miss Helen FitzGerald of No. 244 South Los Robles avenue, entertained with a tea party yesterday at which time she announced the engagement of her daughter Helen FitzGerald, to Robert Bonner, assistant secretary of the Board of Trade and Weather Observer of this city.

SOUTH PASADENA.

PASADENA, Oct. 24.—The fact of a motorcycle officer attracting attentions since a motorcycle policeman received an offender in it as the latest fire-trap, he stated. He would not at any time put a prisoner in jail unless he stayed there all night, for if a fire should consume the wooden structure the prisoner would surely perish. The cages are also uninviting.

Taxes are due November 15 and delinquent the first Monday in January. W. H. Lowry, the plumbing inspector, is the new tax collector, and his office adjoins that of the City Clerk, on the south.

The Epworth League officers of the Methodist church are Hermon Bell, president; Marcus L. Goodfrey, first vice-president; Miss Mabel Houghton, second vice-president; Miss Mae De Baun, third vice-president; Mrs. G. B. Sanford, social department; Miss Minnie Raab, literary department; Miss Marjorie Gillies, secretary; Miss Alta Bailey, treasurer; Miss Margaret Reynolds, pianist; and Edwin Cooper, chorister.

HURRY WORK ON PIER.

Promoters of Ocean Park Project Keep Gang Going Sundays—Moving Picture Privileges.

OCEAN PARK, Oct. 24.—More than fifty men are now at work on the construction of the new Marine-street pleasure pier, which is to be completed and ready for dedication June 1. So anxious are the promoters of the project to have it completed on the date scheduled for formal opening, all of the construction gangs are working Sundays and putting in long days. The pier is to be 1000 feet long, will extend from Marine street to Pier avenue and will require more than 600 concrete piles in its construction. There will be a floor space of 280,000 square feet.

Messrs. Clune, Wheelock and Boland today obtained the contract for the vaudeville and moving-picture privileges of the pier. To accommodate their plans, a $10,000 playhouse will be built on the pier just as soon as the pile foundation for it can be completed. This theater will have a seating capacity of 1000.

While assisting this afternoon in receiving wooden piles as they were being floated from the sea, Samuel Bowers had his leg severely crushed. Several bones were broken and the flesh painfully ground when the heavy log rolled over his leg. The accident happened in the surf near the foot of Ashland avenue. A raft of 150 logs had just arrived to be used in the construction of the new pier and Bowers was at work in the surf when an unusually heavy wave rolled one of the long timbers over his leg.

FREDERICKS WINS FRIENDS AT POMONA MEETING.

Applauded When He Makes Telling Points Against Woolwine and Others Who Attacked Him—Contest for District Attorney Injects Some Spirit into Dull Campaign.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

POMONA, Oct. 24.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] A good-sized audience gathered at Fraternal Aid Hall tonight to listen to Dist.-Atty. Fredericks reply to the charges made against him by Thomas Lee Woolwine, his opponent for office, here a week ago. Maj. W. W. Midgley was chairman, and, in introducing Mr. Fredericks, paid tribute to his past record and ability in office. The vice-presidents were City Attorney Joos, J. T. Brady, F. H. Hyatt, Ira A. Lee, W. A. Lewis, W. M. Ovis, J. L. Means, Frank Wheeler of Claremont; J. L. Matthews, J. J. Morgan and others from Covina.

Mr. Fredericks got down at once to the meat of his proposition. He refuted the charges in the attacks made upon him recently here by Woolwine and in Los Angeles by E. T. Earl of the Express. Mr. Fredericks was frequently applauded. He spoke of the incompetency of his opponent to fill the office to which he aspired, and scored his misrepresentations and the dishonesty of his charges.

Fredericks has many friends here and he made more at the meeting tonight. This fight over the District Attorneyship is responsible for the only spirit yet injected into the campaign here this season, there having been a noticeable apathy here in common with the rest of the county, all the year.

GAS WELL BECOMES GUSHER.

Causes Great Excitement Near Sawtelle Till It is Found to Be Throwing Water.

SAWTELLE, Oct. 24.—There was great excitement in the oil fields on the Wolfskill ranch, just east of here, this morning when it was reported that the big gas well had suddenly developed into an oil gusher. Investigation developed the fact that the well was a gusher, without doubt, but unfortunately it was gushing water instead of the longed-for oil. The combination of water, gas and a modicum of oil is being shot high into the air, rising fully 200 feet above the top of the derrick. Those who had observed the operations of this freak well and are at all familiar with its history advance the theory that the well is certainly preparing to spout oil.

The history of this well forms an interesting chapter in the story of the efforts to develop the oil-bearing properties of the Wolfskill ranch. When this well was completed about two years ago it surprised the drillers by emitting a strong flow of gas. This could not at first be brought under control. As a last resort the hole was capped and the gas piped to a vent many yards distant. There was a strong pressure, and when the gas was lighted as it came from the end of the pipe the blaze shot high into the air, lighting the country by night for miles around. Finally the gas flow was controlled by means of pipes which led the flow to the other wells in the vicinity.

FINGERS MAY BE USELESS.

San Jacinto Baker Receives Wound in the Arm From Gun While Lighting a Cigar.

SAN JACINTO, Oct. 24.—Hugh Shaw of Edingfield & Shaw, bakers at San Jacinto and Hemet, accidentally shot himself in the left forearm with a shotgun Sunday while driving near Casa Loma Rancho. The twelve gauge shotgun was loaded with bird shot, which carried away a portion of a bone and tore the flesh between the wrist and elbow. Shaw was taken to the Pico home and later to his own home. It is believed that the hand will be saved, but there is fear that the use of some of the fingers will be lost.

The accident happened when Mr. Shaw attempted to light a cigar. It is thought that the sleeve of his coat caught in the trigger, discharging the weapon.

BOND ELECTION CARRIES.

HUNTINGTON PARK, Oct. 24.—The bond election here today resulted favorably for the proposition to buy sixteen acres adjoining the present High School site. The land was offered under market value and the voters realized this as 138 voted for and only sixteen against. The land is to be used for the teaching of agriculture.

SALT LAKE IS HOLDING FORT.

EAST SEVENTH STREET ELECTRIC LINE HELD UP.

Men Guard Tracks Day and Night at Disputed Crossing, Long Beach. Both Sides Give Views While Public Waits for Service—Mystery of Pistol Shots Explained.

LONG BEACH, Oct. 24.—The opening of the East Seventh street line of the Pacific Electric in this city is held up by the refusal of the Salt Lake Railroad to permit the electric road to cross its tracks on California street.

The Salt Lake contends that the Pacific Electric has no franchise over that right of way between the present terminus of the road and the city limits, the time for building the tracks having expired. It also asserts that the Pacific Electric did not give the customary ninety days notice that its tracks were to be crossed. The Pacific Electric contends that it still owns a county franchise and that it has complied with the law in giving notice.

The tracks are laid, the trolley wires up and only the lack of a crossing prevents the beginning of service. The Salt Lake has a force of men guarding the tracks night and day at the disputed point.

LARGER WATER SYSTEM.

The Alamitos Land and Water Company is preparing to enlarge its water system. The chief engineer of the company will be here tomorrow to take preliminary steps in the matter. It is the intention of the company to double the system and extend it throughout the city, in competition with the Long Beach Water Company. The reservoir capacity will be doubled and new mains laid.

SOMETHING MODERN.

Because of general adverse criticism regarding the feudal tower resigns of the projected Pacific Electric depot in this city the company has decided to reject the plan and has instructed its architect to prepare a building more on a business order and with not so many frills and corners.

MYSTERY EXPLAINED.

Residents on East Second street were aroused at 2 o'clock this morning by pistol shots and hurrying footsteps. It developed that while taking two drunks to the police station, one of them escaped and Officer McClellan fired two shots at the fellow, which only lent him speed. Later the prisoner was found hiding in the alley.

GOODS ON THEM.

Jane Davisson and Ellen Norris, at liberty on $300 cash bail on a charge of conducting a blind pig and a disorderly house, appeared before Judge Hart this morning and were given until Thursday to plead. Plain-clothes men who visited the house Saturday night were served with supper and purchased whisky and beer.

RIBS CAVED IN.

Martin Brown, an employee of a local lumber company, while watching his horse being shod this morning, was kicked in the right side and three ribs fractured.

Everett D. Herdman, a horseman and livery man, was stricken with apoplexy at his home last night and is said to be in a critical condition.

COMMITTEE MEETS.

The joint committee of fifteen to amend the city charter met tonight at the City Hall, and adjourned after effecting a temporary organization. Two of the committee, Walter Desmond and P. E. Hatch, have declined to serve for business reasons and successors will have to be appointed.

STARTING SCHOOL WORK.

Active work on the new polytechnic building will begin the latter part of the week, the school board and contractor signing the papers this evening. The City Engineer will run levels tomorrow and establish the grade of the ground and buildings.

LOSES DIAMOND RING.

Mrs. Eliza Shirk, of No. 1221 West Second street, reported to the police today the loss of a solitaire diamond ring in this city Saturday. It was in a small sack, and Mrs. Shirk thinks it was lost on the beach.

IOWAN IS DEAD.

Francis Newell, aged 74, who arrived here four days ago from Cander, Iowa, died this morning at his temporary residence on Pacific avenue. He leaves a wife. The body will be shipped to Iowa for burial.

PRACTICAL WORK.

Pomona Pupils Show Aptness in Use of Tools—Thief Steals Horse of Worshiper.

POMONA, Oct. 24.—The two divisions of the manual training departments of the local schools in the Fourth Ward and the North Garey avenue buildings, under the direction of Mrs. M. C. Alderman and Miss Margaret Dills, are making good progress this year. The rooms in both buildings are conveniently arranged for the sewing and cooking courses which are included in the home economics. The materials used in the sewing courses are supplied by the parents of the pupils, and the materials in the culinary courses by the local Board of Education.

THIEF TAKES HORSE.

A bay horse and open rubber-tired buggy belonging to Miss Nettie Fox, of Orange Grove avenue and Artesia street, was stolen last night from the hitching rail at the public library while Miss Fox was attending services at the Unitarian church.

NEW WORKER.

Merrit Ludden, son of C. A. Ludden of North Garey avenue, and a graduate of Pomona College, who has been in Y. M. C. A. work at Ridgewood, N. J., has come to Southern California with his wife and is now secretary of the Orange County Y. M. C. A. with headquarters at Anaheim. Bishop R. G. Waterhouse, of Virginia, one of the leaders in the Methodist Church South, visited Pomona yesterday and preached an interesting sermon at the local Methodist Church South, on East Holt avenue.

OBTAINS BERTH.

Dr. Alfred C. Reed, son of Dr. and Mrs. A. R. Reed, who was married to Miss Daisy Fredendall, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Fredendall, here in the summer, is now Inspector in Bellevue Medical College and is engaged in hospital work in Bellevue Hospital, New York.

ONE MAN TOO MANY.

Sheriff's Officer Finds at West Rialto Case of Where Three's Not Company.

SAN BERNARDINO, Oct. 24.—Deputy Sheriff G. F. Hewins was summoned to the G. P. Parmalee home at West Rialto this morning by report that Parmalee, an aged man, had gone violently insane. "I found Parmalee very sane," said Hewins, "also that his wife, who is comparatively a young woman, has filed an action for divorce and that the young fellow Brineaugh, who once had Parmalee arrested for disturbing the peace, was interested in the mix-up today. Parmalee has gone to the home of his daughter, Mrs. Weston, where he will be cared for."

Mrs. J. Knight of First and Mount Vernon avenue was probably fatally injured this morning when a saddle-horse, ridden by Mrs. Michael Krealing ran away and attempted to hurdle the carriage in which Mrs. Knight was riding. Mrs. Krealing was thrown completely over the carriage, falling heavily, but sustained slight bruises. The horse fell into the carriage upon Mrs. Knight, whose hip was broken. Mrs. Knight is 80 years old.

Marriage licenses were issued today for Edwin Ellison Whitehead, native of New York, age 38, and Hanna Teresa Lane, native of Ireland, age 34, residents of Boston; John F. Nolan, native of Canada, age 36, resident of Rialto, and Catherine A. Friesenham, native of Germany, age 28, resident of San Bernardino; John Tynan Salas, native of Georgia, age 22, and Lothe Irene Telker, native of Tennessee, age 21, residents of Los Angeles; William M. Roberts, native of California, age 52, and Fanny T. Jameson, native of Alabama, age 54, residents of Redlands.

OPENS DOOR, MEETS DEATH.

CHILD STEPS INTO ROOM THAT IS BEING FUMIGATED.

Nineteen Months' Old Baby, Adopted by Ranch Folks Near Santa, Goes Into Chamber Where Gas Used to Kill Scale Was Circulated.

ORANGE, Oct. 24.—Esther May Shadowen toddled to the front door stretched her little arms upward and for the first time in her life opened a door. She toppled into the room to her death. The door she had opened let her into a house that was being fumigated with deadly hydrocyanic gas.

Esther May, aged 19 months, was the adopted daughter of R. A. Shadowen and his wife. She was taken from the Childrens' Home Society in Los Angeles when but three weeks old, and was given a home on the Shadowen ranch. There she won the hearts of Mr. and Mrs. Shadowen, and they went into court and made her their child.

The house was being fumigated yesterday with the gas used to kill scales bugs on orange trees. The mixture of cyanide, sulphuric acid and water had filled the house when the little girl, having slipped away from her foster parents in the backyard, reached the front door. She was found in less than a minute by her father, but she barely moved in his arms. The fumes had paralyzed the lungs and heart and death was almost instantaneous.

Coroner Smith at Santa Ana was notified of the death today.

SOCIETY WOMEN SHAKEN UP.

Collision Occurs When Two Automobiles Round Sharp Curve Near San Diego.

SAN DIEGO, Oct. 24.—Nine prominent society women received a severe shaking-up and slight injuries when a six-cylinder Winton and a Duro car came together, head on, rounding a sharp curve on a narrow road near Fosters. Mrs. M. C. King, owner of the Durocar, received a cut on the head and her back was wrenched. Mrs. E. M. Copley, mother of Mrs. D. C. Collier, one of the occupants of the Winton, received a sprained wrist.

The Winton is owned by Miss Edyth Copley. In addition to her mother were her sister, Mrs. Rae Copley Raun, Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Burbeck and Miss Jessie Burbeck. With Mrs. King in the Duro were Mrs. H. B. Simington and Mrs. H. N. Clugston. All except Mrs. Copley and Mrs. King escaped injury. Both machines were badly damaged.

WOODFORD RESIGNS.

F. F. Woodford, who for seventeen years has been a city official, tendered to the City Council today his resignation as City Auditor, to take effect November 1. He plans to leave San Diego to take up his residence in Honolulu. With his mother, Mrs. Rosa Woodford, he will sail from San Francisco on the Korea, November 8.

MINISTERS CO-OPERATE.

Clergymen of City Aid in Securing Next International Convention of the Y.M.C.A.

The clergymen of this city yesterday decided to aid the movement to bring to Los Angeles the next international convention of the Y. M. C. A.

They realize that the meeting here would attract religious leaders of world prominence and influence. Considering that the presence of such men would be a great stimulus to all evangelical religious work in Los Angeles, the Union Ministers' Meeting of the city yesterday decided to invite the convention. It also passed a resolution to this effect:

"We heartily approve and will cooperate as far as possible with plan to secure sufficient members to telegraph the President of this Association, Arthur Letts, at Toronto, the night of Saturday, October 29, as follows: That the largest membership in the best association building in the finest convention city in the world must have the next international convention, and that we pledge our individual co-operation in the effort to make this telegram possible."

A copy of this resolution will be sent to President Letts at Toronto.

UNDELIVERED TELEGRAMS.

Undelivered telegrams remain at the main office of the Western Union Telegraph Company for the following named persons: H. Zimmerman, W. H. Robinson, Mr. Eugene Fox, Arthur O. Hart, Mrs. G. Canfield, Mr. Eli Gordon, M. Rau, Mr. E. J. Hoover, C. H. Patterson, Mrs. C. Newman, Charles H. Daffan, Mrs. R. L. Darling, C. D. Diamond, T. A. Brooks, Mrs. M. C. C., care Mrs. H. BREAKS A COLD IN A FEW HOURS.

PROVES QUININE IS NEVER EFFECTIVE IN THE CURE OF A SEVERE COLD OR THE GRIPPE.

There would not be a soul here in Los Angeles suffer much with a bad cold or the Grippe if they would get this effective Compound and take it as directed. It is dispensed by the Pape's of Cincinnati, which means real curative merit.

Nothing else that you can take will break your cold or end grippe so promptly as a dose of Pape's Cold Compound every two hours until three consecutive doses are taken.

The most miserable neuralgia pains, headache, dullness, head and nose stuffed up, feverishness, sneezing, running of the nose, sore throat, mucous catarrhal discharges, soreness, stiffness, rheumatism pains and other distress begin to leave after the very first dose.

Pape's Cold Compound is the result of three years' research at a cost of more than fifty thousand dollars, and contains no quinine, which we have conclusively demonstrated is not effective in the treatment or colds or grippe.

Take this harmless Compound as directed, with the knowledge that there is no other medicine made anywhere else in the world, which will cure your cold or end Grippe misery as promptly and without any other assistance or bad after-effects as a 25 cent package of Pape's Cold Compound, which any druggist in the world can supply.

ity. Here it was utilized under the boilers in the generation of steam for the operation of the pumps and drills. Even since, this well has been working unceasingly night and day, giving an even flow of fuel gas and assisting materially in holding down the operation of the wells of the lease.

The development this morning of the old gas well into a gusher came as a surprise and has caused oil men to observe the well's performance with considerable interest.

METZLER IN COURT.

Blames His Downfall on Man Called King, and San Diego Officers Will Investigate.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN DIEGO, Oct. 24.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Guy Metzler, alleged forger of checks, was arraigned in the township court today on two charges. Horace B. Day, of The Home Telephone company, swore to both complaints.

Metzler intimates that his family connections consist of wealthy residents of Grand Rapids. He stated in court that he has been away from home three years and that he is only 17 years old. He dressed flashily and has the appearance of being at least 21. He asked Eugene Daney, a leading attorney to defend him.

Metzler lays the blame of his downfall on a man whom he calls M. H. King. Local officers are investigating his record. The young woman who eloped from Santa Barbara and married Metzler is still in the custody of the matron of the sheriff's office. Mrs. Scott, her mother, and an officer are expected on the morning train.

STILL THEY COME.

Today's record of marriages of out-of-town couples shows that San Diego, as a Gretna Green for Southern California, is fast gaining on Santa Ana. The following were licensed and married here this afternoon: Herbert F. Mayhew, 21, of Corona, and Chloe M. Parks, 19, Riverside; Lemuel A. Pratt, 23, and Nana O. Aarup, 20, of Los Angeles; Nowland McFarlane, 24, and Rosa Garinger, 32, of Daggett; John S. David, 28, and Nellie Wilcox, 25, Tucson.

SOLDIERS' HOME.

SOLDIERS' HOME, Oct. 24.—Miss Daisy Moore, daughter of Maj. E. W. Moore, left a few days ago for Poughkeepsie-on-the-Hudson, where she will spend the winter, as guest of Lieut. R. S. Byers, U.S.A., and Mrs. Byers, the latter formerly Miss Edith Upham of this place.

Miss Bernice Wilson, daughter of Chaplain and Mrs. Wilson of this place, left a short time ago for Urbana, Ill., where she entered for the current term the University of Illinois.

Mrs. Frank Prunk of Indianapolis and Mrs. M. J. Boggs of Urbana, Ill., are guests of their sister, Mrs. G. W. Wilson of this place.

HEAD-ON COLLISION.

SAWTELLE, Oct. 24.—As the result of a head-on collision between an automobile and a motorcycle, Harding Lufkin of Los Angeles is confined in a hospital at Santa Monica, suffering with a broken leg. The accident happened late yesterday evening on the road between this city and Beverly. The automobile was being driven by E. P. Nittinger of Santa Monica. He picked up the injured man and hurried with him to the hospital.

The thirty members of the police force of Cranford, N. J., are looking for a daring thief who slipped into police headquarters Saturday night and stole a $100 gold watch from the pocket of Sergeant Halstead, while the sergeant was snoozing at his post of duty. No clew to the identity of the intruder has been discovered.

WHY SALVES FAIL TO CURE ECZEMA

Scientists are now agreed that the eczema germs are lodged not in the outer skin or epidermis, but in the inner skin. Hence, a penetrating liquid is required, not an outward salve that clogs the pores.

We recommend to all eczema patients the standard prescription Oil of Wintergreen as compounded in liquid form known as D. D. D. Prescription. A trial bottle of this D. D. D. Prescription, at only 25 cents, will instantly relievet the itch. We have sold and recommended this remedy for years, and know of wonderful cures from its use. We recommend it to our patrons.

FOR SALE — BEAUTIFUL WOODED RESIdence lots in "Bungalow Land," in Laurel Canyon, located in the heart of the mountains; perfect climatic conditions, congenial neighbors, reasonable conveniences, protective restrictions, just the right altitude; pure mountain water.

Lots in this tract, 50 ft. front, and larger, for $300 and up, in terms of $10 down, $10 monthly, no interest; no taxes; visit "Bungalow Land" and see the splendid new homes now building, some costing $6000 to $7000.

"Bungalow Land" values have increased more in the past two years than any other section of Los Angeles County, and has just started, so get in now and reap the big profit sure to come. Large developments already assured, will demonstrate in less than a year that the present prices are absurdly low. Enjoy a day's outing and investigate "Bungalow Land." Take the Hollywood cars on Hill st. to Laurel Canyon, connecting with the new "Trackless" line (the first in the counties), operating over the finest mountain road in California. Homelike meals and light refreshments at the Bungalow Inn; plenty of grounds, grounds with benches and tables and running water. A delightful way to spend the day. Agent on the property at all times who will be glad to give you all information you desire.

Come out today and when you reach "Bungalow Land" inquire for F. M. PRICE, Sole Agent for Bungalow Land.

FOR SALE—
GOING UP $50 NOVEMBER 1.
HERRE'S YOUR CHANCE.

Here is a quick profit—absolutely certain. It is in my Arlington Square property, just south of the beautiful West Adams district. It's your opportunity to get in before an advance in price, an advance brought about by the increased demand and high class improvements. I have been selling these lots at $50 up, on terms of $25 cash and $10 monthly. They are worth $200 more. On Nov. 1 they will go up $50. Then another $50 raise will take place December 1. The terms will change, too. Now, if you want to get in on this, buy right away. The proposition is open to all alike. Lay lines, all with a five cent fare. It's improved with graded and oiled streets, cement walks and curbs, and wide parkings planted to large shade trees. And it has every city convenience you could ask for. Here is the place for a home that you will enjoy—or for an investment where you double your money. The West 28th street car line, now building, will run directly to the property. Come to my downtown office for full information, or if you want to, go directly to the tract. Take the Jefferson street car. You will find Mr. Potter there at 2118 West Jefferson street, waiting for you with his automobile.

FOR SALE—
A RICH ACRE.
CLOSE TO TOWN.
$10 CASH AND $10 MONTHLY.

Desirable acres close to town are growing fewer every day. Indeed, at Sunnyside, where this acre is located, I have only a few pieces left, and they are being snapped up every day. The place is only 20 minutes away by trolley—in an attractive suburb, with schools, stores, telephones and the usual suburban conveniences. The soil is a rest, rich sandy loam, and abundant water is furnished free. Folks at Sunnyside reduce living expenses with their vegetable gardens, fruit trees and chickens. They like the wholesome outdoor suburban life—and they know their property is steadily increasing in value. If you want an acre, you can have it at a remarkably low price, on the above easy terms, or you can buy a two-acre lot for $850. Come to my office for full details. Then see Sunnyside. Excursions every hour daily and up to 2 p.m. Sundays.

WIDOWED BY HASTY WORDS.

QUARREL FOLLOWED BY DEATH OF YOUNG HUSBAND.

TRAGEDY WITNESSED BY HIS MOTHER AND SISTER.

STRUGGLE WITH WIFE FOR REVOLVER HAS FATAL END.

Frederic Clarence Emery, a machinist, living at No. 134 South Olive street, was shot and instantly killed about 6 o'clock last night, by his young wife, Jessie, in the presence of his mother, Mrs. Ida Emery of Sacramento, and his 14-year-old sister, Miss Ethel Emery.

When the police arrived they found the wife clasped in the arms of the mother and sister of the dead man. Her very sobbing bitterly, declaring that the shooting had been accidental. Emery, 27 years of age, had been married four years. He came to California with his mother and little sister in 1906, from Iowa. They settled in Sacramento and soon after Emery married a handsome young woman. Leaving his mother and sister in Sacramento, he brought his wife to Los Angeles two years ago and obtained employment with the McCann Mechanical Works, at Long Beach avenue and Twenty-fourth street.

Mrs. Ida Emery and her daughter arrived in Los Angeles on a visit about two weeks ago. Yesterday they enjoyed a ride to Hollywood.

When Emery reached home last evening, he was tired from a hard day's work. His fatigue might have made him a bit cross.

It was a long time before Detectives Conley and McKinzie could obtain intelligible statements from the hysterical women or anybody else in the house. Finally they learned these facts.

When Emery reached home, his mother and sister had not returned from their trip to Hollywood. His wife was preparing supper. When Emery stepped into the door, she asked him to go to the corner grocery for a bottle of milk and a loaf of bread. The supper table already set and that she had prepared a tempting tomato salad and other dainties, for the manager to please her mother and mother-in-law.

A QUARREL STARTS.

Emery was cross because of the hard day's work down at the shops. He rebelled at the added task. Out of these quarrels familiar to many households, followed.

When Emery's mother and sister came home, the young wife was in tears. Questions followed.

"You beat me," sobbed the young wife after some hesitation.

The white-haired mother looked at her son. He was in his undershirt, pants and shoes.

"What are those marks on your face?" asked the mother.

"I had a fight downstairs," he replied, attempting to shield his wife.

"It is not so," blustered the wife. "That's where I scratched you when you were beating me over the head with a revolver."

Then started the row over again.

"I am going away," stormed Fred, adding: "I don't care," retorted the wife.

Emery made a dash for the drawer of the washstand in the corner of the room. His wife knew all too well what was in that drawer.

"I don't want you to take the revolver," she cried in a passion.

"Let go," snapped Emery, and he proceeded to load the weapon which had been left empty in the washstand. It was only a 32-caliber bulldog of the very cheapest make.

His wife made a dash for the weapon. The mother and sister, terrified, huddled in a corner of the room.

With a desperate wrench, Mrs. Emery wrested the revolver from her husband's grasp. The next instant she was locked in the little clothes closet of the apartment, with a half-cocked revolver in her hand, making all sorts of threats against herself.

STRUGGLE IN CLOSET.

"Let go that gun," roared her husband as he was on her like an avalanche.

Then in the tiny closet that the fatal struggle took place. The mother and sister waited outside too terrified to act, but never dreaming what the end would be.

Then rang out. Emery fell to the floor. Then up, his feet kicking through the pile of shoe boxes at the bottom of the clothes closet. His terrified wife bounded out over him, in frenzied speechless.

That was the end of the tragedy. When the police came Emery was half dressed with skirts and other garments taken down from the pegs in the closet during the fierce struggle that resulted in his death.

"Oh God, if he is dead I did it," was the despairing cry of the poor girl as the detectives lead her from the room.

The opinion prevails that the revolver was discharged by accident during the struggle.

Later the body was taken to the undertaking establishment of Bresee Bros. A loaded cartridge dropped from the pocket of the dead man's undergarments. The pistol was of that peculiar make that will permit a shell to slip into the chamber, if the weapon is not held in an upright position. There is no doubt in the minds of the police that the cartridge in the short bosom of Emery is conclusive proof of the struggle for possession in that little room.

Mrs. Jessie Emery, who shot and killed her husband in the presence of his mother and sister last night.

A DRAWBACK.

WANT THREE YEARS ADDED.

STUDENTS POINT OUT FAULT IN SCHOOL TICKETS.

Petition for Extension of School Age Limit and State Present Rule Tends to Misrepresentation. Hollywood Asks Several Questions at Board of Education Meeting.

The question which has been troubling the pupils of the public schools, namely, the age limit placed upon the use of the school tickets on street railways, was presented to the Board of Education last night in the form of a petition from the student body of Los Angeles High School.

It asked the aid of the Board to secure from the street railways a recognition of the fact that the school law calls for an attendance up to the age of 21, whereas the school tickets for reduced rates allows such tickets to be used only by those up to 18 years of age.

The fact of this age limit has, it is claimed, led to misrepresentation, in some instances, by those in cramped circumstances who, in order to benefit by the rates, claimed to be under 18. The Board voted to present this petition to the street railway corporations, reinforced by a request for an extension of the age limit.

Hollywood occupied a front seat at the meeting, as several questions relating to that group of high school buildings were before the Board.

First, it was that of accepting Science Hall as it stands, the architect, Norman Marsh, appearing before the Board to say that, owing to the steel strike, it was impossible to secure the material to proceed with the stairways as planned. He recommended that $1750 be deducted from the estimated cost, and the steel stairways be added later.

The next question referred to was that of heating appliances for the girls' gymnasium, which could be accomplished from the central heating plant at a cost of $175. The Board voted to have the heat installed.

The third question related to a gardener for the grounds at Hollywood, the present gardener asking for a raise in salary. It was voted to retain the present gardener, but at no increased salary.

The question of continuing the office of third assistant auditor upon the Board gave rise to a prolonged discussion as to the merits and demerits of the system of detailed bookkeeping. It was hoped to arrive at a comparison as to the cost of maintenance of the different schools, as a guide to the proper amount to be expended upon those schools in future.

Mr. Frank asked that the superintendent and assistant superintendents be considered as co-operating with the finance committee in settling this issue.

The following substitute teachers were elected: Primary Grades—Minnie Martin, Serena Christensen, Anna L. Raymond, M. Beatrice Jarvis, Mary G. Gaynor, Mildred K. Baker, Marion C. Cheney, Florence Covell, Katherine M. Bolton Mrs. Bertha T. Crawford. Grammar Grades—Edna E. Skinner, A. W. Everett, Pearl McCloskey. These were elected substitute teachers in the Kindergarten department, subject to the rule governing emergency appointments: Mary R. Hewetson, Grace McAfee, Florence Kuss, Mrs. Bertha K. Mills.

CALL FOR PATROLMEN.

Police Commission Announces Eighty-five Vacancies and No Applications Are on File.

Wanted, patrolmen. This is the announcement the Police Commission wants given out in big type. There are eighty-five vacancies in the ranks, with no applications on file, and at the meeting of the commission last night the question was discussed how best to get the information before the public. Able-bodied men, between the ages of 21 and 32, and not under five feet, nine inches in height, are urged to apply to Clerk McKeag, at the Mayor's office, for application blanks.

Owing to some irregularity, the entire list of men who had qualified for police sergeants, was canceled by the Civil Service Commission, and the appointment of Joseph Wehrly and John T. Curtin, as sergeants, was annulled. They were then immediately reappointed as emergency men. D. L. Adams and R. L. Heath were appointed lieutenants of police.

The charges against F. J. Talamantes, L. A. Rice and Thomas Rico of the detective force, drew a large crowd to the City Hall last night, but after a somewhat prolonged executive session, the board announced a continuance until next Monday night.

Chief Galloway preferred a charge of intoxication against Patrolman D. J. McDonald, and his trial was set for November 7.

A large number of applications for licenses of various kinds were heard, including clubs, poolrooms, billiard rooms, employment agencies and auctioneers.

Louis Boutillier was granted a wholesale liquor license at No. 326 West Second street, and Charles Saddler was refused a like permit. The Old Timers' Club will have to continue to get its drinks on the good old timers' plan, as it was refused a license at No. 118½ South Spring street.

MORE CHOLERA IN ROME.

ROME, Oct. 24.—Eight new cases of cholera are officially reported in the last twenty-four hours. Five deaths occurred in the same period.

SPARKLES.

DELIGHTS EYE THIS CARNIVAL.

MANY OLD WORLD FANCIES GIVE PICTURESQUE TOUCH.

Corners of the Earth Gleaned to Provide Color for Entertainment Which Instructs and Amuses. Playlet Concludes the Night's Fun at Woman's Clubhouse.

Bright costumes, myriads of colored lights, smiling girls, flowers of varied hue and music of many nations, made the Carnival of Nations, held by the Los Angeles Council of the Young Men's Institute last night at the Woman's Clubhouse, one of the most enjoyable entertainments of the fall season.

A bit of old Ireland has been transported into the room. Just across, the Spanish period breaks into sight. Here the senorita and her lover play the old Spanish songs and dances. A little farther along a bit of Arabia unfolds to the eye. Across the way, the fantastic Frenchman and his maiden conduct a miniature Monte Carlo.

Outside the club, under the long balcony, a dainty tea garden with its hundreds of crysanthemums, its Geisha girls, is exactly reproduced. Farther along, a German beer garden is located. This is known as the Heidelberg Cafe booth.

A playlet, "The Quiet Family," is given with considerable vim, under the direction of W. Taylor Marshall. The cast of characters includes Vincent Vaughan, Otto Emme, George Martinke, Grover Franke, and the Misses Minnie Dox, Margaret Wade, Helen Worthen and Mary Martinke. The carnival will be continued tonight.

HIGHWAYMEN FIRE TO KILL.

VICTIM SHOWS FIGHT AND IS PROMPTLY SHOT AT.

Two Bullets Take Effect in Insurance Man Who is Held Up by Two Men, But Refused to Be Plucked. His Pockets Rifled as He Lies Unconscious.

Philip A. Armentrout, an insurance solicitor living at No. 509 West Broadway, Whittier, was shot three times and robbed of $155, about 9:40 o'clock last night, by two men, who held him up in a garage at the rear of No. 921 South Main street.

Armentrout was about to leave the garage when he was confronted by two men who demanded his money. He showed fight, upon which the shorter of the two bandits called out to his comrade, "Let him have it."

The next instant there were three shots, two of which found their mark in the victim's left hand, while the third tore through the lobe of the left ear.

Armentrout sank in a semi-comatose condition, and he was easily plucked by the footpads. After the robbery, he wandered to Ninth street where he was found by E. L. Masterson of No. 1471 Griffith avenue, and H. P. Walcott of No. 120 West Ninth street. They took him to the drugstore at Ninth and Main, where he was attended by a Dr. Russell. He was later sent to the Pacific Hospital.

WIFE IS DIVORCED.

Husband Who Figured in Scenes Threatened Lives of Family, She Avers.

(SPECIAL WIRE TO THE TIMES.)
RIVERSIDE, Oct. 24.—(Exclusive Dispatch.) Mrs. Ida Enlow was today granted a divorce from Charles H. Enlow on the story of numerous wrongs charged to the husband to kill the family, which was corroborated by the children, the oldest of whom is 12 years. Enlow was the star witness. He had disappeared for months. Latterly he was in another affair that took him out of Lodi and the northern part of San Joaquin county.

Mrs. Enlow, on the witness stand told a story of inhuman treatment of herself and children. She said he left home in company with another woman and was gone for months. On his return he walked into the house with a revolver in his hand and for days threatened to kill her and the children. She also declared that on September 5, 1909, he drove her from home and on September 5, 1910, at 1 o'clock in the morning pulled her out of bed. She was forced to take refuge in the barn and wrap herself in bed clothes. The children were awarded to her.

SALES—Morning session: 2000 Bonnie Clare at 4.

LOCAL PRODUCE MARKTE.

The first car of local-popcorn arrived on the market this morning. It came from Inglewood where practically all of the popcorn in Southern California is grown. It was of excellent quality, with much larger and firmer ears than last year. The dealers receiving the shipment held it at $2.25 to $2.50 per hundred. Eastern popcorn has been arriving in the last few weeks and has been selling at the same figures. It is not quite as heavy as the yield of each ears' grain. It is still early in the season for a good demand on this commodity. There were no changes in the market on nuts all being reported fairly active at weak prices is heard of in some directions.

There were no changes in the market on eggs. That commodity held firm, candled selling at 47 cents and case count at 43 cents. The demand for Northern fresh was excellent and the price was 28 cents. Receipts continued very light, only 48 cases being shipped in.

Butter arrivals were 11,681 pounds. Creamery extras was the best seller. The market was very firm on account of the smaller arrivals.

The small demand for cheese occasioned by the high prices prevailing finally caused a reaction in all eastern varieties and the recorded drops varied from one-half to 2 cents a pound. Northern fresh, on the other hand, showed a one-half a cent. Imported cheese all held steady. Arrivals yesterday were only 200 pounds.

Highland potato prices were finally lowered in official quotations and the price on them is now fixed at $1.25 with an upward range to $1.50 at times. Other quotes show no weakness. Arrivals yesterday were heavy, 5780 sacks.

Onion arrivals were sufficient to swamp the market, 1240 sacks or more than four cars, one of the heaviest arrivals reported in several months. As a result onions were selling down to $1.10 per hundred in a jobbing way.

The auto truck is robbing the railroads of a considerable revenue as far as bean hauling is concerned. Receipts at this season should be reported as very large, but very few days have shown a hundred sacks arriving by rail, nearly all of the beans grown in this vicinity being shipped by auto truck instead. As a result of these heavier receipts the market on nearly all varieties of beans was quoted lower. Pinks were quoted at $2, small whites at $4.25, Garvanza beans at $4, lentils, $5, and so on down the line.

Sweet potato receipts were 296 sacks, and the demand for them was good. Prices hovered around $1.50 per hundred.

Apple arrivals were 6617 boxes. There was a good demand for very fancy stock and the finer car of Idaho Jonathans ever received here sold fast in this class. Arkansas blacks are among the red varieties in good call at present.

In the fresh fruit line there were a number of declines. This was particularly true as far as grapes were concerned. The best grapes sold at $1 a box. Vegetables also took some very noticeable tumbles. Cucumbers were obtainable as low as 15 cents a lug and tomatoes sold down to 25 cents.

Fish receipts were rather light, but Saturday's holdovers easily supplied the demand for that variety of food.

The first car of Idaho apples ever shipped to California arrived in Los Angeles yesterday morning. They are Jonathans out of the new orchards in the Lewiston district, which is expected to be one of the greatest apple growing district in the United States in years to come. Richardson & Holmes received the car and are selling the fruit at $1.25 or at the same figure Colorado Jonathans are bringing. Owing to the fact that Colorado is entirely out of the running as far as apples for shipment are concerned, Idaho fancy stock is in good demand and several other cars have already been ordered on the quality of the first fruit received. This runs about 75 Jonathans to the box, or 20 per cent. more fruit than is usually received in the same pack.

LOS ANGELES EXCHANGE.

Market Opens Up in a Way to Indicate a Big Week's Business—Active Issues Strong.

The market on the local Exchange yesterday opened up with trading not quite so heavy as it was all during last week, but prices were well maintained. California midway showed a large gain on the morning call, but fell off during the afternoon, closing at the bid price of Saturday. Mexican Common was stronger and trading was good in this stock. Union was slightly weaker and United Oil was strong with no stock coming out. Central Oil showed a gain of a point on the day's trading and Consolidated Midway was firm.

In the bond list there was some very active bidding for Home First Refundings and Home First. In fact, there were more bids on the bond list than there have been for some time.

The bank stocks were quiet and showed no change. The balance of the list was steady with a good undertone.

SAN FRANCISCO STOCKS.

Advance of Goldfield Cons. Proves the Feature of the Market—No Special News.

(Special Service to The Times, by B. F. Taylor, 112 West Third Street, Los Angeles.)

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 24.—The feature of the Southern Nevada stocks was Goldfield Consolidated, which closed with a net gain of 12 cents on no special news. Florence was 1 points weaker. Jumbo Extension lost 2. Fraction was unchanged. 21 bid; Booth was weak, the best bid being 3 cents. The market was extremely dull in the cheap priced issues.

Belmont was traded in around 445 but only a few hundred shares were taken at that price. Montana was weaker closing 90@95. West End was up 1. Mispah Extension was offered at 39.

Nevada Hills lost 10 points, Round Mountain was offered at 28, Pittsburgh Silver Peak closed 31 bid. There were no changes in the Bullfrogs or Rawhides.

There was a good deal of pressure on the Comstocks which started immediately after the opening. Ophir closing with a loss of 16 points, Mexican 10, Consolidated Virginia 17½, Savage 6, Belcher 5, Sierra 3, Union 1. The drive at the Comstocks today looks like inside manipulation for the purpose of accumulation as the official reports of the daily output and properties for last week were of the most encouraging character.

The following were the closing bid and asked quotations:

Japanese Bond Redemption Policy Criticised by Count Katsura at Tokio Dinner.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

TOKIO, Oct. 24.—Today's opposition to the proposed budget as made by Count Katsura, the Premier and Minister of Finance, at the dinner tendered Clearing Houses last night.

The principal criticism is that the Government's non-loan policy is contrary to the principle it is gradually borrowing the sinking fund of $11,000,000 for the redemption of bonds yearly. Consequently the redemption of $5,500,000 of bonds yearly, instead of Count Katsura would result, it is said, in $6,000,000 only.

Count Katsura's avowal of the success of the conversion of four per cents is seriously doubted.

THE WEATHER.

LOCAL OFFICE, U. S. WEATHER BUREAU, Los Angeles, Oct. 24.—[Reported by A. S. Wellaber, Local Forecaster.] At 5 o'clock a.m. the barometer registered 29.87; at 5 p.m., 29.82. Thermometer for the corresponding hours showed 71 deg. and 87 deg. Relative humidity, 5 a.m., 29 per cent.; 5 p.m., 11 per cent. Wind, 5 a.m., northeast, velocity 10 miles; 5 p.m., west, velocity 8 miles. Maximum temperature, 96 deg.; minimum, 62 deg. Rainfall for season, .94 of an inch; seasonal average, July 1 to July 30, 13.75 inches. Character of weather, 5 a.m., clear; 5 p.m., clear. Barometer reduced to sea level.

WEATHER CONDITIONS.—There has been a light sprinkle in Northwestern Oregon during the last twenty-four hours, and there was some cloudiness in that section this morning, but elsewhere west of the Rocky Mountains the weather was clear, with temperatures above the normal in Western Oregon and on portions of the Southern California coast. A high-pressure area of considerable extent occupies the greater portion of the western slope. The maximum temperature was 96 deg. in Los Angeles yesterday, but the air was very dry, the humidity at 5 p.m. being 11 per cent. Last year, on October 24, the temperature ran up to 99 deg. The record for warmth in October was established October 2, 1895, when the thermometer stood at 102 deg., but the humidity was so low even then that the heat was not uncomfortable.

FORECASTS.—Forecast till 5 p.m., Tuesday: Los Angeles and vicinity: Fair tonight and Tuesday; light, variable winds.

Pasadena, Redlands, Riverside and San Bernardino: Fair tonight and Tuesday.

California south of the Tehachepi: Fair; cooler in north portion tonight; Tuesday, fair.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 24.—Forecast: San Francisco and vicinity: Fair Tuesday; warm in the morning, moderating at night; light north wind, changing to southwest.

Santa Clara Valley: Fair; moderately warm; light north wind.

Sacramento and San Joaquin valleys: Fair; continued warm; light north wind.

Southern California: Fair; not so warm; light north wind.

Arizona: Fair Tuesday and Wednesday.

Waiting Attitude Follows as Result of Speculators' Suspicions Concerning Base of Recent Bulge. Belief That Higher Rates Will Prevail Checks Operations.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 24.—The speculation in stocks showed a disposition to adopt a waiting attitude, with increasing weakness today, pending the working out of developments in the money market abroad and the confirmation of reports on which the recent advance in stocks was based. The most influential of these reports have centered about steel trade matters until some of them have gained in definiteness since they first began to be heard and have lost something of credibility and of influence as a result. For instance, the statement took explicit form today that the Inter-State Commerce Commission will permit the roads to advance freight tariffs to the extent of one-half rates specified in the application, although decisions of the commission in detail will not be announced until February. The effect was to arouse suspicion in the speculation where confidence had been showing the vaguest surmises of the probabilities of final terms for the railroads in the decisions on rate advances. The course of money and exchange rates did not offer stiffening developments, but the belief that higher money rates were probable held the stock market operations in check. An early advance occurred in foreign exchange rates here. The maturity on November 1 of $12,000,000 of New York City notes due in London is a factor in the exchange market for which provision has been made, according to the statement of bankers concerned in the transaction. Sub-treasury operations have withdrawn $1,000,000 from the local banks for the new banking week. Today the Treasury offered additions in the reported agreement for curtailment among principal producers. Bonds were steady. Total sales, $2,400,000. United States bonds were unchanged on call.

New York Curb Stocks.

[Special service to The Times by E. F. Hutton, members New York Stock Exchange, 111 West Third street, Los Angeles.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 24.—The market was fairly steady until just before the close when there was a little selling pressure and stocks closed off from the top. There were no features. The market may react a little more but it looks like a purchase at these prices. The Boston copper quotations are reactionary tone although price changes in most instances were confined to small fractions.

BUREAU OF INFORMATION.

Times Office, No. 521 South Spring street.

NEWS AND BUSINESS.

Porto Rico Mission Work.

Miss Kingsley, who has done missionary work in Porto Rico for the past ten years, will speak on "Christian Work in Porto Rico" tonight in Peniel Hall, No. 227 South Main street.

To Elect Officers.

The Pennsylvania State Society is to give a special entertainment at the Fraternal Brotherhood Hall, Lincoln and Figueroa streets, tonight. Officers will also be elected. All Pennsylvanians are invited to attend.

Expressman's Shoulder Dislocated.

J. T. Gest, 50 years old, an expressman living at No. 750 Wall street, was thrown from his wagon at Fifth and San Julian streets yesterday afternoon when his horse ran away. His right shoulder was dislocated.

Court Desires to Examine.

The District Court of Appeal desires to have an opportunity to examine the exhibits in the suit of Grant Starkweather against John H. Dawson, a contest over a City Council election, which was tried in the Superior Court of Kings county. An order was issued yesterday that an envelope containing seventeen spoiled, canceled and unused ballots shall be produced in the higher courts in order that the justices may determine whether they were legally thrown out.

To Fix Road for Races.

Philip Wilson yesterday called on the Board of Supervisors to learn the attitude of the members toward the Santa Monica road race, which is scheduled for November 23. They assured him that the road will be put in first-class condition before that time. The county last year bore the expense of policing the course. This feature will probably be taken up at the next session of the body.

Hard Fall, Slight Injuries.

Moneta Topia, employed at the Alexandria Annex as a plumber's helper, fell two stories yesterday and escaped with a few cuts and bruises. He was picked up in the basement and hurried to the Receiving Hospital. Last night he was transferred to the County Hospital, but he will be able to leave that institution today unless internal injuries develop. Tapia is 51 years old. He is very muscular.

Opposing a Tuberculosis Hospital.

A proposal to build a tuberculosis hospital at Avenue Fifty-sixth and Hub street has aroused the antagonism of the persons residing in the vicinity. A petition asking the Board of Supervisors to restrain the location of the sanatorium was filed yesterday. Its length can be more easily reckoned in yards than in names. The site is just outside of the city limits, but is said to be in a district which is thickly settled.

Commercial Travelers' Ball.

The Los Angeles Council No. 81, Order of United Commercial Travelers, will give a musical entertainment and ball next Saturday night at Goldberg-Bosley Assembly Hall. The music will start at 8 o'clock; the dance will be from 10 to midnight. It will be strictly an invitation affair, 1500 invitations having been issued. On the committee in charge are J. S. Eastman, L. L. Livsrsidge, Ernest Wist, F. B. Chapman and George W. Howard.

In Trouble Over Hay.

W. E. Clemmons, a Duarte farmer, was arrested yesterday on a charge of having embezzled the proceeds of a crop which he alleged to have raised on shares with Charles Kraft, the owner of the land. Clemmons is understood to have sold eighteen tons of hay for $216 and to have failed to make a return on any part of it to Kraft. He was arraigned before Justice Baird and released under $1000 bonds to appear on Friday for examination.

Little Time for Escape.

While repairing his bicycle at the edge of the road near his home, No. 1069 West Thirty-first streets yesterday afternoon, Lincoln Anderson saw an automobile rapidly approaching, and had but a few seconds to get out of its path when the machine was driven over his bicycle, breaking it beyond repair. The automobile bore the number 17,165. The automobile directory gives J. F. Brichetto, Oakdale, as the owner of the car. The driver of the machine continued and is sought by the police.

Change of Police Hours.

Orders issued from the office of the Chief of Police relative to the changing of the hours of the various divisions went into effect yesterday. Under the new system the morning watch, which formerly went on duty to 3 a.m. and continued on until 11 a.m., is now sent out at 5:30 a.m. and rings in at 1:30 in the afternoon. The afternoon watch, whose hours have hitherto been from 11 a.m. to 7 p.m., now goes on at 1:30 p.m. and continues on duty until 9:30 p.m. The night watch, formerly working from 7 p.m. until 3 a.m., now goes out at 9:30 p.m. and is relieved at 6:30 a.m.

Celebrating Festivals.

Services will be held in the Sinai synagogue today and Wednesday in celebration of the closing festivals respectively called "The Eighth Day of Solemn Assembly" and "The Rejoicing of the Law." This morning a memorial service will be held, special prayers for rain recited, and Rabbi Myers will preach on "Jewish Charity." In the evening the service, commencing at 7:30 o'clock will be conducted by children of the Hebrew and Religious School. Manual Cherman will officiate, assisted by Zion Myers, Sidney Schwartz and Sam Harris. A sermon on "Rejoicing in the Law" will be given by Victor Daran.

BREVITIES.

Dr. A. J. Bailey, formerly associated with O. L. Wuerker, is now located in his new office at No. 453 South Broadway, where he will be pleased to meet his many friends and old-time patrons.

Mrs. Bridene Hogaboom McNamara will open the "Westlake School of Music," corner of Seventh and Burlington, November 1. Desirable studio for rent, also accommodations for students. Tel. 52129.

Wanted: To buy roll-top desk, also flat-topped desk. Address D., Box 89, Times Office.

BLOOD TROUBLES
CONSTITUTIONAL INFECTION
Constitutional Blood Poison is the most insidious of all diseases. It begins in an insignificant manner, usually the appearance of a tiny sore being the only outward evidence of its presence. But down in the blood the treacherous infection is at work, and in a short time its chain of symptoms begin to crop out. The mouth and throat ulcerate, skin eruptions break out, sores and ulcers appear on the body, the glands in the groin swell, and sometimes the hair comes out. Mineral medicines cannot cure Constitutional Blood Poison; they only shut the disease up in the system to smoulder and await an opportunity of breaking out afresh. The only possible way to cure the disease is to REMOVE the germs from the blood. S. S. S. goes into the blood, and while removing the infection makes the blood pure, fresh and healthy. This causes a general upbuilding of the entire system, and when S. S. S. has made a cure there is no return of the hideous symptoms. S. S. S. is made entirely of vegetable matter, containing not the least particle of mineral in any form. It is a perfectly safe medicine and a certain cure for blood poison. We have a Home treatment book which we will be glad to send free to all who write and request it, also any medical advice without charge.
SSS

GAMBLES.

PLOW UP GOLD DUST IN SOIL.

OLD PROSPECTOR FINDS FARMS OVER PLACER BEDS.

SAYS COUNTY COURTHOUSE IS NEAR GOOD MINE.

RICH SPOTS IN THE NORTHERN FIELDS HIDDEN.

With memories lit by the golden days of sixty years gone by and the babble of 12,000 miners still ringing in his ears, T. D. Bridger left Los Angeles one month ago, backed by a grub stake of $1000, with the expectation of a rich prospecting trip through Tuolumne county.

Returning, yesterday, he handed the bulk of his grubstake money back to the man who had advanced it, with the report that the city of Sonoma stands almost upon the very ground that he had expected to open, and that over the placer beds where once two-and-a-half tons of gold dust were taken out every week, fertile fields are now set with beautiful homesteads.

Tall cypresses shaded the ground where once there glistened the golden sands of an inviting fortune. Mr. Bridger had expected to find a wild, free country, such as he had known in the old days. As it stands today, not a foot of land was available for his eager miner's pick.

"I am satisfied," he said, "that people are tilling ground for the slow returns of agriculture when a little beneath the point of the plow and the tooth of the harrow, are fortunes of a magnitude beyond estimation. I cannot think of a direction in which capital could be turned to such tremendous profit as in the opening and development of the virgin mining ground within the very shadow of the Tuolumne county courthouse.

"I had not been there for more than fifty-five years, but that country was never developed by deep mining and it stands to reason that where a surface held so much richness, work at a little depth would reveal some immense propositions."

DISTINGUISHED FAMILY.

Mr. Bridger is a nephew of Jim Bridger, the old pathfinder, who was one of the hearty pioneers who put the Union Pacific through, and to whose memory a splendid granite monument was erected near Kansas City.

Although he has made and spent at least four large fortunes, and is now more than eighty years old, Mr. Bridger has come to Los Angeles to close two big propositions. One of them is to bond the redwood timber covering his 160 acres of placer property in Monterey county. The other is to put an outfit to work out the placer fields. Recently, some people took a bond on this property for a million dollars, but they failed in their payments.

Arriving in California in 1850, Mr. Bridger has spent the last sixty years either in prospecting of in developing locations. A year or two of time he spent in Arizona and in Mexico, but it is his belief that California still contains wonderful undeveloped mining possibilities and that the prospector need not go elsewhere in search of a good proposition.

Another of the genuine pioneers of the old days, who is in Los Angeles, both for rest and to finance some new properties, is Tim Driscoll, the man who put in the first mill on the Coeur d'Alene property.

FAVORS OPEN FIELD.

Mr. Driscoll rounded Cape Horn in the clipper ship N. D. Palmer, in 1851. He was at Sutter's Mill, when Marshall sold the first California discovery for $50,000. He has made and lost three of the largest fortunes ever made in California mines, has twice retired and now has several promising locations made by himself in the past few months in the North Star country, Northern Yuma county, Arizona.

"I am in favor of an open field for the prospector, for the same reason that I am in favor of an open shop," said Mr. Driscoll at the Hollenbeck yesterday, in discussing the withdrawal of public lands from the miner.

I am an old man in years if not in feeling, but I would rather have the right to the open mountain range with a pack train of burrows and a miner's pick, than to own the best ranch in California. You cannot conserve mines you have not discovered and Congress has no business withdrawing from the West its undiscovered properties."

Mike Macklin, who arrived in Los Angeles yesterday from his camp near the North Star mine, reports a great strike at Alamo Springs, ten miles East of Kofa. Clark and Wheeler, the locators, have uncovered a five foot ledge of ore, running $5600 to the ton, and a ten foot ledge of ore, which assays $1000. It is a similar proposition to that owned in the same locality by Henry Fahrenbrink of Los Angeles, being gold in a rhyolite porphyry, like that found in the Goldfield district.

HE'S HERE FISHING.

But Sam Blythe Doesn't Seek Finny Ones, His deas Running to Other Lines.

Samuel G. Blythe decorated the Alexandria yesterday. He used different perspective in different places, all, however, producing the one effect—a large, ruddy-round aureole of smile. From the minute of his registration, early in the morning, his name being the first to appear on the day's page, until late last night, "Sam" as his friends know him, held reception. The news of his arrival moved on roller skates, or even more swiftly, for half of the lounging chairs of the hotel lobby and two sections at the bar of the hotel were occupied by one continuous committee that desired apparently to do honor to one of the highest-paid scribblers in the country. He writes "Who's Who" for the Saturday Evening Post.

Blythe has been fishing through the Northwest and is now fishing through the Southwest. He is not looking for finny ones, but is filling his notebook with flies pertaining to suckers met in various parts of the country, and flies to be tried out in the Post sooner or later, just as Sam seems to need the bait to draw the $40,000 per annum with which rumor credits him.

ON A BLACK CHARGE.

Sidney Johnson, a negro, was bound over to the Superior Court yesterday afternoon by Justice Williams on a charge of committing a statutory offense. Bail was fixed at $1500 and Johnson returned to jail.

RAILWAY STATION SOAP.

Liable to Last a Long Time Unless Taken for Souvenir, as It is Made of Glass.

Practical jokesters whose victims are the hurried and harried public are an unfailing yearly crop. Their jests are frequently rather crude and of so aged and hoary a character that anything new in the line of a sell is hailed with an approving grin even by those who figure in the role of "fall guy" for the cunning machinations of the humorously inclined.

A stout and hurried traveler alighted yesterday evening from one of the valley trains of the Southern Pacific, his moist and troubled countenance bearing the tell-tale grime of days and days of travel. In common with most of his fellow-passengers, his first move was a dash in the direction of the Arcade Station washroom. Reaching the one lone lavatory bowl a few feet in front of his nearest competitor, he grunted with satisfaction as his eye lighted upon a thin, semi-transparent disk in the soap dish.

"First time I ever found a piece of soap in a railway station anywhere," he announced, rolling up his sleeves and grabbing it.

But, though he filled the bowl to the top and rubbed the piece between his palms with mighty vigor, no suds were forthcoming. Again and some more he dipped the piece into the water and scoured strenuously, but the desired lather obstinately refused to come. He caried the bit to the window and examined it attentively, a slow, sheepish grin of enlightenment gathering headway on his grimy face.

"I buy," he said. "That 'soap' has had 'suds' on it sometime, maybe, but not any more. Want to try it?" he added generously, handing it to the next man.

The "soap," its rough edges neatly sandpapered off, was a piece of colored glass which had been carefully cut out of the side of a beer bottle.

Detectives Puzzled by Remarkable Method Shown in Plundering Plant of American Type Founder's Company of High-Class Goods Until Clews Point to Proprietor of Shop.

William B. Straube, proprietor of a printing establishment at No. 341 South Los Angeles street, who was arraigned yesterday before Police Judge Chambers for systematically looting the plant of the American Type Founders' Company, No. 121 North Broadway, of metals valued at $3500, was held for preliminary examination in the sum of $1500. The specific charge against Straube is grand larceny.

According to Detectives Murray and McCann, who have been working on the case, Straube is the most systematic thief they have had to deal with in many months. During the long time spanning the inception and end of his alleged operations he followed a system that was unique for consistency. According to the officers Straube set aside three nights each week for visiting the plant and no one, even in his family, was aware of his mysterious absences from home and business during that time. The balance of the week he was either enacting the role of the proper homeloving husband and father, or the diligent, hard working business man. He naturally failed to confide his secret to anyone, and though his employees were surprised at various times at the quantity of high-class material that was given them to work with, they failed to put their feelings into words.

The detectives assert that though Straube helped himself to the most valuable printing materials about the plant, he avoided the stacks that were carefully tallied each night. For that reason the detectives fear that the exact amount of material taken by him will not be known, except through a confession.

For a time it was believed by the police that a gang with an agent employed by the American Type Founders' Company, was implicated in the robbery. On this theory they worked several days, but finally every clew tended to prove Straube alone guilty. And even the arrest of Straube was not effected until the eleventh hour.

The dual existence that it is alleged he led at his printing establishment, home and outside also puzzled the officers, and the most careful tallyig of facts was necessary. The date of Straube's examination will be set later.

WHY SHE LEFT HOME.

Pretty Spanish Girl Tells Police She Was Beaten and Subjected to Indignities by Parents.

Esperanza Fernandes, the 15-year-old girl who was reported to the police as having been lured from her home last Friday, appeared at the Central police station yesterday afternoon. After telling Capt. Lehnhausen a story that caused him to question her sharply as to its truthfulness, she declared she would go to jail but that she would not return to her home.

The girl, pretty, and judging from her conversation, an apt pupil, sobbed quietly but with gatitude when told that she need not return to her home until her story of cruel beatings and indignities had been investigated thoroughly.

When they heard that their daughter was at the Central Police Station, Jose Fernandes, No. 778 Ruth avenue, went there with his wife and through an interpreter, asked that his daughter be returned to them.

When she left home last Friday, Esperanza went to the home of Mrs. Mary Underwood, No. 551 Towne avenue. She knew Mrs. Underwood and asked protection. Mrs. Underwood heard the girl's story, and yesterday afternoon decided it was a case for the police.

The girl was placed in the matron's department of the City Jail until she could be taken to the Detention Home. When her father and mother arrived, she was sent for.

On one side of Capt. Lehnhausen's office sat the girl and on the opposite side were her parents, none giving any sign that they knew the others were present.

The girl briefly recited her story saying that she was cruelly beaten by both parents and then treated to gross indignities by her father.

The parents attempted to protest, but Esperanza was firm, and the parents were told to return to their home and prepare for a hearing, the date of which will be set later.

ADVOCATES OF ROUGH STUFF.

LABOR UNION LEADER SNEAKS INTO TOWN AGAIN.

CORNELIUS, OF SAN FRANCISCO, DODGES DETECTIVES.

JOINS LIEUTENANT HERE, BUT IS IN HIDING.

Richard Cornelius, former head of the Carmens' Union in the North, who disappeared from San Francisco early last week, when his presence was greatly desired by Attorney Earl Rogers to answer questions which would aid in the capture of the thugs responsible for the destruction of the Times Building and for the death of The Times employees, is in hiding in Los Angeles.

He was seen making a covered entrance into the Labor Temple in company with a man who goes by the name of Dodge, who is at present Cornelius' lieutenant in a persistent attempt to unionize the platform men on the electric lines of this city.

Cornelius' place of residence in the city is unknown, as his whereabouts is carefully guarded by union labor leaders, but it is said that he is in possession of facts that might aid in the arrest of The Times dynamiters.

When an attempt was made to locate him in San Francisco he slipped out of town and is reported to have shaved off his mustache to alter his personal appearance as much as possible.

"Dodge" appears at the present time as an able dicipline of the "Doctrine of Rough Stuff," as expounded by Cornelius, but the 150 carmen who were to form the platform men's union and lead the promised strike have vanished in thin air.

STRAIGHT TIP.

STORM LOSSES NOT SO HEAVY.

FLORIDA ORANGE CROP WILL, HOWEVER, BE SHORT.

Will Probably Be Two Million Boxes Less That Last Year—Citrus Shipments From Southern California Will, at Least, Be Above Normal—Dividing Up Territory.

The real facts about the loss of the Florida orange crop came to light in Los Angeles yesterday when F. Q. Story, president of the California Citrus Fruit Exchange, received a telegram from R. P. Burton, general sales manager of the Florida Citrus Exchange, announcing that this loss will not be more than 10 or 12 per cent.

Mr. Burton also conveyed the interesting information that the Florida crop for this year will be 60 per cent of what it was last year, minus whatever loss is suffered from the recent severe storms there.

It is too early for a comprehensive estimate of what the Southern California crop will be, but from all reports thus far received Mr. Story estimates that this year's crop will probably reach 40,000 carloads and that there is a possibility that it may total 50,000 cars.

In the latter event, the crop will break all previous records for this section. In 1908 the crop amounted to 40,000 cars, but this last year not more than 30,000 cars were shipped East from the local market. Of this number 5000 cars were lemons. In 1908 6000 cars of lemons were sent East. The Florida crop last year was about 6,000,000 boxes. They evidently expect between 3,500,000 and 4,000,000 boxes this year.

The matter is so handled from the standpoint of the traffic managers of the Southern railroads that the Florida people get most of the Southern and middle Western trade, and even when their supply is short, no special effort is made by the California growers to reach that trade. The railroads of the South charge a blanket rate and also a local rate when the Western people attempt to compete with that market, and as the demand for the Western fruit in the Eastern cities is more than equal to the Western supply, it is of no profit for the Los Angeles men to try to break into Dixie.

In company with George A. Charters, the Chicago agent of the local citrus people, Mr. B. A. Woodford, general manager of the California Exchange, has just concluded a six weeks tour of Eastern and Canadian agencies. He reports to Los Angeles people that the prospects are excellent for a large volume of business in the East this coming year.

ROBBED AT DEVOTIONS.

Worshiper in Cathedral Finds Handbag Looted of Cash and Purchases and Sees Man Disappear.

While kneeling in prayer in the Cathedral of St. Vibiana late yesterday afternoon, Mrs. Penelope Carroll of Sierra Madre was robbed of her purse, containing $6.50, a pair of new black kid shoes and a pair of rubbers, which she had purchased but a short time before. Mrs. Carroll reported the matter to the detectives.

Mrs. Carroll could give no description of the man as she said he disappeared through the doorway before she could see his face. She entered the Cathedral about 2:30 after finishing her shopping, and placed her handbag, containing the shoes, rubbers and purse on the seat beside her. She did not hear the clasp of her handbag opened, but when she had completed her devotions she turned to pick it up and noticed that it was very light. She hastily opened it and discovered that she had been robbed.

POTATOES TOO CHEAP.

James Psilos was arraigned before Justice Baird yesterday on a charge of having obtained a carload of potatoes by false pretense from the Marston & Marton Produce Company. He is alleged to have been disposing of the tubers at less than cost when his creditors became aware of his duplicity. He will be examined on November 14.

POSTPONEMENT.

WOULD DIVIDE LAND OF BALDWIN ESTATE.

THE PROGRAMME of selling off portions of the "Lucky" Baldwin estate to pay indebtedness due, was temporarily halted in Judge Rives' court yesterday, when on the motion of Hull McClaugherey husband of Anita Baldwin McClaughery, the approval of the first account current of H. A. Unruh, executor of the estate, and of eight sales of real estate, was postponed for one week. McClaughery is a practicing attorney in San Francisco, in addition to being one of the sons-in-law of the dead horseman, and a beneficiary under his will.

In asking that these matters be allowed to go over a week, McClaughery made the statement that the heirs were desirous of knowing how the affairs of the estate stood. The work of checking up the various sales of land reported by the executor, was now being done in San Francisco, he said, and he thought the task would be concluded by next Monday.

He stated that it was his understanding it was the intention to sell only enough of the land to pay the debts of the estate, and he believed this had been done. If so, he desired to see the distribution of the remaining property made to the heirs.

Judge Rives said that in his opinion Executor Unruh could sell the entire Baldwin holding under the will of the testator, but there was no disposition on the part of the court to be discourteous to the attorney, and the question of confirming the report and sales went over until Monday.

After the adjournment of court, McClaughery stated that the only reason for the action that had been taken was the desire on the part of the heirs to stop the further sale of land, provided enough had been sold to clear the estate of the indebtedness. He had no charge of mismanagement to make against Executor Unruh.

Bradner W. Lee, who represented Unruh, made no objection to the postponement of the mater for a week, if the heirs desired it so. Unruh declared that nothing would come of the action so far as holding up the future sales of land was concerned.

"McClaughery has just been admitted to the bar and he is a little cheesty, that's all," said Unruh.

The first account current of Executor Unruh, covering the period from April 7, 1909, to March 31, 1910, shows the receipts from various sources to have been, $1,125,011.60; expenditures, including $416,599.13 mortgage held by the Hibernia Savings and Loan Society of San Francisco, were $1,008,325.55; leaving a balance on hand of $128,681.05. The notes and mortgages on account of different payments, are $391,290.44; sales confirmed, deeds made remaining unsettled in escrow with the Title Guarantee and Trust Company, cash, $123,397.36; mortgages, $230,603.25; sales confirmed and cancelled, cash, $7572.25; mortgages, $16,769.45; sums not available pending settlement of title in connection with Rancho Potrero de Felipe Lugo, $14,341.67.

The funeral expenses of Baldwin were $1942.40; expenses of his last sickness, including a payment of $15,000 to Dr. J. W. Trueworthy, were $15,894.80. Judgements, mortgages and notes, $1,431,744.08; general creditors, amount allowed, $78,472.45; claims rejected, $291,604.04; claims under advisement, $140,005.64; claims presented and withdrawn, $913.20; claims rejected and suits brought by the parties, include the actions of H. H. Crass, John Carson and Hubert C. Chivers, A. D. McEvoy, W. Clem Creveling, W. W. Jenkins, John H. Temple, administrator of Frank Temple, and the estate of Eugene Germain.

The eight sales of real estate held up by the order of the court, amounted to $26,040.

GOOD CLEAN-UP.

POLICE JUDGE WILL DRIVE OUT LOAFERS.

VAGRANTS, beggars, suspicious-appearing persons, and others whose lack of employment causes them to idle about the streets and wait for temptation and opportunity to open a path for petty crimes were told by Police Judge Rose yesterday morning what they may expect.

"I am giving the most of you East Side 'moochers' ten days this time, but if you ever show up here again, its six months for yours, and don't forget it."

Judge Rose then proceeded to call and dispose of about forty cases in about the same number of minutes. He set a record for speedy police court routine.

He required all the police officers who made the arrests to be in the court room at 9:30 sharp. Then like a scythe he went through the work.

The complaints were unfolded and spread out on the table before him and as fast as he could read the charge the prisoner rose from his seat, entered his plea, heard what the arresting officer had to say, and a few seconds later was marching away to begin serving his sentence.

Explanations, apologies and other schemes which a number of prisoners always have ready to sell failed to get them sympathy.

"I am going to clean out East First street first and then I am going to start in on other parts of the city, and I think this class of men will very quickly see that Los Angeles is no winter resort where money for drinks can be had for the asking," the court declared, while writing the sentences in his book. "These ten-day sentences are just suggestions to get out of town, and you fellows better learn that it is the only short one you will get."

The reason Police Judge Rose gave after leaving the court room was that he had made a tour of the East First street district and had seen enough to know it is time to drive the idlers out of town. With enough work in the city for tradesmen and laborers he can see no honest purpose in anyone loafing.

DON'T COAST, BUT CLIMB.

Murphy's Short Talk to Prisoners in Workhouse Makes a Hit; Also His Cigars.

Thomas Murphy delivered an epigrammatic sermon in the East Side police station Sunday afternoon. The sermon lasted but a few minutes, and when the young speaker left he was accompanied, as far as they could go, by the prisoners. They begged him to come again—to come as he did yesterday with a liberal supply of cigars, candies and apples.

Murphy's talk was kind; not filled with pictures of the wrath to come with many references to the place to which the downward path leads, but cherry with suggestions of what the prisoners can do when released if they will take off their roller skates and climb instead of coasting.

That he had a large audience Murphy commented on. He didn't say that it indicated there are many bad men in Los Angeles, but rather that the Los Angeles police have a means and eagerness to arrest all possible who are bad.

"How many of you deserve to be in here?" Murphy asked.

They all raised their hands.

"You are very truthful," he remarked. Then opening a box of cigars he passed them through the crowd that had gathered about him, a crowd which the jailer said included every man in the workhouse. Then he mounted a box.

While the smoke curled up from the weeds Murphy talked. He told them that he would speak but a few minutes, and he kept his word.

"Drink brought most of you here and it will probably bring some of you back again. Beware of it, for it leads to petty larceny. Petty larceny leads to grand larceny, and grand larceny on up the scale of crime until you go inside for months and even years where now you are in for days," he said.

"Fight against it. Some people may be prejudiced against you when you get out and look for work, but I am not, and if you can't find anything to do come around and see me and I will get a job for each and every one of you within twenty-four hours."

Then Murphy told of other men he had known. Some he said had fought against drink and had won, and he noticed they were not present. Others, he said, had fought against it and hadn't won, and those he saw before him. The hands of several went up.

The prisoners made Murphy promise to come next Sunday.

"That's all right for you fellows who will be here next Sunday, but how about us?" one of the men asked.

"Well, do what he told you not to and you will be here to hear him," was the answer.

JUST COULDN'T RESIST.

Colored Man, Whose Front Name is Minnie, Comes to Grief on a Joy Ride.

A warrant will be asked by Deputy Dist.-Atty. Hill this morning for the arrest of Minnie Hays, on the charge of "joy riding."

Minnie, though the name would suggest Marcel waves, rats and puffs, is a man and very black. The charge of "joy riding" is in reality a mistake, as the ride ended very soon after it began, and the machine, which started as a fine big tourmig car, ended in a ditch as a pile of junk.

The complaint was made yesterday afternoon by D. P. Hogan, proprietor of the Westlake stables and garage, who was Hays's employer.

Hogan told the District Attorney that he sent Hays to the home of J. A. Fortham in Hollywood, Sunday night, to get Mrs. Fortham's machine and return with it to the garage. Hays, he said, obtained the auto, and, meeting some of his negro friends, invited them to take a ride.

Late Sunday night when Hays had not appeared with the car, Hogan started an investigation and found the machine badly broken. He is now looking for Hays.

MUST MAKE NO STREAKS.

Eyebolts in Hall of Records to Support Trolley Wires to Be of Clean Sort.

The Board of Supervisors yesterday determined that no ordinary eyebolts will be put in the sides of the new Hall of Records to support the trolley wires on Broadway.

The Pacific Electric Railway Company, in a letter, suggested that it would be advisable to devise a scheme whereby a trolley pole in front of the building might be eliminated. It promised to bear the expense of putting in eyebolts in the side of the building and of making any necessary repairs.

The supervisors were pleased with the idea of getting rid of the pole in front of the stately structure, but they had visions of wintry rains and long streaks of rust running down the snow-white sides of the building.

They decided to grant the request with one condition. The proviso to be that the eyebolts shall be so fortified that they will be able to withstand the attacks of the elements. The officials do not care whether the metal is covered with gold, enamel, porcelain or celluloid, but there is going to be trouble if the eyebolts spread themselves about in streaks.

THE MEAN THING.

Nurses at the County Hospital Are Victims of a Thief Who Steals Their Jewelry.

While the nurses were on duty in the County Hospital Sunday night, a thief broke into their rooms and stole rings, cuff buttons and other articles of jewelry totaling about $150 in value. The victims, Misses Miller, Greathouse and Varble, reported the matter to the detectives yesterday afternoon.

The Earl Fruit Company, having an office at No. 323 Citizens' National Bank Building, reported that the combination of their safe had been manipulated and $70 in cash and a small amount in stamps taken.

Frank Finkenstein, who conducts a poolroom, at No. 115 South Main street, reported to the police yesterday afternoon that his poolroom had been entered Sunday night and about $60 in cash stolen.

Oil Lands Are Involved.

The Buena Vista Land and Development Company has filed recently thirteen suits in ejectment against the Honolulu Consolidated Oil Company to recover possession of two whole sections of oil land in the Elk Hills district, and parts of other sections. It is claimed that the Honolulu Company is holding possession of the lands by armed force.

PUBLIC SERVICE—OFFICIAL DOINGS

SUMMARY OF THE DAY.

A delegation of citizens of Boyle Heights appeared before the legislative committee of the City Council yesterday, to protest against the condemnance of brick yards.

The hearing of the objections to the report of the referees in the proposed widening of Compton avenue, from Vernon to Slauson avenues, began in Department Five yesterday.

AT THE CITY HALL.

FIGHT AGAINST BRICK YARDS.

BOYLE HEIGHTS PEOPLE ASK THAT THEY MOVE ON.

Jolly Joe Simons Says They Ought to Be Regulated, and He's Agreed, But Wants Equal Rights—Relief Asked From the Fire-Escape Ordinance.

The latest manufacturing establishments to be asked to "move on," are the Boyle Heights brick yards. They were represented before the City Council Legislative Committee yesterday by several managers, to defend their right to stay where they are.

The petitioners complain that the soot and gas from the oil burned in the brick kilns, soils their houses and clothing, and makes living unbearable by day and sleep next to impossible at night. They cheerfully assented to the statement that the brick yards were there first, when there was nobody to "kick," but now the yards are surrounded by residences, and others who have purchased lots in that section of the city complain that they do not wish to build while the nuisance exists, and they are unable to sell, for the same reason.

There was a disposition on the part of the committee to make an exception of one of the yards and recommend that all the others be notified to "move on," but Joe Simons put up a good-natured fight for a "square deal." He declared that the yards could and should be regulated; that they needed smoke-consumers and higher stacks; that he is in favor of equal treatment all the way around, and is ready to comply, but was opposed to any action that would give one company the advantage over the other.

It was finally agreed to take the matter under advisement for another week, and meantime the opinion of the City Attorney will be taken on the subject.

WHO IS THIS ONE?

FIRE ESCAPE CAUSES APPEAL.

Three citizens yesterday signed and filed with the City Clerk, a petition asking the Council to change the ordinance, which makes new regulations for fire escapes and stand-pipes, so that it will apply only to buildings hereafter erected. They are U. S. Frye, J. M. Close and W. L. Buell, who utter a prayer for Goo-Goo sympathy and take a sly punch at a former Mayor.

"We know that a former Mayor, not belonging to the Good Government," says the petition, "is in the business of constructing fire escapes now, and he and others make great profit with every change in the ordinance. We have a strong faith in Good Government, and hope you will investigate and change the ordinance, so as to apply only to new buildings.

Wherefore, the signers seemingly suppose, that in order to knock a former Mayor, "not belonging to Good Government," the ordinance will forthwith be changed.

OBJECT TO DAM.

WOES OF STREET OFFICIALS.

It's often "out of the frying pan into the fire", with the city Street Department. The street officials have just been pluming themselves over the completion of certain culverts on West Adams street, when appears a swift kick, accompanied by threats of a damage suit, from Adams street and Hobart boulevard.

"Since the new culvert has been placed by the city across West Adams street, at Hobart Boulevard," says the complaint filed with the Board of Public Works, "it has acted as a dam, blocking the ordinary gutters in such a manner as to back up the great volume of storm water that comes down West Adams street, even in an ordinary rain, flooding the walks to a far greater extent than before the raised culvert was built."

It is set forth by the complainants, J. C. Briggs and two of his tenants in a brick store building at that corner, that on October 16 the water flooded the walks and almost entered the store, and that with a heavy rain the latter will undoubtedly be flooded, and the city will be held for damages. The matter was given into the hands of the City Engineer.

CITY HALL BRIEFS.

GERMANS ASK REDUCTION.

The German Singing societies of the city filed a petition asking to be relieved of paying a tax of $25 a month, for liquor privileges, but that they be required to secure permits, at given times, for which they be charged about.

The Colegrove Board of Trade appeals five dollars.

to the City Council for relief from the "deplorable condition of the tracks and the service," on the Colegrove line of the Los Angeles Pacific Railway. They say they made a similar appeal three months ago without result.

Health Officer Powers asks the City Council to amend the salary ordinance, changing one meat inspector to an inspector of animal slaughter, at a salary of $110 per month. This will save the Health Board $30 a month, and give it one meat inspector and five slaughter inspectors.

HE CAN'T STAY HERE.

In the U. S. District Court yesterday morning Judge Wellborn dismissed the appeal from the order of deportation recently granted by U.S. Commissioner Van Dyke in the case of Lee Quon. When the deportation order was granted Quon's attorney filed an appeal. The evidence that he expected to form the basis of the appeal, however, he was unable to obtain. Quon will be taken to San Francisco to-morrow by Deputy U. S. Marshall Durlin, for embarkation to China.

OSTERHAUT ARRAIGNED.

G. J. Osterhaut of Whittier, who was arrested several weeks ago for using the mails to exploit a fraud, appeared in District Judge Wellborn's court yesterday for arraignment. He will appear next Monday to plead.

Texas Has an Oil Gusher.

Well No. 1 of the Paystreak Oil Company at Markham, Texas, is said to be the greatest oil producer in that State. The well has been flowing since the first week in August at the rate of 100 barrels a day.

AT THE COURTHOUSE.

FIGHTING FOR FINAL CONTROL.

ALL NIGHT AND DAY BANK THE VALUABLE PRIZE.

Former Officers Bud State Superintendent of Banks, His Deputies and New Directors and Make Charges in Regard to Conduct of Institution by Anderson.

The interminable litigation affecting the All Night and Day Bank, took on a new complexion yesterday, when the deposed officers and directors, under an order of Judge Bordwell brought an action against Alden Anderson, State Superintendent of Banks, Henry E. Sherer, deputy superintendent, Robert Wankowski, special deputy superintendent, in connection with L. C. Brand, J. T. Cooper, Roy I. Cline, B. F. Cline, Henry W. Meyer, J. S. Moore and W. R. Letton, the new officers and directors, asking that the defendants be directed to surrender the business and property of The All Night and Day Bank to the plaintiffs. The latter are All Night and Day Bank, Newton J. Skinner, W. J. Conner, H. R. Stafford, C. E. Shank, W. Otis Morton, J. L. Conner and C. F. Eletch.

The allegations of the petition are that the Superintendent of Banks had not ordered the bank to discontinue alleged violations of its articles of incorporation, or discontinue its alleged unsafe or injurious practices; that no hearing had been had by the Superintendent of Banks on account of these charges; that the Superintendent of Banks had been in close touch with the affairs of The All Night and Day Bank for the past six months, and knew there was no reason for closing the doors of the institution, and that the statements of L. C. Brand and his colleagues were without warrant of law and untrue; that Robert Wankowski is still in charge of the bank, as special deputy superintendent, which was closed October 14.

PLAYED THE PONIES.

DEFENDANT IN DIVORCE.

Alva C. Case, a clerk in one of the fashionable department stores of this city, was defendant in a divorce action yesterday, on the ground of extreme cruelty, and a decree was granted his wife, Mabel Case, by Judge Hutton.

Mrs. Case is a musician, and has been supporting herself giving lessons in Blanchard Hall, since her husband refused to support her. They were married in Chicago in 1904, where he led a fast and merry clip, making necessary for him after coming to Los Angeles, to turn over part of his wages to the payment of gambling debts made in that city.

The wife testified that he spent his money on horse races and prize fights, and had nothing for her. He also treated her with extreme cruelty, and the witness gave several instances of such action on his part. When her mother died in Chicago, it was necessary for her father to send her money to make the trip, the husband refusing to do so, and after she got there, hubby wired father-in-law not to allow Mabel to come back as he wanted nothing to do with her. But she did come back, and has been supporting herself ever since.

PHILIPINO TROOPER BUT DIDN'T SUPPORT WIFE.

Philip J. McDonnell, an inmate of the Soldiers' Home, who served with distinction with Lawton in the Filipino campaign for three years, and who is Commander of the Post of Spanish War veterans at the home, was defendant in a divorce action in Judge Hutton's court, yesterday. The charge preferred by Bridget McDonnell was extreme cruelty.

McConnell served in the Twentieth Montana Regiment in the Philippines, and it was in Butte that he married his wife. It was her second venture on the sea of matrimony.

There was nothing in the evidence out of the ordinary, McDonnell left his wife two years ago, and never returned. Just now he is suffering with a broken leg received while trying to climb a pole in Santa Monica. He wanted to show some of the boys how Aguinaldo got out of the way on an occasion when he was being pressed hard, and fell to the ground, injuring himself severely. Two lots owned by McDonnell, one in Ocean Park and one in Butte, were given to the wife.

COURTHOUSE NOTES.

BREVITIES MISCELLANEOUS.

BACK TO WORK.—Judge George R. Davis, of Department Twelve, resumed work yesterday, after a brief outing with Mrs. Davis, in San Francisco. They made the trip from Los Angeles on the steamer President, and spent about ten days brousing around the Golden Gate.

OFF FOR SAN QUENTIN.—Judge Willis, yesterday, sentenced A. Duke, who had been found guilty of inflicting an assault with intent to commit murder upon a fellow worker employed at the grading camp near Sherman, to three years in San Quentin Prison.

CASTINE ESTATE.—Judge Rives yesterday consented to the appointment of Emil Schulze-Castine as administrator of the estate of Frieda Schulze-Castine, who, on August 12, was killed by Otto Shulze-Castine. Emil is the foster son of the dead woman, and it is alleged that he is also a brother of the murderer of the woman, who is now in the County Jail awaiting trial on the charge of murder. The estate is valued at $6000.

SUIT ON NOTE.—An action was brought by The Mason Company, to foreclose a mortgage and note for $12,500, given by Edward and Minnie A. Gulrado, March 25, 1904, and due in three years, to G. H. DuBois, who afterward transferred and assigned it to George Mason, in March, 1909. Mason died, and the suit is brought by the corporation organized by the heirs of the Mason Estate. The mortgage covers land located in the Rancho Paso de Bartolo.

INCORPORATIONS.—Articles of incorporation were filed yesterday by the Moneta Commercial and Savings Bank, capital stock, $25,000, incorporators, C. R. Casler, Thomas Biggert, B. L. Hayden, H. J. Harris, James T. Dun, Jean Logier and M. W. Bailey, subscribed, $500; McDowell & Company, capital stock, $10,000, incorporators, W. P. McDowell, Otis T. Helmer and John S. Gartner, subscribed, $2; Provident Loan Association, capital stock, $250,000, incorporators, J. Weinberger, H. Musser, E. B. Dukeman, W. B. Brierly and Thomas J. Fry, subscribed, $500; Pomona Recreation Club, capital stock, $10,000, incorporators, W. M. Avis, F. E. Harrison, G. W. Affleburch, A. C. Tate, D. C. Crookshank, F. L. Somers, M. H. Potter and James R. Johnson, subscribed, $2500; Metropolitan Realty and Amusement Company, capital stock, $50,000, incorporators George A. Howell, H. L. Skinner and A. C. Howell, subscribed, $100; Pacific Ocean Power Company, capital stock, $10,000, incorporators, Wm. N. Brassington, Charles J. Stonebarn and George D. Snyder, subscribed, $2.

Joseph Goodrich Power Tool Company, capital stock, $200,000, incorporators, Joseph Goodrich, Charles J. Barry, Harry M. Frye, A. L. Jameson and J. W. Dowdle, subscribed, $2; Minotaime Oil and Refining Company, capital stock, $50,000, incorporators, George W. Clark, H. J. Clark, P. R. Longley, H. G. Bennison and Charles Strasser, subscribed, $25.

THE INFERIOR COURTS

UNION PICKETS COME TO TRIAL.

CASE OF HINXTON WILL BE TAKEN UP TODAY.

Plenty of Evidence Against the Loud-Mouthed Harangurers Who Tried to Intimidate Free Workingmen and Many Convictions Looked for by City Prosecutor.

Firmly believing that the disagreement of the jury in the trial of F. Lopez casts no reflection on the competence of the evidence, Assistant City Prosecutor Reeve will try the case of J. H. Hinxton in Police Court today. Hinxton was the "fifth speaker of the day" in meeting the unionite pickets held in the vicinity of the Llewellyn Iron Works on August 5 to intimidate the men at work inside.

Hinxton, with several others, made fiery speeches, and was taken into custody and later released to await trial.

Three days are allowed for the drawing of the jury and the rendering of its verdict, and then the case against L. Carlson, another of the loud-mouthed harangurers, will face a jury.

The prosecution will proceed with the case of every striker cited for trial despite the outcome of the cases, as it is sure that with a fair-minded jury, nothing but a conviction can result.

On next Monday the case of C. Lewis will be called, and in this trial the prosecution declares the conviction is certain, as the nature of the evidence is different.

After Lewis's trial a series of others will be called. In each the evidence is the same as in the Lewis case.

CONDEMNATION HEARING.

REPORT OF REFEREES.

The hearing of the objections to the report of the referees, James F. Thompson, D. F. Anderson and John R. Taylor, in the matter of the condemnation of land necessary for the widening of Compton avenue from Vernon to Slauson avenue, began in Department Five, yesterday. The style of the action of the city of Los Angeles against Napoleon Zillincar and about 100 other defendants. Eighteen days were consumed by the referees in making the appraisement.

The estimated cost of the improvement as shown by the report of the referees, is about $200,000. The most of the values returned in the report are for comparatively small sums, and there are less than a dozen objectors to the appraisement as made by the committee of three free-holders.

NO POKER ALONE.

AND OTHERS WERE THERE.

Because Police Judge Rose maintained that a man could not play a successful game of draw poker unless he had some one to play with, Mill Vance, arrested Sunday on a charge of gambling, for a time saw his chances of release loom quite large. One of the officers from the East Side Police Station, however, appeared in court a few minutes after the case was called and testified that there were others in the game, but they got away when Vance was arrested. Vance was then fined $10.

J. D. Christ was up on a similar charge but he maintained that he was not gambling. Reference to the parcel of complaint however showed that there was a charge of violating the liquor ordinance and the court dismissed the gambling charge and let Christ off with a $100 fine on the latter charge.

As evidence against Christ, several cases of beer were displayed. The liquor was found, the police officers stated, in Christ's home on South Eastlake avenue between Darwin and Main. Vance was arrested in the same place.

Swift Fines From Speeders.

Judge Rose set a new speed record in collecting fines from automobile speeders yesterday morning when he realized $200 at the rate of $25 a minute. S. M. Shicabargh, J. H. Mc. Myers, W. A. McMaster, George Leach, C. T. Covell, F. B. Schoemaker, J. R. Miller and Edward Bender all of whom were arrested by Motorcycle Patrolman Coe and Gardner pleaded guilty to exceeding the speed limit and one at a time filed up to the desk and deposited $25 fine.

Assault With Deadly Weapon.

Antonio Rogales was held for trial in the Superior Court on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon, when his case was called in Justice Chambers's court yesterday afternoon. Bail was set at $1000, which Rogales said he would be unable to furnish. Rogales is charged with stabbing the porter employed in a saloon on Main street, when the latter threw him out of the place. The attack on the porter was made last Friday, according to the officer patroling the beat. Rogales was arrested Friday afternoon.

They're Fined and Warned.

As a result of strenuous measures on the part of the police department Sunday night and yesterday morning to clean out places of questionable standing, seven young women were fined $25 each and warned not to place themselves in a position which would warrant another appearance in police court.

Gilmore Held for Trial.

Joseph Gilmore, charged with stealing a check from a letter given him to mail, was held for trial in the Superior Court, in Justice Chambers's court yesterday afternoon. Bail was set at $1500, which he was unable to furnish.

MISSING WILL REAPPEARS.

WILKESBARRE (Pa.) Oct. 24.—Early in the Spring when Charles D. Foster, an attorney banker and large real estate owner of this city, died it was found that his will disposing of an estate valued at $500,000, had law office. The affair remained been abstracted from a safe in his mystery until today when the lost will was received by mail by a local bank from New York. No writing of any kind accompanied the document. In the absence of a will several of the heirs had begun litigation over the estate.

ARIZONA.

BOUNDARY IS TROUBLESOME.

NEW STATE-MAKERS HAVE A HARD NUT TO CRACK.

PORTION OF CITY OF YUMA IS POINT IN DISPUTE.

TREATIES AND RIVER CHANGES ADD TO DIFFICULTY.

[Special Correspondence of The Times.]

PHOENIX (Ariz.) Oct. 22.—The Constitutional convention has turned back to the presenting committee the second proposition on which the Constitution of the new State of Arizona shall be based. It is the section which defines the boundary lines of the new State and there is a possibility that even congressional action may be invoked before the matter has been settled.

It is barely possible that a tract of several thousand acres in the extreme southwestern corner, embracing the northern half of the town of Yuma and a considerable part of its business section, may legally belong to California, though that State has made no claim upon it and probably would cheerfully surrender its claim if a proper mode of procedure could be devised for such an action.

Following the Mexican war, the treaty of Guadalupe Hidalgo established the international line to a point at the intersection of the Gila and Colorado rivers, thence running to a monument three leagues south of San Diego. The Gila was made the southern boundary line of the United States along the course of that stream, which has its source near what now is known as Silver City, New Mex.

It should be observed that the direction given from the junction of the two streams made no allowance for the fact that the Colorado, from the point of confluence with the Gila, makes a bend to the northward. It must be apparent that no monument could be established at the junction point, but one was erected, later, just back of Penitentiary Hill, within the limits of the city of Yuma, in line with the old-time mouth of the Gila, the stream having since changed its course about half a mile. Following this line to its intersection and continuation in the present southern boundary line of California leaves to the northward the old Arizona penitentiary, the Southern Pacific depot and bridge, the Reclamation Service offices on a tract that once was used as an army quartermaster's depot, the "scoop wheel" pumping plant of the Reclamation Service and the great siphon under the Colorado, several important business blocks of the town, much residental property and a stretch of very valuable farming land that will have additional value as soon as water is brought through the siphon from the Laguna Dam, upon which such a large share of the future of the locality depends.

When the Territory of New Mexico was established, in 1850, the same corner was defined at the junction of the two streams, that portion of the locality affected thus legally being placed within the new Territory and the United States.

In 1854, by the Gadsden Purchase, was acquired by the United States the locality then known as Pimaria, lying south of the Gila River as far as 31 deg. 20 min. of north latitude, at a point near the present city of Nogales, whence the line was drawn to the northwest to a point nearly twenty miles southwest of Yuma. There it struck the Colorado, the course of that stream being followed northward to a junction with the line of California theretofore established. This added territory was given New Mexico.

In 1863 Arizona was created from the western half of New Mexico, its northern line at first extending tarough to the eastern line of California on the 35th parallel of latitude. It thus embraced what is now the southern part of Nevada. The wedge was later given by Congress to Nevada, though the first Legislature of Arizona allotted a delegate from that section, designated as the county of Ute. It never had county government while a part of Arizona.

The first definition of the land district of Los Angeles, created in 1875, follows the line from the junction of the Gila and Colorado "southwesterly to the Pacific Ocean."

The question has been brought into court only once. It came before Judge Ross of the Federal Court for the Southern District of California, on a habeas corpus application made by Calvert Wilson, a Los Angeles lawyer, who sought the release of a client and of all other Arizona convicts imprisoned at the Arizona penitentiary at Yuma, on the ground that they had been ordered imprisoned in Arizona, while the real location of their prison was in California. Judge Ross simply dismissed the application on the broad ground that to sustain the contention would be an action against public policy.

WILL ENLARGE PLANT.

Riverside Portland Cement Company is to Have Greater Capacity and Bigger Payroll.

RIVERSIDE, Oct. 23.—To keep pace with its contracts, the Riverside Portland Cement Company is to increase the capacity of its plant soon by additions which will represent an expenditure of about $400,000. At present the capacity is about 2000 barrels daily. This will be increased to 4500 barrels. It is expected that the additions will be completed by May, 1911.

Four new kilns will be installed, and the number of ball mills will be doubled. These will come from the Krupp Steel Works, Germany. Ten tube mills and additional elevators, conveyors and other machinery will be installed, and the cement storage house will be doubled in size.

This additional equipment will necessitate a large increase in the number of men employed. The present force is 240 men, and the monthly payroll is about $30,000. A number of new inventions will be introduced, among them a modification of the Cottrell process of abating the dust nuisance.

THROWN BY COLLISION.

Gus Hoberg and his wife narrowly escaped serious injury last night when the buggy in which they were driving to their West Riverside home was struck by an electric car at the corner of Seventh and Pepper streets. They were thrown out and the vehicle was demolished. Both sustained only minor injuries. The accident was caused by the horse becoming blinded by the headlight of the car and turning across the track.

HOLD DOLLIVER MEMORIAL.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24.—Memorial services for the late Senator J. P. Dolliver, of Iowa, were held here today in the Foundry Methodist church. The church was draped in black, and the altar was banked high with wreaths. Secretary of Agriculture Wilson, Bishop Earl Cranston and Bishop Charles Osborne of Oregon delivered eulogies.

LETTERS TO THE TIMES.

Agricultural Park Assessments.

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 22.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Agricultural Park has been saved to the State of California and it will be used by all the people of Los Angeles, residents and visitors alike. The improvements are being pushed to completion and eventually Los Angeles will have in this park one of the finest collections of public buildings in the West. The park will be a blessing, provided boomers and schemers do not boost it into a burden.

Already three assessments for adding property to the park have been put upon property owners within the district bounded by Washington street, Main street, Manchester avenue and the western city limits. Others are threatened, and heading the list in point of time is the assessment for the thirteen acres at the south of the park along Santa Barbara avenue. But thousands of property owners have balked at added assessments. A city government that will assess and continue to assess special taxes against any one section of the city is manifesting a perversion. Without personal feeling against any one, the people of the southwest have decided to protest. If four assessments can be levied against any particular number of citizens for a purpose that benefits the entire city, then fourteen assessments can be levied, and in fact there is no limit to these possible special taxes. Already the property in this district is laboring under a heavy disadvantage because of these assessments.

Agricultural Park was squared up under the administration of the former Council. It was extended easterly to Figueroa street and northerly to Wesley avenue, and wide entrances were provided from Vermont avenue. The proposition to change the assessment district for the taking of the strip of thirteen acres at the south of the park, so that it will run northerly to Washington instead of Jefferson street is a mere subterfuge and, while a little fairer because it would include more people, does not change the facts at issue.

These continued special tax assessments are wrong in principle; they are unfair, they do not represent the square deal; and furthermore they constitute a dangerous precedent.

Agricultural Park is owned by the State of California, and the City Council has been warned by one of the trustees of the park that trouble may result with the State from further attempts to add other territory, under a different supervision, to the State property.

Wm. M. Bowen, who saved this park to the State of California, has repeatedly stated that no more territory was required or desired for the park.

If the city of Los Angeles deems it wise at this time to continue to contract indebtedness; if Japanese gardens must be had at $100,000; and if Agricultural Park must be further extended where no necessity exists for extension, then let the entire city pay the bills. It is idle to attempt to inject the car barn matter into this subject, for the city has passed an ordinance that car barns may not be built in this residential section.

GREEK CABINET RESIGNS.

ATHENS, Oct. 24.—The Cabinet formed only a few days ago by Deputy Venizelos has resigned for the reason that on every attempt to get a vote of confidence in the national assembly a majority of the members absented themselves. King George, however, this refused to accept the resignations. Today 20,000 citizens held a demonstration in the streets in support of Venizelos.

FEUDISTS FIGHT FATAL DUEL.

EL PASO (Tex.) Oct. 24.—It was reported here that at Valentine, 250 miles east of here, Joel Finley, a prominent cattleman, and Tom Bybee, a deputy sheriff fought a duel with revolvers on the principal street and Finley fired four bullets into Bybee's body, killing him instantly. The encounter was the outgrowth of an old feud. Finley who was uninjured, surrendered to the authorities.

TUESDAY MORNING

THE OIL INDUSTRY.

UNION OIL'S BOND ISSUE.

MEETING TO BE HELD AT OLEUM IN DECEMBER.

EXTRA DIVIDEND IN EFFECT NEXT MONTH.

GENERAL NEWS OF INTEREST FROM OIL FIELDS.

On October 20 the Union Oil Company mailed to its stockholders checks for dividend No. 171, making the total disbursement up to the present time $7,-[illegible].15. In a circular letter accompanying the checks, signed by Lyman Stewart, president of the company, it is stated that the increased dividend recently decided upon by the directors will go into effect on November 30. This dividend will be an increase of 5 per cent., and the total dividend will amount to 60 cents a share a month, or 7.2 per cent. per annum. In this connection President Stewart [illegible]:

"The generally improved conditions of the oil industry of this coast were such as to cause our directors to feel warranted in fixing this early date for the increase in the company's dividends."

At the meeting at Oleum on September 29 of the board of directors of the Union Oil Company, it was voted unanimously to call a meeting of the stockholders on December 8, 1910, to consider the question of a bond issue of $20,000,000 for twenty-five years. This meeting will be held at Oleum, Contra Costa county, at 9 a. m. on December 8, and as the assent of two-thirds of the stock is necessary to carry such a measure, it is urged that every stockholder be represented at the meeting, either in person or by proxy. In discussing conditions in his circular letter President Stewart said:

"The oil price war now being waged between the Standard Oil Company and the Shell Trading & Transportation Company (the next largest oil company in the world) for the markets of Europe and Asia should cause you no anxiety. That war is on refined products, while the bulk of California oil—approximately 80 per cent.—is sold for steam fuel and for purposes and is practically all consumed on the Pacific Coast. There is no other fuel oil in the world near enough to California to disturb the market, as the cost of transporting it here would alone amount to more than the consumers now are paying for their oil delivered in Oleum. We have, therefore, no fears for the oil industry of this Coast from this source.

"It has been computed that the petroleum production of the entire world for 1909 amounted to 304,000,000 barrels, and it is estimated that the production of California alone for 1910 will exceed 25 per cent of this amount."

LOCATORS TAKE HEART.

IN LOST HILLS DISTRICT.

It is said that oil operators in the Lost Hills have recovered to some extent from the shock of the latest withdrawal order, which affects the district, and are again rushing rigs to the field as merrily as ever. Land leasing is still going on, and the work of actual drilling has been hampered to a considerable extent by the necessity of guarding locations from rival claimants.

The new locators are proceeding on the assumption that if they had a location duly filed on the land and a rig and drilling materials ordered when the land was withdrawn from entry, they will be accorded the same rights as if they had actually been drilling, for a time after the notice of withdrawal was received the operators appeared to hesitate about going ahead, even in some cases where they had the rigs on the ground. Some dropped out of the race but there were plenty to take their places.

The Associated Oil Company is almost ready to begin drilling with its standard rig on the west side of the Lost Hills ridge. It has finished laying two miles of its water pipe from the surface well on the slough to its new well.

MELONS ARE TO BE CUT.

OIL COMPANY DIVIDENDS.

Holders of certain California oil stocks will cut several melons next week, the amount to be disbursed by companies under one management during their headquarters in this city will be over $500,000.

The American Oilfields Company will make its first payment amounting to $[illegible]. The other disbursements will be: American Petroleum Company, $[illegible].25; Mexican Petroleum Company, Limited of Delaware, $79,956.51; Mexican Petroleum Company of California, $42,846.05; Huasteco Petroleum Company, $119,127.

E. L. Doheny is president and a large stockholder in all of the above-named oil companies. Many other oil corporations will also disburse dividends this month, so that the total will approximate $1,000,000.

INCREASING PRODUCTION.

IN THE FULLERTON FIELD.

In the Fullerton-Olinda-Brea Canyon district the tendency is to get better all of the time. The Fullerton Oil Company reports two wells completed, one at 2217 feet and the other at 2515 feet with a good production. This company has a production of 50,000 barrels a month. The Orange Oil Company has one well producing an average of 321 barrels a month for three months, and Graham & Loftus have a production of 23,000 barrels a month from thirty-two wells. The Columbia Company, four drilling and eighteen producing, has a production of 47,000 barrels a month. The Industrial Oil Company is running nine strings of tools and has twenty-eight wells producing 45,000 barrels of oil a month. The Union is the largest producer in the field, securing 1000 barrels a month from twenty-three wells. The same conditions are reported of other companies.

Lakeview Flow Declining.

It is stated that the production of the famous Lakeview gusher is shrinking rapidly, and that the evaporation is now so great that added production from little or no increase in the supply reservoirs. The evaporation and seepage of oil in the sump holes is enormous, according to operators—much more than some of them are willing to admit. However, there are so many wells ready to be brought in that the total failure of the Lakeview gusher will have little effect on the general production.

A police of an uptown New York flat-house have in their possession a pair of bonds worth about $75,000, which they picked up yesterday by a patrolman after it had been kicked two or three blocks by a squad of school boy baseball players. One boy gave the ball its final kick which sent it under the wheels leading to a subway station, and the policeman found it.

The "Korrect Shape" Shoe FOR MEN

Winter Tans

The four styles of "Winter Tans" illustrated herewith are offered as conspicuous examples of correctness. They combine the essentials of comfort, durability and smart appearance. There is an air of PROSPERITY about them—an elegance of "line"—that is well defined, without being obtrusive.

Every "Korrect Shape" shoe is intrinsically worth what it is sold for. The manufacturers insist on this. It's a big thing—this having a person's or a public's confidence. It spells success.

Store Service

Gude's idea of "Store Service" is to make every customer say to himself as he goes out: "I like these people. I like their ways. I like their style. As long as they can suit me with the goods, here is the outfit that will get my money."

And the fact that Gude's regular patronage is constantly increasing, is conclusive evidence that this idea comes pretty nearly being lived up to.

Orchard Dale Ranches

High-Class Orange and Lemon Land, Located in the Beautiful "East Whittier" District, 30 Minutes From Los Angeles

Why?

You should buy at Orchard Dale.

BECAUSE: It is a deep, rich, sediment soil which will produce anything that is grown in this climate.

BECAUSE: We have a continual flow of 3-10 of a miner's inch of water, or 583,200 gallons for each 5 acres every 30 days, already piped to each lot and the cost of the water is only the actual cost of production.

BECAUSE: Its electric car service and shipping facilities are unexcelled. Having both the La Habra line of the Pacific Electric and the "Kite Shaped" tract of the Santa Fe.

BECAUSE: Our terms are such that the land will pay for itself by growing vegetables between the trees.

BECAUSE: Our roads are all graded and oiled and our entire water system is a complete success in every detail.

BECAUSE: By buying one of these high-class ranches, it will give you an independent income for life.

Excursions to the tract daily.

VIRTUOUS AND PROGRESSIVE ARIZONA.

The Democrats in the Arizona Constitutional Convention are showing up to the king's taste. Against Col. Mazuma and his satraps in the convention, and in the State Legislature, which, it is hoped, will succeed the convention, the thunders of their indignation and reprehension are directed. They have taken for their motto "Lead us not into temptation." They have provided in the Constitution that no other person, other than a member of a legislative body, shall, without a unanimous vote of its members, be permitted to sit or stand within its hallowed precincts. They say to Col. Mazuma, as Richelieu said in substance to Bavadn's, "Around this legislative chamber we draw the awful circle of our constitutional inhibition, Step but one foot within these sacred bounds, thou lobbying villain, and on thy head, though thy pockets be filled with railroad passes and long green, we launch the curse of the Democratic party."

The virtuous Arizona Democrats are evidently not aware of the fact that Col. Mazuma does not pursue his nefarious calling in the open. Not for him the fierce white light that beats upon a legislative body in session. He does his work in the seclusion of an upper chamber in a hotel. There he lures the virtuous representative from a cow county. There he distributes promises to him with a liberal hand, and if the guileless member will not accept promises, there he gives unto him the coin whose jingle "helps the hurt that honor feels." The Colonel seldom appears in the legislative hall until the voting begins, and then he seats himself in the gallery, where, in the language of the Simon-says-wig-wag code, he can, with thumb and fingers, give directions to the "boughten" Senators and Assemblymen. Once an inexperienced California legislator rushed into a room where a candidate for the United States Senate was seated with his friends, and cried out, "Say, I want something substantial for my vote." The Senatorial aspirant replied with dignity, "You need go no further, sir, there is the door." The abashed legislator skidooed, and the Senator said to his satellites, "I checked him in time, didn't I?" "You didn't check him at all," said one of his friends, "but Abe Meyer will, for he followed him into the hall."

The members of the Phoenix convention now in session baffled the efforts of a measly Democratic delegate, who moved to reduce the compensation of the convention chaplain from five dollars to two dollars per. The baffled one evidently felt that the members of the convention were either past praying for, or else that their virtues were so conspicuous that two dollars worth of daily petitioning to the Throne of Grace would supply all their needs, but the rest of the convention did not agree with either hypothesis, and the preacher now fervently offers five dollars worth of supplication every day for all of the convention members save the two dollar man. He excepts him even as the Democratic members excepted the war amendments from their adoption of the United States Constitution. Concerning the two-dollar man, the chaplain probably offers the prayer of the pious Turk in behalf of the Christian infidel: "Bismillah, upon his head be it. May the dogs howl above his father's grave."

When Idaho was a Democratic Territory her politicians, in order to get rid of the Mormon Republican vote, proposed a test oath law. Under its provisions all candidates for public office were required to take an oath that they had not been guilty for a period of two years previous to the election, and would not be guilty for a period of two years thereafter, of polygamy, or bigamy, or adultery, or concubinage, or any other unlawful amelioration of the acerbities of a bachelor life, and he who could not or would not take this vow of virtue before being inducted into office, would not be suffered to enter upon his job.

After Idaho became a State, Democratic conventions remitted the test oath to the waste basket, for women were voters and sometimes officeholders, and any notary public would resign rather than propose such an oath to a lady.

There are a good many Mormons in Arizona, and they are mostly Republicans. There have been but few polygamists among them. The Arizona Saints would be quite as likely as Gentiles—and much more likely than Democratic Gentiles—to be able to take the Idaho test oath and go into office like Godiva "clothed in their chastity." So it is not likely that the statesmen in the Phoenix convention will monkey much with the Mormon problem.

But with other problems they are prepared to wrestle, and wrestle rigorously, especially with the problem of how to keep the Johnny Come Lately's from obtaining office, to the detriment of the old timers who fought the Apaches—or ran away from them as the case may be—and who have panted for Statehood and its offices, "as the hart panteth for the water brooks."

As a righteous means to this righteous end of keeping newcomers away from the pie counter, it is proposed to provide in the Constitution that five years' residence in Arizona shall be a requisite of eligibility to office. This might be bettered somewhat by providing that only members of the Constitutional Convention shall be eligible for State offices, at the first State election, and while such a provision could not under the Constitution of the United States be extended to United States Senators, or Congressmen, yet, pending such an amendment to the United States Constitution as might be required by Arizona statesmen, it could be provided that only five-year residents should be eligible to receive an "advisory vote" at the direct primary.

There are several progressive features proposed for the Arizona Constitution, which will commend themselves to all lovers of pure government and public virtue. One of these is the clause requiring each legislator to take an oath that he will never, never, hardly ever enter a caucus.

To this might be added with advantage a vow never to attend an opera where the "Gotterdamerung" was sung, and a promise to vote for a law requiring that there shall be painted over the entrance to every race track a paraphrase of the words which Dante says were blazoned above the gates of Tophet: "He who exits from here leaves soap behind."

EXCEEDING THE SPEED LIMIT.

THE TRUTH ABOUT LIBERIA.

The "Back to Africa" movement has received a decided set-back from exposure of the conditions which exist in the Liberian republic, and the methods of government, or rather of mis-government, which prevail there.

Liberia is populated by the descendants of American negroes, who, prior to the Civil War, were sent there by the American Colonization Society, equipped with agricultural and mechanical machinery, seeds, animals, clothing, furniture, merchandise and money, with the expectation that they would gradually civilize and assimilate with the people of adjacent tribes, and build up an African republic that should demonstrate the capacity of the negro race to achieve a high degree of civilization and progress, and that they would establish a government that would command the respect and friendship of the nations of the world, and serve as a factor in solving the then existing problem of African slavery.

Eighty-eight years ago Henry Clay and other humanitarian slaveholders in the South, and Gerret Smith and other abolitionists in the North organized the American Colonization Society. About twelve thousand free negroes and mulattoes were, during that and succeeding years, sent to the west coast of Africa.

These colored men and their descendents have theoretical jurisdiction over 350 miles of West African coast line and 48,000 square miles of West African territory, but practically they occupy only a small area of land back of Monrovia on the seacoast. The population of Liberia is loosely estimated at two millions, but four-fifths or more of it consists of Monammedan Mandingo and Pagan Kru negroes, who have never been civilized or Christianized or affiliated with by the American contingent, and who do not participate in the government of Liberia.

The Monrovia government extorts fines and taxes from these tribes, but otherwise has nothing to do with them. Recently one of the Kru tribes, called the Greebos, revolted against the Monrovia government, because of the oppressive manner in which the Liberians have enslaved the Greebos, burned their homes and killed their youths.

King Gyude, Chief of the Greebos, recently offered their country to England, saying: "The object for which Liberia was colonized has not been realized, and Liberian domination does not make for good government, Christianity or civilization. We are constrained to offer our country to some European power whose methods of colonization are less onerous."

The existence of the Republic of Liberia, ruled as it is by a little band of mulatto thieves and grafters, is maintained by the great European powers—England, France and Germany—from different motives. England wishes to prevent Germany from increasing her possessions in Africa, or from obtaining a coaling depot at Monrovia, and further desires to prevent either France or Germany from securing a supply of voluntary exportable labor from the Kru tribes of the coast line. The African possessions of France surround Liberia on all sides except the seaboard and northwest corner, and France would annex all of Liberia if Germany and England would let her, while Germany would quickly extend her important commercial concerns in West Africa by acquiring Liberia if England and France would let her.

Concerning these conditions and their effect upon the future of Liberia a correspondent of an English magazine writes:

"In the midst of this turmoil of conflicting interests, a handful of American negroes, inflated with the exaggerated notion of their own importance which it has been the policy of the Powers to foster for their own purposes; deeply suspicious of Europeans; utterly incapable of imposing their authority upon the aboriginal population who do not acknowledge them; possessing neither administrators nor soldiers; corrupt and incompetent, play their foolish little farce of self-government, with their Cabinet, Senate, and House of Representatives; indulge in their wretched little disputes, their elections, their religious bickerings, their theological disquisitions; existing at all, not by merit of their own labors or by the fruits of their own toil, but by customs dues levied upon trade between the Europeans and the aborigines, enforced often enough by the raids of an undisciplined militia or by the operation of a solitary gunboat which British philanthropy supplies them with."

The status is at one ludicrous and pathetic, involves the utmost discredit to the Powers who have tolerated it so long, is unfair to the Liberians themselves, gravely unjust to the aboriginal population, and a bar to all possibility of progressive advance on their part.

HALLOWE'EN MEMORIES.

When in my days of early youth
October to its end drew nigh
My chums and I would plan, forsooth,
To set our neighbors' world awry.
On Hollowe'en—portentous name!—
We'd make a topsy-turvy land;
But ah, alas! whene'er it came
We never did the deeds we planned!

Old Deacon Gruff's I see again,
A square, brick house so grim and strange!
I call to mind our councils when
We'd let our youthful fancies range
And plan a "tick-tack" on his pane—
A daring deed, a prospect grand!—
But plotting always proved in vain,
We never did the deeds we planned!

And I recall the preacher's sleigh,
A heavy, old, home-made affair,
Which every year we'd "think" away
Hid in a deep ravine somewhere;
But though we'd labor to the cost
Of skin and breath, 't would always stand
A monument to effort lost—
We never did the deeds we planned!

Sometimes a parent spoiled our fun,
Sometimes we got a whistled cue
To leave before the task was done,
And so escape the "tanning"-due.
Fate, Luck, or Chance—I do not know
Just which it was that stayed our hand,
But I'm assured this much is so—
We never did the deeds we planned!
—[Charles C. Jones, in Puck.

Almost Infallible.

John Corbin, author and playwright, said recently that he had resigned the post of literary director of the New Theater because he disliked the superior air that such offices carry with them.

"You decline play after play," he said. "You make enemy after enemy. You pretend to be infallible, and the pose of your infallibility is an ugly and unpopular one.

"Nobody, you know, wants to be like Blynn's wife.

"That wife of yours,' said a friend of Blynn's sympathetically, 'never admits having made a mistake, does she?'

"'Oh,' said Blynn, with a bitter smile, 'she occasionally allows that she made one mistake when she married me, but she won't admit even that outside the family circle.'"—[Boston Traveler.

Silenced the Woman.

A distinguished novelist recently found himself traveling in a train with two very talkative women. Having recognized him from his published portraits, they opened fire upon him in regard to his novels, praising them in a manner which was unendurable to the sensitive author. Presently the train entered a tunnel, and in the darkness the novelist raised the back of his hand to his lips and kissed it soundingly. When light returned he found the two women regarding one another in icy silence. Addressing them with great suavity, he said, "Ah, ladies, the one great regret of my life will be that I shall never know which of you it was that kissed me."—[The Argonaut.

SCIENCE NOTES.

Water as a Therapeutic.

Simon Baruch of New York claims great things in therapeutics for the various methods of using water. It may be a stimulant when used with a sudden cold dash in faintness, in the asphyxiated infant, in typhoid fever, and in frost bite; as a sedative at a temperature of 10 degrees, the time being prolonged; as a tonic it is well known; as a diuretic it is used frequently; as a diaphoretic it is used in form of the hot pack. Tepid water internally has an emetic effect. As a purgative even the layman uses it. To promote metabolism it is necessary. As an antiseptic it has taken the place of poisonous drugs. As an antipyretic the tepid bath is valuable. In regard to the history, the first advocate of water in therapeutics was Hippocrates. A century later Asclepiades was an earnest advocate of its use. Several hundred years later Paulius Aegineta, in the seventh century, used it in sunstroke. A thousand years elapsed before Vander Heyden taught its application. Currie used it in typhus.

A Scientfic Human Embryo.

By way of Vienna comes the information that Prof. Herrera, a famous Mexican physician, has succeeded in producing a human embryo from ten centigrams carbonate of chloric natron and ten grams of flint mixed carefully, according to certain rules, during twenty-four hours.

Dr. Herrera hopes by further investigation to produce a higher organism.

Measuring Resistance.

An accelerometer has been developed in England by Mr. H. E. Wimperis, by means of which he announces that he had measured the road resistance of various classes of road and had obtained figures varying from 50 pounds to 210 pounds per ton. On main-line railways the resistance was usually from 12 pounds to 30 pounds per ton, depending on the speed. Measurements had also been made of the resistance to motion when a motor car was coasting. In this way the horse power and the engine friction could be measured, and a figure for the mechanical efficiency could be obtained. By the use of the accelerometer road resistances could be read off at sight; the air resistance of various shapes of car body could be determined; the boiler horse power and indicated horse power for the engine could be obtained for various speeds; while it was possible to trace step by step the losses of power in transmission to the road wheels.

Oxygen Supply Diminishing.

Several men of science are expressing the opinion that the world's supply of oxygen is diminishing with considerable rapidity. Instruments for recording altitude were not so perfect in the early days of ballooning as now, but there seems to be good reason for thinking that one or two of the early aeronauts were able to ascend to a zone now unattainable because of a lack of oxygen.

A fatality which has just occurred on Mount Blanc appears to point in the same direction. Pogson, whose death was a great loss to English scholarship, began to suffer severely from what is known as oxygen starvation when within a short distance of the summit. His plucky but rash attempt to persist in the face of the distress which he must have suffered proved fatal.

Working the Sunshine.

"The adoption by the government of acetone gas, acetylene dissolved in acetone, for use of lighthouses, beacons, lightships and lightbuoys, will soon revolutionize the whole system of coast lighting in this country, and the lighthouse keeper and buoy tender will be forced to find new vocations," declares L. William Thavis, in the November number of Popular Mechanics. He explains further:

"Acetylene, in its various forms, is the only commodity yet produced that will give a light next in power to that of the sun. By its use, inventions have been perfected to produce lights for a continuous period of from one to five years or more, according to the amount of fuel installed.

"The most wonderful light in the world, and now in use by the United States government, is the one invented by Dolan, the Swedish scientist. It is produced by acetone gas, and has a 'human working' sun instrument containing a glass tube of several rods of varying reflective powers which automatically opens and closes the valve in accordance with the light absorbed. In other words, the light burns continuously until affected by the heat of the sun, when it goes out, only to be revived at dawn. It also contains a flashing apparatus in the lantern." The article is fully illustrated.

BURDETTE AT THE BAT.

XXIX.

Two Parables. I—The Deserter.

He was in the uniform of the army of which he was yet a soldier. The number of his regiment and the letter of his company shone in polished metal on the front of his cap. He was carrying the rifle which the government had placed in his hands that he might with His own life if need be, defend the flag which was floating above his head. He laughed and jested with his comrades. Through many a wearisome campaign he had marched with them. Hunger and thirst he had suffered with them. Scanty rations he had shared with them. When his lips were black and his tongue dry and parched with thirst they had given him to drink the last drop of water in a comrade's canteen. Side by side they had stood on the firing line; shoulder to shoulder they had met fierce assaults by their common foe, and side by side they had crossed bayonets with the enemy in furious counter-charges. Together they had tasted the sweets of victory; together they had drunk the bitter cup of defeat. Their hearts had thrilled with one loyalty, and burned with one hope.

Far away a bugle shrilled, and automatically the soldier fell into line with his comrades. The power of habit led him to examine the lock of his rifle, testing its condition that it might not prove false as himself in the battle to which the bugle called him, and which he thus far obeyed from the same force of loyal habit. As he looked down the line, there were some faces missing. Some comrades there had been who had given their lives to the cause he was about to betray by his desertion. He looked up at the flag, again from a soldier's habit. He had vowed allegiance to it. But the light of the old loyalty had now faded from the lying eyes which he lifted to it.

As he looked at it, while the ranks were restlessly settling into form, he read, as he had read many times before, the names of old battles emblazoned on its folds. The flag fluttered in the wind as it always did, as though it partook of the human nervousness and tension gathered underneath its smoke-stained and battle-scarred splendor. As though it knew, in its high place above the heads of the men, that it was the love and the idol of the regiment. That the soldiers spoke of it as though it possessed life and sensibilities akin to their own. As though it could see and feel the thousands of eyes turned toward it as the color sergeant shook its stars and stripes to the kisses of the morning sun. As though it could hear the spontaneous cheers that rose to greet its beauty and bravery, like the incense of the morning sacrifice. As though it could hear the men calling it endearing names, as men speak to their sweethearts.

Above their heads, before their upturned glances of loyalty and admiration, it shook out the names of the old battles and victories, as a girl, proud of her beauty, and sure of her lover's admiration, flutters her graces of ribbon and lace, of plume and veil, in fascinating and pardonable witchery. Such a magic there is in a flag to which a man has plighted his allegiance; for which he has tossed his own life into the vortex of battle; for which he has seen men die; for which he is himself as willing to die as he is proud to live. This soldier looked at the flag, in all its beauty and glory and bravery; all its splendid story, all its glorious fascination.

For a minute his base resolution failed him. He wavered in his shameful determination. Then he strengthened his perfidy by some treacherous pretext. A gun from a masked battery sent out a red flash of flame; a wreath of blue smoke arose in a cloud; another and another. The dogs of war, unleashed, were barking defiance and death. A volley from the regiment curtained it in concealing smoke. Under its cover, the Deserter dropped out of the loyal ranks, and timing his perfidious steps to the music of the enemy's guns, slunk through loyal lines of fighting men, to lose himself in the disorganized masses of camp followers, skulkers, cowards and non-combatants always to be found in the rear of a marching army.

From this sea of disorder it was easy to find his way out of the lines. He could make his way home, with all the record of his soldier life smeared out by the black stain of his desertion. His heart, if it cared to pray at all, had but one prayer—that men might forever forget him. Or, hardened and base, degraded by his own act, he might have no care, and might even boast of his perfidy when such boasting was safe.

Men have done this in time of war. They have done the same thing in politics.

II. THE TRAITOR.

He also was a soldier. A soldier with a good fighting record. A record like that of Benedict Arnold's at Ticonderoga, Crown point, Quebec, and Saratoga. A soldier who had shed his blood in the cause of freedom. He may even have scorned the low cowardice of the Deserter, the baseness of the Deserter's motives. Something more than the mere weariness of the campaigning; the continued perils of battle; the rigorous life of the camp; the mere animal sufferings of hunger and thirst, to drive him from the flag to which he also had willingly and heartfully sworn allegiance.

He would desert his cause, yes. But he would do more than that. Let the Deserter sneak home, to peace and safety, and oblivion, if he would. The Traitor would make his hand felt in the hearts of his one-time comrades even as he had often, in their defence and fighting beside them with the true elbow touch of comradeship, made it felt in the lives of their common foes. Cowardice, love of ease, weariness of the war, might be enough to move the Deserter. Sometimes, charity whispers, the longing of homesickness overcame the mandate of duty and made a Deserter of a soldier yielding to human weakness.

In the heart of the Traitor, loyalty must be soured into the venom of hate. As he lifts his eyes toward the flag, the last time he stands in the loyal ranks, he must hiss and spit at it, like a crawling serpent. As he makes ready to desert the ranks of his comrades, he must fasten upon them, as the exudation of his venemous scorn, an epithet of contempt. It is not enough for him to desert, he must needs go over to the ranks of his foes. He must not only cast off his uniform of honor, and assume the disguising protection of civilian dress. He is eager to put on the uniform against which one must be fought. He does not only abhor his flag. He gladly serves under the standard of its enemies, and fights against his old comrades with all the fury and meanness of loyalty transformed into treason. There is no hostility in all the world so bitter, so unreasoning, so implacable as the fatal enmity of the Traitor.

It is not difficult to probe the principal motives of treason. History has recorded them. Treason has always had its price. Find the Traitor, and it is not difficult to find the Bribe close to the outstretched hand, or closing within its gripping fingers. From Judas to Arnold, from the price of Potter's Field to the amount of a General's debts, treason has named its price; bribery has paid it, and the betrayed cause has mourned. "Just for a handful of silver he left us," or "just for a ribbon to stick in his coat," wrote Browning, of such a one. In that one the bribe was an office. Sometimes it is, even unto this day.

Treason is not a matter of heredity as desertion may often be. It is usually premeditated, thought out and planned through weeks and months.

The Traitor stands in the ranks, does the Deserter. But as he stands at the opening of the battle, to aim from the ranks of the hereditary enemy of his cause, he halts one instant to drive his knife into the heart of his comrade at his side. The comrade upon whom he has loyally fraternized for many years of service. With whom he has exchanged favors and friendship, asked, and given, and received. For assassination is the bond-brother of treason.

Then, not with the skulking stealth of the Deserter, whose heart fails him even in his shameless act, but with brazen challenge of defiance, with the triumphant shout of Booth sending the bullet into the head of Lincoln from behind, without fear as he is without shame, the Traitor runs openly down the storm of execration that follows him, to join the ranks of the enemy and consummate his treachery by standing at the flag he was sworn to defend.

This sometimes happens in war. Sometimes the same thing happens in politics.

GOSSIP OF THE FOREIGN STAGE.

(Special Correspondence.)

LONDON, Oct. 1.—I have not known such a disastrous theatrical season for years. One is almost inclined to think that managers have got in touch with the public's requirements, or that their judgment regarding plays is suffering from temporary eclipse. No fewer than six of the newly produced plays will have run their course within the next few days; the latest, "The Bishop's Son," a painful and well-deserved death at the Garrick last Tuesday. Tonight Cosmo Hamilton and B. M. Dix's comedy "The Fernald" disappears from the boards of the New Theater, where Ethel Irving and Lily Brayton make their reappearance in "Count Hannibal" on Thursday, the 20th inst. Last night was the customary fortnight's notice given at the Comedy for "A Woman's Way." The same thing has happened at the Queen's where William J. Locke's "The Man from the Sea" is to be followed by another fortnight's life.

It is safe to say that Louis Evan Shipman's "D'Arcy of the Guards," George Edwardes' latest production at the St. James's, is to suffer a similar fate, although its existence will probably be prolonged for a week longer. Walter Melville's melodrama "The Sins of the Father," with which the author connected to draw huge audiences at the Lyceum, has also shown unmistakable signs of approaching disaster, and before very many weeks have passed by it, too, I predict will have joined the great majority. The one success in the theatrical firmament is the emphatic success of "Inconstant George," Gladys Unger's adaptation of "L'Ane de Buridan," at the Prince of Wales. Hawtrey and Cyril Maude are shaking hands with themselves over the splendid reception accorded the piece, which bids fair to run for a twelve-month at least. "Inconstant George," which is well known to American playgoers, having been one of John Drew's purest all last season's most amusing bit of work. The first performance dragged somewhat, partly owing to a manifest nervousness of Hawtrey and of Aubrey Smith. But despite that it kept the house throughout in the best of humor, and the curtain finally fell on a prolonged and enthusiastic demonstration.

The success created have of course induced George Alexander, for instance, to have selected a new piece by H. A. Jones to follow "D'Arcy of the Guards." From what I hear of it, the piece may best be described as a musical farce, most of the action of which takes place on the deck of a steam yacht. Charles Carton has made it a condition that the leading female character should be played by his wife, Miss Compton, an admirable actress of her kind, but in the first blush of youth. Of parts of this there are only a couple in the piece which will not make a strain upon the managerial purse. The salary list on the men's side will be considerably weightier. Alexander remains a member of the company, but Evelyn d'Alroy, as there is no part of sufficient importance for her to play, will temporarily retire from the St. James company.

Wyndham's, I fancy, is not exempt from telling bitter tears because he was compelled to cut short the career of "The Man From the Sea." Since Robson has caught the fever for aviation it has been rather difficult to deal matters between him and his manager. There has been a lot of trouble. A few days ago Loraine threw up his part and refused to play, a step which was countered by Vedrenne, who threatened to close the theater and bring an action against Loraine for any loss might be incurred by the closing. Happily a night's sleep between counsel and just in the nick of time Loraine returned to the theater in a penitent mood. Obviously, Vedrenne as manager in his senses could not run the risk of engaging an actor who would give up all his days to the pleasure of flying, and perhaps it is well that Loraine has definitely decided to abandon the stage for the air.

Tree's season has reached the last week of its season at Terry's Theater, which is to be devoted hereafter to matinee shows. I'm afraid her Majesty's of London has not been altogether favorable, financially at any rate, as it has been generally accepted as a performance of real talent who is entitled to a hearty welcome whenever she has found a piece more suitable to her gifts than "The Rejuvenation of Aunt Mary." Lately she appeared in a three-act comedy entitled "Jane, or the Squab Lady," by Ethel Watts Munford and Robert Hereford. That she presented herself at the matinee two days ago with the object of testing its capacities for producing it in America, where she is the wife of an utterly unknown "Professor" Wysong, who has himself he has discovered a means to produce "liquid light," whatever that may mean. Inventors are proverbially crack-brained and unbusinesslike people, but in this respect Wysong has surely exceeded the limit. Lying on the notebook carelessly lying about the very nose of the villain, of course, copies its contents and actually announces himself to be the discoverer of "liquid light." "Maw" proves more than a match for the villain, and "Maw" is thus enabled to triumphantly over him and gain the fortunes of the little girl of which she is the president. All this is fanciful enough; but when the authors descend to the events of existence that show their inadequacy as a dramatic piece would not deserve a moment's consideration were it not for the presence of May Robson, who by the force of comic ability lifts it out of the commonplace groove. Her study of a child is full of tender, womanly touches. As is her custom, she gently strays into regions of pathos, but such momentary relapses are easily pardoned for the humor which inevitably follows her actions.

Comedy negotiations are in progress for the production of a new piece by one of F. Anstey's earliest successes, "Vice Versa," adapted by himself. It must be some twenty-five years ago that Fred Rose—not your Edward Rose—an English playwright—made his adaptation in which he sustained the principal part. Anstey has always had a longing for what he could do with the stage, and I am told that the adaptation he made is a most ingenious piece of work. I understand that he has put it with his own money and that it will not be ready with the public until January. Anstey is busy in the vacant time at his disposal whence "A Woman's Way" has been withdrawn in a complete state, on the other hand, Vedrenne is said to follow "The Man from the Sea" at the Queen's with an adaptation called "Mrs. Skeffington," by Compton, whose "Bolt From the Blue" was an unmitigated failure at the Duke of York. Rehearsals have begun, and it will be interesting to see whether Hamilton is as successful as an original playwright as the adaptor of another man's work.

Gordon tells me that he has taken the renovated Adelphi for the month. His season of Austrian authors and Viennese composers has not impressed him in their favor and his intention is, if he says, to devote the Adelphi exclusively to English writers and English musicians. He starts with "The Quaker Girl" by James T. Tanner and Lionel Monckton. For the occasion he has recruited a splendid company which includes Hayden Coffin, Gertie Millar, Joseph Coyne, Gracie Leigh, James Blakeley, Elsie Spain, whom he has lured from the cast of "The Chocolate Soldier," and other popular artists.

RUN LINES FOR LONG FENCE.

EL PASO (Tex.) Oct. 24.—A fence along the border between Mexico and the United States seems assured. Surveyors are now in the field and are said to be running lines for the construction of a barb-wire fence. This is intended principally to keep the cattle of each country from wandering over the line, rather than to stop smuggling, as has been reported.

SEVERAL THINGS.

NATIONAL ROAD SHOWS GROWTH.

MEXICAN MERGED LINES BUILD NEW EXTENSIONS.

Road Earnings Show More Than Fourteen Per Cent. Increase in September Earnings—Place Orders for New Rolling Stock—Stillwell Raises $5,000,000 for Orient Project.

[Special Correspondence of The Times.]

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 17.—Acquisition by lease of the Mexican Southern, 29 miles and securing of the Vera Cruz and Isthmus, 265 miles, and the Pan American, 296 miles, under operative control have given the National Railways of Mexico a total length of 7,-935 miles in operation, making it one of the longest systems in the world.

At the same time the merger lines increase payments on interest bearing bonds, and show larger earnings than ever before. Fortunes are being invested in new construction, equipment and improvement.

Demonstrative of some of these claims is the marvelous advance in National Railways earnings, in spite of handicaps. Earnings for the month of September of the present year were 14.6 per cent. greater than earnings for the same month of 1909 and earnings for the twelve months ended September 30 of 1910 were 12.4 per cent. larger than for the previous twelve months.

At the last general stockholders' meeting it was decided to pay an additional one per cent. on the first preferred stock and this made the total payments of the fiscal year on that stock four per cent., whereas the guarantees provide for only two per cent. The value of operations of the company for the last fiscal year was $878,-661,400.35 and the receipts showed a balance of $2,836,549.58. Ample funds for betterments and extensions are available.

A million-dollar contract has been awarded for the rebuilding of thirty-seven and one-half miles of the National Railways between Acambaro and Uruapam, in the state of Michoacan, and the merger system will add another sixty-two and one-half miles of reconstruction in the same territory, the work to consist largely of widening roadbeds to accommodate standard gauge tracks.

Extension of one of the lines of the National Railways of Mexico into the San Martin mountain region of the Mexican gulf coast, in the state of Vera Cruz, is opening to traffic one of the richest domains of the republic, which produces jute, rubber, corn, beans, tobacco and sugar. There is much timber also in the new territory.

Another important extension of the merger lines is being built under contract from Oaxaca to Tlacolula, in the state of Oaxaca, where immense advantages will accrue especially to mining camps which have been handicapped by isolation. This extension will be twenty miles long and will be fed by a branch that will run to the Magdalena smelter. Cheapening of fuel will be another item of great importance.

Execution of contracts for the building of a national railway from Durango to Gutierrez, on the old Mexican Central is under wa, the State of Durango having granted a subsidy of $500,000 to assist in the completion of the thirty-eight miles of line which will traverse the mining camps of Sombrerete and Chalchihuitec and tap a rich forest region.

Delivery is being made of 3200 new freight cars and twenty Mallet compound locomotives to the National Railways of Mexico. The cars represent an approximate cost of $3,000,000 gold, and the engines are of the giant pattern, weighing 508,000 pounds each and able to pull sixty-five loaded cars up a three per cent. grade. Equipment orders placed by the merger systems about the close of the last fiscal year totalled almost $4,000,000 gold, including besides the freight cars and locomotives, forty-six passenger cars. In the preceding eighteen months the National lines had received 40,000 tons of eighty-five-pound steel from the Monterrey works, which are now delivering another order for 20,000 tons of rails. All main lines and branches are being relaid with this steel.

Hundreds of eucalyptus trees are being shipped from the Tampico nursery of the National Railways of Mexico for free distribution among landowners along the various lines, which the system expects to buy back for the timber at some future time. There is also under advisement a plan whereby the National Railways of Mexico will distribute immense quantities of cedar seed, cereals, vegetables and fruit for planting along the lines.

The Vera Cruz Terminal Company, in which stock is held by the government and other lines, is insa tlining t ment and other lines, is installing much new equipment, including standard gauge flat cars, many box cars of both standard and narrow gauges, coal cars, a twelve-knots motor boat and a number of switch engines. Everything except the motor boat comes from the United States.

The Mexican railway, which has purchased from Dayton, Ohio, fourteen sleeping cars to go into commission with the expiration of its Pullman contract on December 1, holds the unique position of being the only railroad in Mexico owning its sleepers, and has further decided to introduce the innovation of lower rates for upper berths than for lowers.

Work in extension of the Southern Pacific Railroad of Mexico into Guadalajara is being rushed. Four lines have been located in the rough country near the boundary line between the state of Jalisco and the territory of Tepic, the maximum grade among the four being three per cent. and so soon as construction estimates can be prepared the company will call for bids. Although the Southern Pacific has entered into traffic arrangements for the operation of its trains over the twenty-five miles of National road between Orendian and Guadalajara it has never at any time contemplated abandonment of its original project to build to Guadalajara. When that objective point is reached Southern Pacific trains will move over National tracks from Guadalajara to Mexico City.

From the Santiago River the Southern Pacific has finished its grading half way to the capital of Tepic and has laid some steel along the route. Trains will be operated into Tepic by about the first of next February. Work on the Magdalena section will begin in December.

A. E. Stillwell, president of the Kansas City, Mexico and Orient, who is host of a special train party of English and American capitalists visiting in Mexico, had raised $5,000,000, gold, in England for the filling of gaps in the system between Wichita, Kan., and the port of Topolobampo. The main line is in operation from Wichita to San Angelo, Texas, and construction is being vigorously pushed upon the sections projecting south and west from that temporary terminus, as well as upon lines in Mexico. From San Angelo to a point near Pishacos, in the Mexican state of Chihauhau, there remains a gap of about 300 miles and there will be built a line from Del Rio, Texas, to Allende, Mexico, affording connection with the National Railways of Mexico. This will necessitate the building of another international bridge.

In his new book, "Confidence or National Suicide," President Stillwell says: "It is time for the people of America to resent the attacks that are being made on railroads. If we can bring the facts before the American public the progressive people, without doubt, are in the majority and will demand justice. They will insist that the railroads shall share in the prosperity now generally enjoyed by business and labor."

CONTRACT FOR NEW CABLE.

Englishman Will Lay Submarine Wires Between Colon, Panama and Port Limon.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24.—A contract has been made by the government of oCsta Rica with Edmund John Reese, an English subject, to lay one or more submarine cables between Port Limon and Colon and to operate them for fifteen years, at which time they are to become government property at a price to be determined by arbitration.

The contract provides that the tariff for messages must not exceed the present "overhead" rate via San Juan Del Sur, and that government business shall be handled at half rate. The contractor is also obligated to furnish the Costa Rican government at San Jose 700 to 1200 words daily press cablegrams translated into Spanish, for which he is to receive $350 in gold.

Minister Lawrence Merry, of San Jose, who reported the conditions of the contract to this government, says that Costa Rica requires that the cable or cables be installed within eighteen months. The cable will be of great benefit to Costa Rica, where heretofore frequently has been shut off from telegraphic communication abroad by the San Juan Del Sur overland route, which extends twenty-five miles through Nicaraguan territory. Upon the occasion of any disturbance the wires were cut.

Nettleton Shoes

The Nettleton Shoe appeals alike to Men who want the best in Footwear—and to those who want the most economical. For Nettletons prove that old truth, "The best is the cheapest in the long run." They are perfect in style—comfortable on the feet—and they have QUALITY—extraordinary service quality. Once you get the "Nettleton habit," you'll retain it—and a most economical and satisfactory habit you'll find it. We illustrate three new Nettleton styles from the many we are now showing.

$6

¶ The Nettleton people have called this Six Dollar Blucher the "Sensation" last. It has the high arch, the military heel, and the heavy single sole that pleases so many men. Material is Black Velour Calf or Tan Russia Calf. An ideal shoe for high class business wear.

$6.50

¶ The $6.50 model is the sensation last in the button style. This shoe is designed for Men who prefer the button effect—and there are many these days. Like the Blucher, it is shown in Black Velour Calf and in Tan Russia Calf. It is a top note in boot-making.

$7

¶ The Seven Dollar Shoe is the "Peerless," a straight last shoe in Black Vici, or in patent Kid. This shoe is especially recommended to heavy men who are much on their feet, and want a moderate weight shoe that will "stand up" perfectly. Its lines are good—yet it is SO COMFORTABLE!

PLAIN PLAN OF STATE TAX.

REALTY MEN ABOUT PROPOSED AMENDMENT.

[illegible] IN THE PROJECTED CHANGE PRESENTED.

[illegible]ERS MUCH INTERESTED IN ARGUMENTS.

[illegible] thirty and forty men, most [illegible] realty dealers, listened with [illegible] Saturday night to the argu- [illegible] of Alexander Brown, chairman [illegible] State Board of Equalization, J. [illegible], a leading San Francisco real [illegible] man, and W. L. Atkinson, presi- [illegible] of the San Jose Realty Board, who [illegible] at the Chamber of Commerce [illegible] part of the proposed amendment [illegible] to the State Constitution, which [illegible] be submitted to the electors of [illegible] next month.

[illegible] telling facts and figures were [illegible] by the northerners, and on [illegible] the impression created for [illegible] there was a favorable one. [illegible] speakers reported that practi- [illegible] no opposition to the measure has [illegible] encountered anywhere and that [illegible] public have taken kindly to [illegible] in furtherance of the [illegible]. The amendment has also [illegible] been given the indorsement of [illegible] San Francisco and local realty [illegible] and the State Realty Federation [illegible] the grange have both given it [illegible] approval.

[illegible]hairman of the evening was [illegible] G. Andrews, acting president [illegible] Los Angeles Realty Board. The [illegible]aker introduced Mr. Howell, [illegible] himself to outlining the history [illegible] amendment from the time of its [illegible] in the term of Gov. Pardee [illegible]ment. He told of the investi- [illegible] of the committee on taxation [illegible] to study the taxation situa- [illegible] the State. The deductions of [illegible] C. Plehn of the University [illegible]ornia, who was the expert of [illegible]mittee, were also sketched out [illegible] He explained that the defeat [illegible] amendment at the hands of the [illegible] was due partly to lack [illegible]ational work in behalf of the [illegible] and partly to defects which [illegible] been taken cognizance of. [illegible]peration of State from local [illegible] is the most important measure [illegible] has been before the people [illegible] adoption of the Constitution [illegible]th of California," said Mr. [illegible]. "State revenues should be derived entirely from taxes paid on the [illegible] receipts of our public utility [illegible]orations and these corporations [illegible] would be relieved of the payment [illegible] taxation upon all but their [illegible]gible property.

[illegible] amendment we want to put [illegible] had been in operation in 1909 [illegible] taxpayers of Los Angeles county [illegible] have been saved $1,691,186, and [illegible] at large would not have paid [illegible] taxes at all. Last year the [illegible]ons of the State would under [illegible]sions of the measure have [illegible],000 to the State, whereas under [illegible] present system $7,000,000 was [illegible] actually required.

[illegible]endment would mean everything [illegible] to the real estate men of the [illegible] for effect upon would-be set- [illegible] California would be neglect- [illegible]ner of every county is held- [illegible] his assessed valuations in or- [illegible] his county may not have to [illegible] to the State than an adjoining [illegible]ty. The result is confusing to [illegible]man who wants to know what [illegible] is actually worth. The value [illegible] of property in different localities [illegible] unequal and as long as there is [illegible] State tax to be apportioned [illegible]s of assessed valuations it will [illegible] to be unequal."

[illegible]rown went on to explain that [illegible] reserved for the State in the [illegible] amendment are on the oper- [illegible] property of railroad companies at [illegible] of 4 per cent. of their gross re- [illegible]ceipts, sleeping car and refrigerator [illegible]panies at 3 per cent.; on the [illegible] of express companies at 3 per [illegible] of their gross receipts; on tele- [illegible] and telephone companies at 2½ [illegible]; on light, heat and power [illegible] at 4 per cent., and on insur- [illegible] banking companies at 1½ [illegible] of 1 per cent., respectively.

[illegible] explained the plan to tide over [illegible] of change and readjustment [illegible] San Bernardino and Placer counties [illegible] they lose in railroad taxes by [illegible]ring them for the tax money- [illegible] the year 1918.

[illegible] Company Would Have More [illegible] in Santa Monica for Con- [illegible]duct of Its Business.

[illegible]TA MONICA, Oct. 24.—The [illegible] of Commerce has been ad- [illegible]by the Los Angeles Pacific trol- [illegible] that it would be agreeable if [illegible]hamber would immediately vacate [illegible] in the trolleyway depot build- [illegible] now occupied as headquarters. [illegible] electric line says it requires this [illegible] for the conduct of its business. [illegible]room for to be fitted at once as [illegible] offices. It will be equipped [illegible] paraphernalia for the sale of [illegible] tickets direct from the seaside [illegible] railroad points in the country. [illegible] also to be used as a baggage [illegible] headquarters.

[illegible] innovation comes as a result [illegible] satisfactory settlement of a [illegible] that has been causing trouble [illegible] the city and the electric line [illegible] years. Suit was brought by [illegible] before the Interstate Com- [illegible] Commission for the purpose of [illegible] the electric line to check [illegible]. The company promised to [illegible] the request if the city would [illegible] the suit. The suit was with- [illegible] and this is the result.

...gineer and architect, and Irving E. Rush, a civil engineer of Rialto, have the project in hand. It is explained that the wall would create a lake fifty-five miles in length, submerging that extent of the Grand Canyon. The lake would discharge 20,000 cubic feet of water each second, having a sheer drop of 700 feet.

It is anticipated that if the project is successfully launched, overcoming governmental obstacles, that it will develop an electrical energy surpassing that of Niagara Falls, and give birth to a chain of industrial cities of great wealth, besides making possible immense agricultural development in California, Arizona and Nevada.

Earnest Charle, a French miner, committed suicide Friday afternoon in a cabin at the Lucia mine, eight miles south of Cima, by placing a revolver in his mouth, and firing a bullet into his head. He had been recently employed by John Boley, owner of the mine, to do development work. Boley and Alex. Leitch drove over to Vanderbilt Friday, returning last night, when they found the body. Charle had barricaded himself in the cabin. It is believed he did this as a precaution against wild animals, against which he wished to guard his remains.

CAMPAIGN OF EDUCATION.

Committee to Be Named to Instruct Voters on Constitutional Amendments.

VENICE, October 24—The Chamber of Commerce, after a vacation that embraced the summer months, has started upon a season of activity. In order that electors who have not the time or opportunity to study the constitutional amendments to be voted on at the November election, may receive instruction as to the way to vote on these questions, a committee of seven is to be named to explain to the voters of this section why it would be to their best interests to vote for or against certain measures. The committee will also make recommendations for candidates for office where partisan interests are not affected. The proposed city and county consolidation will also be investigated and reported on.

The members of this organization have placed themselves on record as being opposed to the formation of a Santa Monica-Ocean Park Union high school district. They say that Venice should have its own High School, regardless of what Santa Monica does. Any movement looking to the formation of a union district would be strenuously opposed, as that is understood by Venice to mean the location of the proposed school in Santa Monica.

CHOOSE SITE FOR FAIR.

Permanent Location Established at El Centro—Rush in Building Activities.

EL CENTRIO, Oct. 24.—Directors of the Forty-fifth Agricultural District Fair Association have selected El Centro as the permanent site for the Imperial County Fair, to be held annually by this organization. A tract of twenty acres, located east of the Southern Pacific tracks and south of the Holton Interurban Railroad, has been selected. This is the land formerly used for fairs held here. It will be improved at once for the fair to be held next December, and eventually large exhibition halls, stables and stock sheds will be built.

Clarence E. Gage has been elected secretary of the association and has opened an office in El Centro. He will devote his entire attention to working for the success of the forthcoming fair. It is probable that excursion trains will be run from Arizona and New Mexico and from San Diego, to pick up parties of excursionists at Redlands, Riverside and San Bernardino.

BUILDING LIVELY.

A lively winter building campaign has begun in El Centro. The Loftus Company's hollow-tile business building is nearing completion at Fourth and Main streets. N. V. Barbarick is erecting a hollow-tile building, 25x100 feet, on Main street, between Fourth and Fifth streets. The State street Christian Church in the past week raised the frame for a $6000 edifice. The walls are rising for the $10,000 Carnegie Library. The new cotton bin and the office building for the Imperial Valley Oil and Cotton Company are completed and foundations are laid for the seed house and oil mill. Cottages are in course of building in various parts of the town. The city has just completed it's large pump house on the Date road.

ESCONDIDO.

ESCONDIDO, Oct. 24.—It is estimated that the shipments of lemons from Escondido this season will be about 250 carloads. To date four carloads have been sent from the local houses, and returns of $200 per car are expected from the last two. The Escondido Citrus Union is completing the erection of a packing-house with a floor capacity of thirty carloads. Lemons will be received there by the first of November.

Owen Boyle, a native of Scotland and for seventeen years a resident of the Escondido country, the last thirteen years of San Pasqual, died Thursday, aged 66. He leaves a widow and four children, Mrs. A. B. Judson, Eugene Boyle, Miss Ruth Boyle and Miss Elizabeth Boyle, all of the San Pasqual valley.

TROPICO.

TROPICO, Oct. 24.—At the meeting of the Civic Association in Logan's Hall Friday evening, President Hebbert in the chair, discussion was general on the subject of annexation to Glendale. It was urged that this was the only sensible thing to do, and as soon as accomplished to procure a freeholders' charter suitable for the requirements of the city. At the previous meeting a suggestion was made that a committee of four or more be selected to meet one of a like number from the anti-annexation association and send in a joint report to both associations of the findings. This the antis refused to do.

Fills Vacancy on Board of Directors of Presbyterian Seminary at San Anselmo.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

FRESNO, Oct. 24.—To replace Rev. H. K. Guthrie, DD, pastor of the First Presbyterian church of San Francisco, and Rev. George G. Eldredge, DD, pastor of St. Johns church, Berkeley, who were removed from the board of directors of the San Francisco Theological Seminary at San Anselmo by the California and Nevada Synod for their toleration of higher criticism of the Bible, that body has elected Rev. Warren D. More of Santa Barbara and Rev. W. D. Gantz of Los Angeles, vice moderator of the synod, to the board.

AUTO EXCURSION TO THE AQUEDUCT

The Los Angeles Times' Automobile Excursion to the Aqueduct and Owens River

LEAVING LOS ANGELES Saturday, Oct. 29, at 9 A.M.

Will be in charge of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce. Register at once with the Secretary at the Chamber of Commerce Bldg. Party is limited to 100 members.

Object of Trip

The automobile excursion to the Aqueduct and Owens River Valley was planned several weeks ago by The Times, to give the citizens of Los Angeles, if they so desired, an opportunity to visit the aqueduct, the canals, tunnels and chief points of interest on the greatest engineering project—bar the Panama Canal—in the world.

The trip was to be an instructive one as well as a pleasant outing over the high Sierras, to the source of the Owens River. Arrangements were practically completed and members were registering daily, the roll being almost complete, when the dynamiting outrage occurred, necessitating the abandonment or long postponement of the trip by The Times.

A number of ladies and gentlemen who were making preparations to go on the excursion, signifying their desire to make the trip as soon as possible and the officials of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce offering to go ahead and take charge, arrangements have once more been made and those wishing to go to the number of one hundred may register at the Chamber of Commerce.

A repair outfit fully equipped to take care of any damage to any macaine will go with the party. Gasoline and lubricating oil will be secured at regular stations. Meals at various stopping points have been provided and comfortable sleeping quarters at hotels or tourist cars will be furnished.

Mr. Sam Johnson, the automobile man, suggests that if anyone wishes he will furnish extra tires to carry along, and if not used to take them back in stock. He also advises taking chains with them.

The Itinerary

The following is the itinerary for the party:

October 29, Saturday, 9 a. m. Leave Los Angeles, inspecting good roads work at Newhall pass, aqueduct work in Sangus division; arriving south portal Elizabeth tunnel for lunch 1:30 o'clock (75 miles). Leave 3:30 for Mojave (30 miles), visiting north portal and Fairmont, arriving for dinner at Harvey eating house. Spend night in tourist sleeping cars.

October 30, Sunday morning. Breakfast at Harvey House, leave Mojave, inspecting aqueduct work en route. Arrive at Brown (50 miles) at noon, lunch at Desmond camp. Leave Brown at 1 p. m., arriving Lone Pine (65 miles) at 7 p. m. Dinner and lodging at Mt. Whitney hotel.

October 31, Monday morning. Breakfast at Mt. Whitney Hotel, 8 a. m. Leave Lone Pine for trip through Owens River Valley, visiting aqueduct intake, Fort Independence and other points of interest. Lunch at Bishop hotel (70 miles). Afternoon return to Independence. Dinner and lodging at Independence.

November 1, Tuesday morning. Breakfast at Independence hotel. Leave for Mojave (138 miles), taking lunch at noon at Desmond camp, Brown station. Dinner at Harvey House, Mojave. Spend night in tourist sleeping cars.

November 2, Wednesday morning. Breakfast at Harvey House. Leave for Los Angeles, arriving home at 1 p. m. (102 miles).

$15 Tickets covering the cost of meals and sleeping quarters on the entire trip may be obtained at the Chamber of Commerce. Price..... $15

Mr. Mulholland, the eminent engineer in charge of the big undertaking, expects to make the trip with the members of this party, but if he is unable to go, then Mr. Lippincott, his assistant, will accompany the excursionists.

For full particulars of the excursion apply to the

First and Best

There was no Ground Chocolate before Ghirardelli's. We started making it in 1875, and the name describes our process.

Today there is no real Ground Chocolate upon the market except Ghirardelli's.

It is true there are preparations made to imitate ours, which the imitating manufacturers call Ground Chocolate. But the resemblance to our celebrated product ends there.

It has taken a lot of study to make so perfect a beverage preparation as Ghirardelli's Ground Chocolate. We have been studying how to make it for fifty-eight years. It would be impossible for any hurriedly manufactured product to have the inimitable qualities that have made Ghirardelli's Ground Chocolate the best selling article of the kind upon the market.

So if you want to be sure of the original Ground Chocolate, the first and the best, look at the label for the name of Ghirardelli.

WALSH WINS ALL TROPHIES.

TAKES FOUR CUPS AND MOST OF PRIZE MONEY.

SLAVIN FLIES, BUT FALLS AND SMASHES CHASSIS.

CANNON MAKES FINE TOWING FLIGHT IN BIPLANE.

Charles F. Walsh, in a Curtiss model biplane of his own construction, won four trophy cups and a large share of the prize money in the final day's events of the novice meet held Sunday and Saturday by the Aero Club of California, at the Los Angeles motordrome near Del Rey.

J. J. Slavin, in a biplane of his own invention, flew about 200 yards, reaching a height of from forty to fifty feet. Then he lost control of his aeroplane and it dashed to the ground. The aviator, although shaken up, was uninjured but the framework below the planes of his aeroplane was smashed.

Jack Cannon, in a biplane chassis, was towed three complete circles within the motordrome, a feat which won him much applause. George Duesler and Edgar Smith attempted to get off the ground with their machines, but could not get power enough out of their engines which had just been rigged up. C. H. Day's engine tightened up on him and he was unable to make a trial with his biplane. B. F. Roehrig could not complete his machine in time for the trials.

Walsh was the only successful flyer, as he was Saturday, and thereby qualified as a professional aviator, receiving money prizes in addition to the trophies. Slavin has not yet qualified by making a successful flight, as he did not complete the feat of getting off the ground, flying, and then alighting safely. He will receive a small share of the money prizes and this may disqualify him as an amateur.

Walsh's best feat yesterday was making three complete circles for a total distance of nearly five miles, and for duration of 7 min. 5 sec. He made several other flights and at dusk came near having an accident.

He won the San Diego Chamber of Commerce cup for altitude, the Whitley cup for endurance, a local newspaper cup for distance, and the Leonard-Smith cup for circular flight.

There was a question about the award of the San Diego cup for altitude as neither Walsh nor Slavin made an attempt for height. As no official measurements except one were taken and as both men in the eyes of the crowd reached about the same altitude, the contest committee had to go in secial session to decide.

Walsh was finally given the decision on the grounds that his flights of Saturday were considered by the committee as higher than Slavin made yesterday, and because the rules of the contest stipulate that the aviator must fly completely around the course to be eligible. Slavin gracefully accepted the decision although many in the crowd were in sympathy with him.

The Aero Club officers believe that for a novice meet the event was a success even though only a few took part. In order to stimulate aviation it has been decided to give a matinee meet every Sunday afternoon as long as the weather remains good.

For next Sunday Walsh has promised to fly while Roehrig is to have his machine completed. Slavin says he can repair his damages during the week and will try again next Sunday. He has found where his difficulty lay in his automatic stability device and proposes to remedy it.

Day and Duesler, who have every prospect of making a success, say they will be ready for another trial, while the Greer Brothers and Edgar Smith are to work out.

PRICES FOR CULVERTS.

Six Contractors Bid on El Monte-Pomona Job, But Other Contracts Have Little Competition.

A contract for constructing a large culvert on the El Monte-Pomona road was let yesterday by the Supervisors to Peter L. Ferry, the consideration being $1290. Ferry was the lowest of six bidders.

The Merceau Bridge & Construction Company was the only concern which submitted a bid for constructing a culvert in the East Whittier district. Its offer was $1321.

Rife, Cave & Frensel bid $2979 for grading and culverts on section two of San Dimas avenue, and $1.70 a ton for paving. F. F. Pendergast bid $13,000 for both sections, and $1.67 a ton for paving with crushed rock delivered at the San Dimas quarry, and $1.80 with delivery on the Pacific Electric tracks.

WILL MAR BEAUTY.

Citizens Protest Against Dirt-Fill Approaches of New Bridge, and Supervisors Take Notice.

Two bids for constructing the proposed concrete bridge over the Arroyo Seco, near the Cawston Ostrich Farm, were received and opened by the Board of Supervisors yesterday afternoon.

A few hours before the seals of the bids were broken, a formidable delegation of persons, residing in Garvanza and vicinity, appeared before the officials to protest against the long dirt approaches which are included in the general plan for spanning the deep cut.

More than a dozen civic bodies have voiced their sentiments against destroying the scenic effect by leading up to the bridge with fills of dirt.

The Supervisors have already resolved that they will expend the sum necessary to extend the bridge clear across, if the Salt Lake Railway, South Pasadena and this city are willing to bear an equal proportion of the added expense.

The J. F. Hall-Martin Company is willing to construct the bridge with the dirt fills, as originally planned, for $120,000. The offer of the Mercereau Bridge and Construction Company was for $113,760. Both bids were taken under consideration until such time as it is finally determined whether or not the fills will be replaced with concrete spans.

WOMEN'S CLUBS.

Charter Day Reception.

The social feature of the club year at the Ebell is the charter day reception held in honor of the charter members of the club, when all loyal club women don their prettiest gowns to do honor to the occasion.

Yesterday this now celebrated reception was held, and it was pronounced one of the most brilliant affairs in Ebell history. The clubhouse was gaily and artistically decorated with great masses of chrysanthemums and garlands of smilax and ferns.

The receiving line, which was made up of the officers of the club, directors, and charter members, formed in a semi-circle before the fireplace, received the good wishes of almost a thousand members and friends. Ices were served in the auditorium, where small tables were invitingly laid for a tete-a-tete, while a stringed orchestra discoursed sweet music. All during the hours of the reception the clubhouse was thronged with beautiful women in exquisite toilettes.

In the receiving line were Mrs. Edward C. Bellows, president of the club. Mrs. John H. Francis, vice-president; Mrs. Edwin A. Curtis, second vice-president. Mrs. George H. Kress, third vice-president; Mrs. A. C. Smithed, recording secretary; Mrs. William H. Jamison, corresponding secretary; Mrs. William Warren Orcutt, and Mrs. Frederick Warren Johnson.

Members of the house and hospitality committees served as a reception committee.

Friday Morning.

The annual reception of the Friday Morning Club in honor of Charter Day will be held Tuesday afternoon of next week at the Woman's Club house in Figueroa street.

Off to Convention.

Mrs. Hester T. Griffith, State president of the W. C. T. U., will leave today to attend the national convention of the organization which will be held next month in Baltimore.

Cosmos Club.

The Comos Club will meet tomorrow afternoon at the Ebell Clubhouse, when Dr. Burdette will address the club members. Plans of study are now being formed by the Shakespere section.

Highland Park Ebell.

The Highland Park Ebell, will meet today. Tomorrow the rambler's section will hold picnic in Laurel Canyon. The arts and travel section met yesterday. An interesting address was given by Mrs. G. J. Fifield.

HUNTER'S PROPOSITION.

Suggest to Supervisors a Plan for Populating Low Mountains With Mexican Birds.

W. E. Van Slyke of No. 783 Hemlock street, tendered a proposition to the Supervisors yesterday, whereby they can populate the low mountain ranges with birds.

He suggests the advisability of bringing here the Cucalacky, which closely resemble pheasants and partridges from Mexico. The bird is of a light blue color and is said to be very hardy. The Mexicans find little difficulty in trapping and selling them for $1.50 a pair.

Van Slyke is about to take a trip to Mazatlan and declares that he will trap the birds free of charge, if the Supervisors will pay for the crates and the expense of shipping them to San Pedro.

The communication was referred to Game Warden Durm for a report.

THERE WAS NOTHING DOING.

San Joaquin Valley Gives Cold Shoulder to San Francisco Delegation. Is All for Los Angeles.

[Special Correspondence of The Times.]

PORTERVILLE, Oct. 24.—San Franciscians, who visited Porterville Saturday as one point in their intinerary of the San Joaquin Valley, were treated to an unpleasant shock when they were met at the Southern Pacific station by representatives of the Chamber of Commerce and Merchants' Association and told in so many words that the San Joaquin, as a whole, now regards itself as tributary to Los Angeles.

G. L. Olds, formerly editor of the Riverside Enterprise and now one of the directors of the Porterville Chamber of Commerce, in an extended statement to M. H. Robbins, the president of the Merchants' Association of San Francisco, told frankly the reason for the attitude assumed in the valley at this time.

It was impressed upon the visitors that the insularity and provincialism of the bay cities have become a byword in the valley, and the indifference of the San Francisco people and newspapers to the great development work which is being done in the Porterville district, has alienated the former affection for that city. This affection has been willingly transferred to Los Angeles.

As an example of the different manner in which Los Angeles treats the Porterville section, The Times of that city was quoted and clippings exhibited, showing the publicity which is accorded all our development work, our improvements and our new orchards, matters which are treated with silent contempt by the bay journals.

"And that is the reason," concluded Mr. Olds, as he turned to the representatives of the San Francisco newspapers who were present, "why The Times, which arrives here two hours later than the San Francisco papers, has twice as many subscribers in this section of the valley as all of your papers put together. Los Angeles boosts us, and, as a result, we are boosting for Los Angeles."

At the meeting of the Chamber of Commerce Saturday, plans were made by the directors for the installation at the United States Land Congress in Chicago early in November, of a fine exhibit of citrus fruits.

As the railroads have agreed to give special rates for the shipment of these exhibits, it is proposed that an attractive booth be fitted up for the distribution of literature and information. It is proposed that this booth be also supplied constantly with the choicest oranges from this section and that frequent shipments be made durfng the entire exhibition.

As the date of the fair is at a time when the Tulare County crop is at its best, it is probable that the maintenance of the exhibit planned will be a valuable advertisement for the Porterville section.

Turn Out Street Light and Lay in Wait for Car, Robbing Conductor and Motorman of Their Cash, But Sparing the Watches—Escape in Darkness.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

BAKERSFIELD, Oct. 24.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] After being held up at the point of a revolver by two unknown men, at the County Hospital at midnight, Saturday, Conductor Chanler and Motorman B. Anderson of a main line car, were forced to run to the end of the line at Recreation Park by the robbers, who then disappeared in the darkness. They relieved their victims of more than $50 in cash. The robbers, evidently yeggs, and unmasked, did not take the watches from the men.

The robbery evidently was carefully planned as the street light at Nineteenth and Oak streets had been turned out by the yeggs. Immediately after the car had been stopped and the trolley pole taken from the wire, Conductor Chanler was ordered to keep quiet, a revolver being thrust against his side to enforce the order. The second footpad forced the motorman to get off his car and submit to a search. After relieving Anderson of a small amount of change, the conductor's changer was taken from him and his pockets emptied.

KICK PROVES FATAL.

Injuries Received by Dinuba Vineyardist Results in Death Following an Operation.

[Special Correspondence of The Times.]

DINUBA, Oct. 24.—Adolph Rohlfing, former owner of a valuable vineyard two miles south of this city, is dead at his ranch home as the result of being kicked in the abdomen by one of his work horses early last week.

While Rohlfing suffered severe pains as the result of his accident, its serious nature was not feared until, within the past day or two, when his abdomen began to swell and within a comparatively short time had increased to an enormous size. An operation was resorted to in a final attempt to save his life, but owing to weakened vitality, he never recovered from the shock of the operation.

PATROLMAN PUTS IN PRACTICE FIRST-AID HINTS.

Rescues Lodger Overcome With Smoke During Midnight Fire at Rooming-House and Resuscitates Him—Fireman Rescues Inmate From Burning Building.

Instructions in first aid to the injured recently imparted to police officers bore fruit Saturday night when, through the efforts of Patrolman G. C. Stevens, Lester Faulkner was revived after having been overcome by smoke in the fire which destroyed the carpenter shop and lodging house at No. 112-114 West Ninth street.

The lodging house is over the shop. About midnight fire broke out in the shop and curling upwards set fire to the floor of the rooms above. The origin of the fire has not been learned.

Patrolman Stevens saw the flames and summoned the fire department, and while the engines were on their way to the scene he broke into the rooms on the second floor and alarmed the sleepers.

In a rear room he saw the unconscious form of Faulkner, and jumping into the place lifted the man to his shoulder and escaped through the smoke-filled hall to the stairway and thence to the sidewalk. Quickly laying Faulkner upon the sidewalk, Stevens worked his arms as previously instructed, and within a few minutes was encouraged by the man giving signs of life. A few minutes more steady work brought Faulkner back to consciousness. Then the officer, seeing that all had been done that he could do, sent him to the Receiving Hospital where he was placed in the ward.

Mike Querrier was carried from the burning building by Papolotzka of Engine Co. No. 3, but he was not in a serious condition.

The building was partially destroyed, resulting in the loss TAOIN AOIN ed, resulting in a loss of about $3500 on the structure and contents.
